Emergency Declared In S. Rhodesia Area

Johnson Named Tonight

ATLANTIC CITY (UPI)—Democrats sought to suppress further public squabbling over southern convention seats today and give Lyndon B. Johnson an unprecedented nomination by acclamation for the presidency.

Delegates to the 34th Democratic national convention were set to do this tonight and also to ratify Johnson's choice for a vice-presidential running mate in the campaign against the GOP's Barry M. Goldwater and William E. Miller.

The president still had not identified his choice for the No. 2 post, but a new development today made it practically certain it's to be Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson—possibly tipping his hand on his choice for a running mate—said today he expects to summon Senator Hubert Humphrey to the White House in the afternoon to exchange views on the vice-presidency.

The man considered most likely to get the vice-presidential nod, if Humphrey didn't, bowed out and in a telegram to Johnson urged selection of the Senate Democratic whip.

'RIGHT MAN'

The telegram was sent by Humphrey's fellow Minnesota senator, Eugene J. McCarthy. He told the president that by Johnson's own standards Humphrey was the right man for the role.

In Washington, Johnson's press secretary, George E. Reedy, had "nothing to say" about McCarthy's telegram. But few delegates had any doubt the choice would be Humphrey, the 53-year-old former small-town druggist who became mayor of Minneapolis and went on to the Senate and a place of power in national politics.

That much was set. But still smouldering was the controversy over Mississippi and Alabama which turned Tuesday night's session into one of the most chaotic of modern times, and all on national television.

To avoid possible repetition of the unruly scene, which featured a boycott by Mississippians and a takeover of their seats by rival Freedom Party members, Democratic leaders were considering bypassing the normal roll call on the presidential nomination.

RARE PROCEDURE

Instead they planned to give the party's top honor to Johnson by acclamation, a rarely used procedure which would avoid the necessity for a roll call and an official ruling on the status of the Alabama and Mississippi delegations.

2 DIE AT PEACE DAM

HUDSON HOPE, B.C. (CP)—Two men were believed killed today in an underground blast in a drainage tunnel at the Peace River hydro project in this northeastern British Columbia community.

An electrician was killed when he went into the tunnel to connect lighting before the miners returned to work and the explosion took place. The second man was overcome by fumes attempting to rescue him. Three men standing outside the tunnel were injured.

Two Nationalist Groups Banned

SALISBURY (Reuters)—A state of emergency was declared in a Southern Rhodesian African township today and a government ban placed on the country's two main African nationalist organizations.

Police and troops ringed Highfield township just before dawn today as Governor Sir Humphrey Gibbs declared the area in a state of emergency.

Some territorial national guard troops were called out and all Africans in the district were being screened.

Highfield, about eight miles from Salisbury, has been the scene of continued violence since early this year. Several people have been killed in fights between the rival African nationalist factions.

Houses, cars and buses have been stoned and set on fire, Molotov cocktails have been thrown into houses and indiyiduals have been attacked with stones and knives.

Shortly after the emergency was declared the British colony's minister of law and order, Desmond Lardner-Burke, announced in a radio broadcast that Southern Rhodesia's two rival nationalist parties, the People's Caretaker Council and the Zimbabwe African Nationalist Union, had been banned.

Lardner-Burke said the state of emergency in Highfield, "the scene of considerable lawlessness for some time," would last for three months.

'ARREST ALL THUGS'

He said the object of the declaration was to arrest all "thugs and criminals."

The police were only concerned with weeding out lawless elements and were in the township to protect those who had been the innocent victims of recent unrest, he said.

Leader of the now banned PCC is Joshua Nkomo, who is in a restriction camp in a remote area with most of his chief aides.

ZANU is headed by Rev. Ndabangingi Sithole, a former chief lieutenant of Nkomo. He is presently awaiting trial on charges under the Law and Order Maintenance Act.

They had been banned because their activities "endangered public safety, disturbed and interfered with public order, and were otherwise prejudicial to the security of Southern Rhodesia."

Youths Protest Attempt to Bar Newspaper

SALISBURY (Reuters)—Some 50 white and African university students today were arrested for demonstrating outside the Southern Rhodesian Parliament buildings.

The students were demonstrating against a government motion to ban The Daily News, one of Salisbury's two daily newspapers.

The protest came as Parliament debated the motion.

The Daily News, with a circulation of 15,000—mostly Africans—supports African nationalism. It is owned by the group controlled by Lord Thomson, Canadian-born British newspaper magnate.

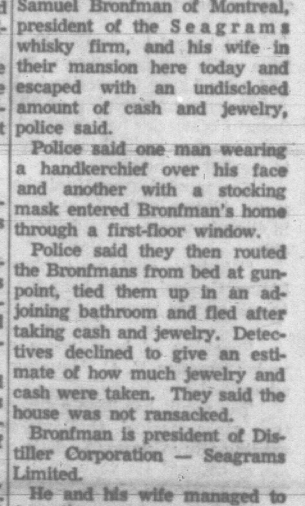

The motion was presented Tuesday by Desmond Lardner-Burke, minister of law and order, under the Law and Order Maintenance Act which provides for a banning order where a publication "is held to be contrary to the interests of public safety or security."

Deryk James, the newspaper's managing director, and Eugene Wasson, the editor, in a joint statement Tuesday night said they were "profoundly shocked by this news." They said The Daily News "has never, repeat never, urged or encouraged subversive activities."

Sir Roy Welensky, leader of the opposition Rhodesia Party, said the ban "could have serious repercussions."

John Parker, president of the Rhodesian Guild of Journalists, described it as "the first major step in an endeavor to reduce all news media to the status of government propaganda instruments."

The guild at an emergency meeting Tuesday night agreed "positive action" should be taken immediately.

ROUTED FROM BED

Masked Pair Ties Up, Robs Bronfmans

TARRYTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Two masked robbers tied up Samuel Bronfman of Montreal, president of the Seagrams whisky firm, and his wife in their mansion here today and escaped with an undisclosed amount of cash and jewelry, police said.

Police said one man wearing a handkerchief over his face and another with a stocking mask entered Bronfman's home through a first-floor window.

Police said they then routed the Bronfmans from bed at gunpoint, tied them up in an adjoining bathroom and fled after taking cash and jewelry. Detectives declined to give an estimate of how much jewelry and cash were taken. They said the house was not ransacked.

Bronfman is president of Distiller Corporation — Seagrams Limited.

He and his wife managed to free themselves a short time after the robbers left and called the superintendent of the large estate.

Police Catch Top Fugitive

MONTREAL (CP) — Adolphe Krachesky, alias Maurice Deschamps, Canada's most wanted criminal, was captured today as he sipped a cup of tea in a midtown St. Hubert Street apartment.

Working on a tip, an armed four-man Montreal police squad burst into Krachesky's apartment at 8:30 a.m., and made the arrest without incident.

The 44-year-old Krachesky escaped from Kingston Penitentiary last April 18, where he was serving a life sentence for armed robbery.

MAKARIOS TARGET OF COUP?

NICOSIA (Reuters)—Three Nicosia Greek-language newspapers today published reports claiming a coup against President Makarios—allegedly prepared by NATO imperialists"—had come to the knowledge of the Cypriot government.

The reports said the coup, to have taken place last Friday, provided for the seizure of the presidential and archbishop's palaces, the arrest of Makarios and the assumption of power by "a group faithful to the Americans."

Spokesman for the U.S. embassy and the British high commission declined to comment.

But an informed British source said the reports were "ridiculous." Sources close to the government said the government "sees no serious cause for anxiety."

'Situation Very Serious' Says Troubled Khanh

By ROY ESSOYAN

SAIGON (AP) — Maj.-Gen. Nguyen Khanh failed today to convince fellow members of the ruling revolutionary military council that they should quit politics to prevent new riots.

"We are not even close to a decision," said Lt.-Gen. Tran Theien Khiem, one of the most powerful officers of the 60-man junta.

Fresh bloodshed in the north attended deepening of the political crisis that led Khanh to resign Tuesday as president, junk a controversial constitution and pledge a new deal for this Communist-menaced republic.

A source close to the junta said the question of electing a new national leader—part of an arrangement with the leaders of student and Buddhist demonstrators — was not even discussed.

MORE THREATS

Before the five-hour meeting broke up, student leaders threatened new mass demonstrations unless the military men returned to fighting the war, opening the government to civilians.

Khanh called the situation serious.

He appeared tired and tense. Speaking alternately in Vietnamese and English, he said:

"The situation is very serious. We men in Vietnamese army must take time to think about the problem. The subject is so important we have to be very careful so we meet again tomorrow and then we will see what results."

'HOLY WAR' MOB BEATS 4 PATIENTS TO DEATH

SAIGON (UPI)—A mob broke into a hospital operated by an American doctor at Da Nang and beat four patients to death.

The doctor, who was not injured, said he had heard that a Roman Catholic priest also had been beaten to death today by another of the gangs roaming the streets of Da Nang.

The victims in the hospital were among a dozen under treatment there for beatings received during rioting in a "holy war" between Buddhists and Catholics.

Hurricane Threatens Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Cleo made a northward turn today and aimed directly for the southeast Florida coast. The weather bureau issued gale warnings for south Florida and the western Bahamas.

The Florida warning area extended from Sombrero Light, 40 miles northeast of Key West, to Fort Lauderdale on the lower east coast of the Florida mainland and included populous Miami.

Cleo left at least 64 dead in her wake as she thrashed across central Cuba toward the Florida Straits.

Coming off the north coast of Cuba, over the warm waters of the Florida straits, the hurricane could quickly regain some of its lost power. Its winds, which hit 140 miles an hour over Haiti, dropped to 75 over Cuba.

The hurricane, which killed at least 14 on the island of Guadalope and an estimated 50 in the mountain of Haiti, moved into Cuba Tuesday afternoon.

A businessman in Les Cayes on Haiti's southern peninsula radioed to Port au Prince that a hospital had been destroyed by the storm and 50 bodies found. Les Cayes was still in the process of rebuilding from the effect of Hurricane Flora which devastated the island and took thousands of lives.

More than 10,000 persons were evacuated from exposed areas on Cuba's southwestern coast. There were no reports of casualties.

KUALA LUMPUR (Reuters)—A 24-hour curfew was proclaimed by Malaysia early today on 200 square miles of South Malaya, where troops hunted about 40 survivors from guerrilla groups landed from Indonesia.

Cuba Refused Planes

LONDON (Reuters) — The British Aircraft Corporation has refused for a second time to sell any of its new long-range VC-10 jet airliners to Cuba, a corporation spokesman here said today.

Ban Called Irresponsible

LONDON (Reuters) — Lord Thomson, owner of the Salisbury Daily News which the Southern Rhodesian government seeks to ban, said here today he is sure such action would not be taken by a responsible Commonwealth government.

In a statement to the Commonwealth Press Union, the Canadian-born newspaper publisher said such a ban "would be a blow to the freedom of the press all over the world."

Disease Toll Grows Daily

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Houston residents sought today to stamp out the mosquito carrying sleeping sickness as the number of suspected cases rose to 216.

The disease, also known as Encephalitis, has been blamed for 18 deaths in 30 days. It is carried by the female culex mosquito.

While Houston authorities used mass methods of spraying to kill mosquitoes, they also offered free insecticide to individuals.

Meanwhile, a helicopter and 40 trucks were spraying ditches and bayous—prime mosquito breeding places.

'Belly Landing'

KANSAS CITY (UPI) — A Trans-World airliner made a "belly landing" today on the main runway of municipal airport, but the 130 passengers escaped injury. The landing gear collapsed as the Boeing 707 jet came down on the runway and skidded several hundred feet on its belly.

Southern States Quit Democrats

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The state's top political leaders say the walkout by the Mississippi regular delegation from the Democratic convention Tuesday severs the state's connections with the national party.

"There can be little question of how Mississippi and her sister states of the Deep South will cast their ballots this November," said former governor Ross Barnett, obviously predicting that Republican nominee Barry Goldwater would carry the state.

But Barnett, who had earlier said he leaned toward Goldwater, did not mention the Arizona Conservative by name Tuesday night as he commented on the refusal of the state's regular delegation to accept the compromise worked out over the challenge by the largely Negro Mississippi Freedom Democrats.

Mississippians, said Barnett, "can forget about working things out within the party of our fathers and begin to chart a realistic course of political action."

The convention credentials committee called for the state's all-white, regular delegation to sign a loyalty pledge to support President Johnson in November and accorded at-large delegate status to two Freedom Democrat leaders.

BOY CHAINED TO DECK AS POLICE JUST LOOK

BALTIMORE (AP) — A ship's captain who ordered a 16-year-old Turkish stowaway chained to the deck rail says the boy will be flown back to Istanbul.

Vuseyin Tunay was discovered aboard the freighter Green Bay after it left Turkey, bound for Baltimore.

Capt. F. L. Winborne said Tunay was allowed freedom of the ship until it entered Chesapeake Bay Monday.

"We had to put him in chains," said the captain, because Tunay had escaped three times after being handcuffed to a stateroom stanchion.

When the ship docked at the Bethlehem Steel Company, longshoremen protested to company police about the boy being in irons. Police said they lacked jurisdiction to interfere.

Kenneth Graves of the Hinkins Steamship Agency said he has tried to turn the boy over to immigration authorities. The immigration officials refused to take him, saying it's their job to keep stowaways from reaching shore.

NEW 'TERROR CURE'

Alcoholics Scared Dry

HAMILTON (CP)—Queen's University in Kingston is using the "most terrifying" treatment for alcoholism with some success, Staff Psychiatrist George D. Scott said Tuesday.

"It's the most horrible thing a person could wish to see," he said as he described the Scoline treatment to delegates attending an alcohol education seminar at McMaster University.

Dr. Scott said the patient is injected with the drug which paralyzes the upper half of his body and slowly suffocates him.

While the patient is struggling to breathe, he is given a whiff of rye whisky. The treatment continues until the patient is almost gasping his last and then an anesthetist gives him oxygen.

IN INFANCY

Dr. Scott said the idea of the treatment, which he described as still in its infancy, is to associate the smell of alcohol with pain and the feeling of being close to death.

"There have been cures and failures," he said. "Some switch addictions, others turn to beer and others start drinking heavily all over again.

He said 50 years is the maximum an alcoholic can expect to live. Alcohol is a poison which progressively damages the body and produces illness.

ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HELLSIDE

David Smith returned to his Salt Spring Island home this week to find it 10 inches shorter than when he left it.

The whole rear wall of his Mary Lake house had been pushed in that much by a car using his private driveway to get to the beach.

There was no sign of the car.

Police are investigating the incident which most likely occurred while Mr. Smith was away over the weekend.

★ ★ ★

While on the subject of Salt Spring Island, we heard recently of an elderly couple who lived there for 30 years without once visiting the mainland.

Just recently they broke with custom by spending two days in Victoria and both were amazed by what has happened to the city since 1934.

They spent some time in the Hudson's Bay store but refused to ride on the escalator or the elevator.

"They were appalled by the traffic and the crowds on the streets," said a friend, "and they didn't like the high-rises one bit."

The guide will come in handy this week as many members from four visiting Japanese warships will be touring the gardens.

A circular home — perhaps the first of its kind in Canada — has been built by Mr. and Mrs. John Thomson at Regency Heights, Victoria.

The exterior is entirely circular in shape with no corners, but the rooms inside have square walls.

B.C. beer drinkers will have to buy their beer in bottles for a while yet, according to Walter Spershott, the manager of Lucky Lager Breweries in Victoria.

Spershott

He was commenting on the news that Ontario breweries had received permission from the provincial Liquor Control Board to market canned beer.

The move leaves Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and B.C. as the only places in Canada where canned beer is not available.

"We have made no application to the Liquor Control Board here for permission to sell canned beer," said Mr. Spershott.

★ ★ ★

Speaking of beer, we're reminded of Alberta where under Premier E. C. Manning beer is not allowed to be advertised.

The result has been a flurry of ads showing beer-bottle type cases marked, shall we say, Gurgles Breweries, and reading "Buy Gurgles . . ." (in very large print) ". . . ginger ale, of course" (in very small print).

'House Would Consider Any Rule Changes'

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson says government introduction of House rule changes would only be proposals for the Commons to consider after all efforts to reach mutual agreement among the parties had failed.

Mr. Pearson had said earlier that if the House rules committee cannot agree on ways to set time limits on debates without imposing closure, the government would have to consider its responsibility to introduce rule changes.

The rules committee, composed of representatives of all parties meeting with speaker Alan Macnaughton, had countered the prime minister's earlier statement by saying that rule changes should not be introduced by the government alone. Instead they should be agreed upon in advance by all parties.

MADE NEW STATEMENT

Mr. Pearson's new statement on the subject is contained in a letter dated Aug. 14 which he sent to Stanley Knowles (NDP—Winnipeg North Centre) in reply to an open letter to all party leaders urging their support of efforts to set time limits on debates before they start in the Commons.

"When I talk about the government taking its responsibility in regard to the improvement of parliamentary procedures," Mr. Pearson said: "I have in mind only the desirability of bringing to the house proposals for its consideration, if progress is demonstrably impossible in the effort to reach agreement through a committee or committees set up for this purpose."

Mr. Knowles, who is chairman of the rules committee's sub - committee on procedure, wrote his open letter to the party leaders on his own responsibility. He said his suggestion would not apply to the current flag debate.

Veterans' Convention Supports Red Ensign

A Victoria resolution favoring the Red Ensign as Canada's flag was endorsed by 400 delegates attending a convention of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans Tuesday.

The convention is being held in Saskatoon.

Six Victoria delegates, led by Wally Moir, president of the local unit, presented the motion which reaffirmed a resolution passed at the 1962 convention.

But the Victoria motion also said that, if any other flag is adopted by a free vote of Parliament in Ottawa, it would be supported by the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans.

FULL RIGHTS

A second Victoria motion, also adopted unanimously, urged that Canadian firefighters who served during the German Blitz on England be given full rights as war veterans, including the granting of re-establishment credits by the federal government.

Five hundred firefighters volunteered for service and fought fires in England during the blitz.

Treasure-Finder Leading Claimant

A 16-year-old Victoria boy who dug up a rusty mustard tin containing $1,150 in old currency has a "good chance" of claiming title to it, lawyer Gilbert J. Smith said today.

"There have been similar cases in the past where the courts have ruled that money found on private property belongs to the person finding it," Mr. Smith said.

He is acting for Mr. and Mrs. Ray Johnson, 469 Dupplin, whose son, Joey, dug up the $1,150 mustard tin while working in the clay-floored basement of a house opposite at 476 Dupplin.

Mrs. Isabel Page, who bought the house several months ago, says she has a claim on the money and has also retained a lawyer.

"If we establish our claim, the money will go into the bank in our son's name," Mrs. Johnson said. "We feel he is entitled to it."

Meantime, the money-filled tin is being held by Saanich police and Mrs. Johnson has a receipt for it.

They are seeking to discover (1) Was the money stolen before it was buried? (2) Is there any possibility of returning it to the person who buried it?

It has been suggested that the money was buried by an elderly man who formerly owned the house at 476 Dupplin and had a deep distrust of banks. He is believed to have died several years ago.

Joey Johnson was hired by Mrs. Page of 572 John Street to dig a pit for an oil tank in the basement of the house at 476 Dupplin.

Talks Will Be 'Good Start'

PARIS (Reuters) — Laotian Prince Southanouvong, leader of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao, had talks here today with the Communist Chinese ambassador to France, Gen. Huang Chen.

The Laotian leader arrived here Tuesday to attend tripartite talks with leaders of the other two Laotian factions.

Souphanouvong said the forthcoming talks, aimed at preparing the ground for a reconvened 14-nation Geneva conference on Laos, would be a "good start."

. . . JOHNSON

This could be done by recognizing one of a small group of "loyal" party members in the Alabama delegation when that state's name is called first in the alphabetical roll of states. Alabama then would yield to Texas to place Johnson's name in nomination.

With the seating fight thus "papered over" and a platform opposing Goldwater at every point safely adopted, the vice-presidential nomination was the only remaining question mark along the Atlantic City boardwalk.

There were indications the president might keep the delegates dangling until after his own nomination. The television networks had been alerted in case he wanted to speak to the convention on the TV screen in the great hall.

Whatever the procedure, the vice-presidential nominee will make his acceptance speech tonight and Johnson will deliver his Thursday night. Under mysterious sponsorship, preparations were being made for a Humphrey celebration after tonight's session.

Gov. John Connally of Texas and Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown of California, as "co-nominators," will be recognized in that order to place Johnson's name in nomination. Then will come the demonstration, and the probable motion to suspend the rules to nominate him by acclamation.

Alabama is represented at the convention by six loyalists who pledged their personal support to the Democratic national ticket as the price imposed by the credentials committee for their seats.

At the first two sessions, Alabamans who refused to give the pledge also made their way to the state's section on the floor, and convention officials refused to cause an incident by evicting them. But even the holdouts rose Tuesday night when house speaker John W. McCormack, convention chairman, asked all delegates to stand who intended to support the nominees of the convention next November.

The credentials committee had struggled with the Mississippi case until Tuesday. The regular party delegation was challenged by a group representing the largely Negro freedom Democratic party.

In a report approved by the convention Tuesday night, the credentials committee recommended seating the regular Mississippi delegates if they pledged support to the national ticket. Only three agreed.

The Fredom Party group was offered seats as honored guests of the convention and two of its leaders were offered votes as delegates-at-large to the convention. It rejected the offer but lacked the support needed from other convention delegates to carry its challenge onto the convention floor.

Unable to please everyone in the Mississippi contest, the chief objective of party managers was to avoid a floor fight. In that they were successful.

Humphrey was one of the mediators in developing the plan which won credentials committee approval with only a few dissenting votes.

At Tuesday night's session, 29 of the Freedom Party members found their way to the Mississippi delegate's session. One was led away but the others locked their arms and stayed.

The three Mississippi loyalists planned to attend tonight's session but most of the other regular delegates from the state expected to leave today. The Alabamans not officially seated were meeting today to decide whether to leave with the Mississippians.

McCormack caught the convention by surprise when he asked all delegates to stand if they intended to support the convention nominees. Everyone on the floor appeared to respond.

There were conflicting reports about who conceived the scheme. Eugene (Bull) Connor, one of the Alabamans not officially seated, said the idea was his. He stood in response to McCormack's invitation. Gov. Carl E. Sanders of Georgia also claimed authorship.

. . . DEMOCRATS

The regular delegates balked at the loyalty pledge and walked away from the convention.

The Freedom Democrats, said Democratic State Chairman Bidwell Adam of Gulfport, "could not carry one box (precinct) in the state."

Adam, a former lieutenant governor, said:

"I glory in the courage of our Mississippi delegates in having the guts to take this stand representing Mississippi and the South."

The walk-out, Adam added, was the only way to "sustain the dignity of this sovereign state."

Barnett, Adam and Governor Paul B. Johnson, titular head of the party in Mississippi, all stayed from the convention.

Governor Johnson, in announcing he had asked for the walkout, said he would not support President Johnson's bid for election under any circumstances.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Some Alabamans say they probably are going to vote Republican in the November presidential election because of the fight over seating the state's delegation at the Democratic national convention in Atlantic City.

"What do they mean, changing the rules now?" said James Wilson. "Trying to make us sign a loyalty oath . . . why, that's a disgrace and an insult."

Wilson, a hotel clerk, said he planned to vote Republican.

Charles Coleman, a druggist, said he wasn't a member of either party but that he would vote Republican because of the loyalty oath dispute.

"I think they (the Democrats) should give us a few concessions if they are interested in Alabama," he said Tuesday night.

Others, asking that they not be identified, said they also would vote for Senator Barry Goldwater because of the dispute.

Admiral Leads Rescue of Boys

Four rescuers, led by Rear-Admiral W. M. Landymore, flag officer, Pacific Coast, pulled three youngsters from the choppy waters of Esquimalt Harbor Tuesday.

The boys, David George, 13 and his brother Lewis, 11, of 569 David, and cousin Alfred Kletlan, 13, of 2534 Wark, had set out in a small boat from Ogden Point to meet the George boys' father.

Their engine failed at the approaches to Esquimalt Harbor and the high winds threatened to dash them on the rocks.

The trio was first spotted by the admiral's son, John, 14.

SOAKED

He and an unidentified friend summoned the admiral and his steward, LS Norman Grove, who pulled the boat ashore.

The youngsters were soaked and shivering but otherwise unharmed.

They were taken to the admiral's home for a cup of hot cocoa and cookies and later driven home in a naval transport car.

Ont. Securities Chief Denies Wrongdoing

TORONTO (CP) — John H. Campbell, suspended as director of the Ontario Securities Commission following disclosure of a possible conflict of interest involving a mining company the OCS is investigating, said today he did nothing "illegal, immoral or unethical."

"I think it will be cleared up," he said.

Mr. Campbell, 50, was suspended Tuesday by Attorney-General Arthur Wishart who said he feels the evidence is "pretty strong" that there was a conflict of interest.

Mr. Campbell said his suspension was based on evidence he himself gave the commission. He did not specify what the information was, but said it was about Windfall Oils and Mines Ltd.

The price of Windfall shares rose to $5.60 from 56 cents in July on rumors of a rich find near Timmins, then collapsed after it was announced no ore was found on its property.

SEVERAL INQUIRIES

Several investigations, including a one-man royal commission are under way because of the stock's performance.

When Mr. Campbell was appointed 10 months ago to the newly created post he was described as the chief watchdog of the Ontario financial community. His duties included making initial decisions on investigations of individuals and companies in the securities business and directing the work of the commission's staff of investigators.

The suspension is the first result of an investigation ordered into the company by the attorney - general July 28, shortly after the market price of the shares fell. Mr. Wishart said the suspension would remain in effect until "this aspect of the investigation has been completed."

Mr., Campbell said in an interview that his suspension was the only action the attorney-general could have taken under the circumstances, but added that he expects it to be lifted once the investigation ends.

REFUSES TO COMMENT

He declined to comment on whether he was trading in the company's shares.

Mr. Campbell said he has seen George MacMillan, Windfall president, and his wife, constantly in both social and official capacities since he met them at the prospectors and developers association convention early in March.

Mr. Campbell said he had acted as mediator between the TSE and Mr. MacMillan after the Exchange demanded a statement on drilling results from Windfall and threatened suspension of the shares if a statement were not forthcoming.

"The MacMillans couldn't have cared less whether the company was suspended or not," he said. "I felt that suspension would have done a great deal of damage to the shareholders."

Mr. Campbell, 50, said he was confident the public will learn that he has done nothing of which to be ashamed.

Mr. Wishart said news of Mr. Campbell's suspension had been forwarded to Mr. Justice Arthur Kelly, a one-man royal commission appointed early this month by Premier John Robarts to inquire into the trading in Windfall and two other speculative mines with claims in the Timmins area where Texas Gulf Sulphur Company made a major base metal discovery this spring.

The value of Windfall shares, now selling at 51 cents, fell more than $3 in one day after Mr. MacMillan announced the drilling on company property produced no valuable find.

A. R. Dick, associate deputy attorney - general, said the investigation into Mr. Campbell's activities is "proceeding as quickly as possible" in an effort "to get the facts straight."

Navy Finds Life In Museum Piece

By HUMPHRY DAVY

One of three 100-year-old cannon balls presented to the Maritime Museum of B.C. Tuesday had to be de-activated by Royal Canadian Navy divers before becoming a museum piece.

The cannon ball, fired by the Royal Navy at the Indian village of Ahousat on the west coast of Vancouver Island, was found to be still dangerous when examined by navy ordinance officers in Esquimalt.

Navy divers disarmed the old ball.

The cannon ball and two others was presented to Lieutenant - Governor G. R. Pearkes when he visited the Indian village aboard the destroyer escort HMCS Margaree in May. The Indians asked that they be placed in the museum.

Cmdr. J. L. Panabaker, commanding officer of the Margaree, presented the cannon balls to the museum on behalf of Mr. Pearkes.

FIRST ONE SINCE

In making the presentation, Cmdr. Panabaker recalled that HMCS Margaree was the first warship to visit Ahousat since the British Navy shelled the Indian village for an act of piracy. That was 100 years ago.

The Ahousats in 1864 murdered the crew of the trading sloop Kingfisher in Clayoquot Sound, plundered the vessel and sank it.

FIRED ON SHIPS

HMS Sutlej and the Devastation were sent from Victoria to apprehend those responsible for the murder but the Ahousats refused to turn over the wanted men. They even fired upon the ships.

The Sutlej and the Devastation punished the Indians by destroying the longhouses and canoes at Ahousat as well as other Indian dwellings in nearby villages.

The action of the two vessels may have saved the colony from an Indian war as B.C. natives at the time were resentful at the whites settling in B.C.

Blood Bomb Hurler Gets Offer of Job

VANCOUVER (CP)—A car firm here has offered David Cowlishaw a job because "he has got to feed his family."

Carsean Tanbergg, manager of Sargent Sales and Services Ltd., said Tuesday he had wired Cowlishaw in an Ottawa jail $77 with which to pay his fine and damages.

Cowlishaw was apprehended Monday night when he threw a carton of animal blood onto the floor of the House of Commons to underline what he called the unjust treatment of Calvin Macdonald of Ottawa, who claimed he was an RCMP undercover agent in the Communist party.

He was fined $25 and damages.

When asked why his firm was offering a job to Cowlishaw, a former newspaper reporter, Mr. Tenbergg said Cowlishaw has "obligations to fulfill, and his family is not exactly living in luxury, I am sure, because of Mr. Cowlishaw's unstinting efforts to help people."

Mr. Tanbergg said he was a close personal friend of the Cowlishaw family.

Mr. Cowlishaw has sacrificed most of his time and almost all of his personal earnings in his venture to help people who have been wronged," said Mr. Tanbergg.

Arms Race Deplored By Pope

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP)—Pope Paul warned today that "some of those basic principles on which peace must be founded" are crumbling.

In an impassioned appeal against an arms race, the pontiff begged men to remember what caused two devastating world wars, and deplored what he called a return to the "illusory concept that peace can only be based on the terrifying power of extremely homicidal weapons."

Pope Paul said the world is seeing a rebirth of perilous concepts, that the "concept of the sacred and inviolable character of human life" has been obscured.

The Pope spoke to his weekly general audience at his summer residence south of Rome.

Pope Paul said his thoughts were stirred by the current anniversary commemorations of the start of the First and Second World Wars.

TEACHERS' STRIKE THREATENS

REGINA (CP) — More than 30,000 elementary public school students in three major Saskatchewan cities may find their classrooms empty of teachers when summer holidays end Monday.

About 1,200 elementary school teachers in Regina, Saskatoon and Prince Albert say they are being penalized in wages solely because they teach elementary school rather than high school. They say elementary teachers and high school teachers with the same training and experience should get essentially the same wages.

The teachers have voted to strike if the school boards will not recognize this principle.

COMMITTEE COOL-OFF

Tories Step Up Flag Bid

OTTAWA (CP) — Conservative MPs are stepping up their new campaign in the Commons to persuade the government to refer the flag issue to a special parliamentary committee in an effort to break the summer-long deadlock.

As the House plodded through its 14th sitting day on the maple leaf flag resolution Tuesday, Conservative after Conservative argued that a small all-party committee would cool off the steaming debate.

"If the House agrees," said Reynold Rapp (PC — Humboldt-Melfort-Tisdale), "a compromise could be reached. There could be set up a committee composed of representatives of all parties.

". . . The committee should be empowered to recommend a flag and have it approved by the House."

If the committee failed to agree unanimously on a flag design, the issue should be taken to the people in a national plebiscite.

The committee proposal was first aired last week by Opposition Leader Diefenbaker. He suggested that a 15-man committee should be able to find a solution to the flag impasse if it were given about two months.

WANT LIMIT

Prime Minister Pearson and leaders of the three small parties generally agreed with the idea, but held that a definite debating limit should be tied in to ensure a vote on the issue.

A total of 122 speeches have been made so far in the debate, 56 of them on a Conservative sub-amendment for a plebiscite.

The Conservatives have made 79 speeches, many of them speaking twice, and 27 Liberal MPs have spoken. The splinter parties have put up 16 speakers.

Jean-Louis Frenette (SC — Portneuf) said the government should resort to the infamous closure rule if necessary to end "this sterile discussion."

Conservatives denied they are conducting a filibuster. They argued that any national flag must command wide public acceptance and not be connected with any political party in particular.

Terry Nugent (PC — Edmonton Strathcona) said few Canadians are impressed by "this three-leaf monstrosity . . . this pure political gimmick."

"Have you ever tried to explain three maple leaves to an Eskimo who has never seen a tree?" asked Gene Rheaume (PC — Northwest Territories).

"What in God's name, we in the Territories ask, is all this about?"

A. M. A. McLean (L—Charlotte), the only government speaker Tuesday, said he fought under the Union Jack in the First World War but would like a new flag to symbolize Canada's future.

The Ally of Prosperity

IN SIGNING INTO LAW LAST week a bill creating a commission to study the effects of automation on the American economy, President Johnson remarked: "Automation can be the ally of prosperity."

He went on to say that automation was not the enemy of man—the enemies were ignorance, indifference and inertia. Without automation some of the nation's largest employers could not exist and "we could not provide this great shield (defence production) for our country, this great shield for the free world."

In Canada, too, the government is concerned with the effects of automation and has gone so far as to offer to pay half the cost of private research into the effects on manpower of industrial change as well as half the cost of developing adjustment programs.

This country has taken the attitude that solving the problems of automation is a joint responsibility of government, management and labor. While the department of labor's manpower consultative service offers to assist and advise labor unions and employers in adapting operations to technological change, the government itself has made no move to take over leadership in researching the problem as has the United States administration.

In the present period of relatively high employment and fairly widespread prosperity in both the United States and Canada, the automation question does not seem very pressing to most people. However, a recent report from Ottawa indicates that automation, coupled with an increasingly sharp increase in the labor force, could spell serious unemployment problems for the country in the event of even a minor slowdown in the economy.

Effects of the post-war "baby boom" are already beginning to show up in the labor force figures for this year and, while the business upturn has kept pace with the increase in workers looking for jobs, the net effect on unemployment has been relatively small. At mid-year, for instance, the seasonally-adjusted unemployment rate was down only 0.9 per cent from last year while for the months of June at 5.2 per cent and July at 5 per cent, the rate was the highest since last November.

Further emphasis on the relatively slight dent made in Canada's unemployment rate is the fact that while non-farm employment rose in July by 276,000 persons or 4.6 per cent, unemployment dropped by only 28,000, thus lowering the unemployment rate by only 0.5 per cent.

At the same time as the growing labor force and automation are posing unemployment difficulties, there can be no place in Canadian government or private economic thought for the idea that automation can be or should be retarded. Competitive pressures demand that Canadian goods must be produced as efficiently and inexpensively as possible if they are to compete in world market places.

Already several Canadian industrial leaders have expressed fears that Canada has not moved ahead rapidly enough in manufacturing efficiency and is falling behind many European countries, the United States and Japan in this field. In some labor-short countries—Sweden is a striking example—automation of industry is actively encouraged by the government through tax concessions in order to promote higher output of goods at lower prices for export markets.

In short, automation is not something that can be held back. Nor is the growing labor force—which will increase ever more rapidly from now until at least the early 1970s—a situation which can be ignored.

The question which must be asked is whether steps taken by the government, industry and labor in this country are sufficient to meet the threat of rising unemployment over the next decade. Perhaps the American study of the problem will provide some answers for Canada too, but it may well be that an even stronger push for research of the problem in this country is still needed.

Advantage Or Disadvantage?

THE CAMPAIGN OF SOME municipalities to amend the Municipal Act to permit commercial sports and entertainment on Sundays is bound to invite controversy.

Several municipalities reportedly have held plebiscites which returned verdicts in favor of opening up Sundays to afternoon and evening entertainment for which admission could be charged. Such events would include bowling, movies, concerts and similar recreation. Vancouver, operating under a private charter, has had similar legislation for some time and appears to be satisfied with the results. The argument in favor revolves around the point that citizens should not be denied such outlets on their day of rest, Sunday being for many the only day on which these are available.

The prime opposition, of course, will be from religious sources. But there are secular objections, too, many persons holding that the institution of Sunday is a basic guarantee that workers shall get at least one common day of rest each week. Once the gate is opened, it is argued, the way will be clear for all sorts of commercial operations and the workers' Sunday off will no longer be a matter beyond argument.

Obviously, so long-standing a custom should not be changed without careful consideration, and equally obviously, any change should be a matter of local plebiscite since conditions and requirements will vary from place to place.

It could be that in a nuclear, electronic, automated age the traditional Sunday may be due for changes. For all practical purposes it has disappeared in the Soviet Union. Few communities in this country, however, would be willing to go so far.

What You Really Pay

ON MANY OCCASIONS THE suggestion has been put forward that organizations in the consumer credit field should be required by law to state clearly in each contract the effective interest rate being charged in percentage terms. Credit-granting groups have steadily, and so far successfully, argued that such information was not relevant or would involve such detailed bookkeeping procedures as to result in raising the cost of loans.

In recent weeks the Ontario Legislature's select committee on consumer credit has been studying the problem and, according to a Toronto dispatch, has come to the conclusion that a number of witnesses representing loan and mortgage firms have not been entirely truthful in their testimony concerning the difficulties involved in expressing the true rate of interest charged on loans.

One member of the committee went so far as to say that "We have been given a lot of eyewash," when it was disclosed by committee staff investigators that most loan firms have tables available to their personnel which show the true interest rate on any transaction down to the last decimal point.

The Ontario committee was intrigued by the disclosure of true effective interest rates when it turned up some deals where the rate figured out as high as 83 per cent. It was not likely, of course, that many people would be so gullible as to borrow money at such high rates unless the lender had camouflaged the deal with so-called "service charges" and other gimmicks.

The next move of the committee, apparently, will be to press for a meeting with the joint Senate-Commons standing committee on interest rates with a view to promoting a nation-wide provincial-federal common front in legislating for full interest rate disclosure. In addition, the Ontario committee is reportedly ready to recommend provincial legislation making full disclosure mandatory.

Ontario pioneered the legislation, now in effect in a number of provinces including British Columbia, giving debtors who have been victimized by sharp money-lenders an opportunity to have their cases reviewed by the courts. It is possible the full-disclosure laws might spread across the country if the Ontario legislature takes action.

Phweeee Phwew!

A MAN IN LINDSAY, ONTARIO, has trained fish to come when he whistles. One long and two short blasts bring hundreds of minnows to feed near his lake jetty. And three short blasts bring in a school of pet carp to get their meal. Times—and species—have changed. It's only a generation ago that Dad was whistling at chickens.

THE SAVER — By BRUCE HUTCHISON

Behind it All: Human Beings

ECONOMISTS, financiers and professors, who happily writhe in these dark mysteries, can spend a pleasant weekend reading the latest legislation of the United States Congress. But the average sensible Canadian will not read it. He has better use for his time in this holiday season. Who cares about the American interest equalization tax when the summer is running out faster than the gold at Fort Knox? Nevertheless, a law designed to stanch the hemorrhage of American capital flowing into Canada and other countries will touch us all, visibly or invisibly. For behind all this bewildering tissue of international finance stands the simple human being. No expert seems to think much about him but he, and not the central bankers, or the elected legislators, unconsciously controls the whole economic system by the mere habits of his life.

Hutchison

Curious Creature

Especially in Canada the nature of this curious creature is ignored by most of the experts. It seems to be assumed, for instance, that he will automatically save enough of his money to finance all the necessary investments of governments and private business; or that if he won't, then foreigners will lend Canada all the money it requires.

Both assumptions, it turns out, are wrong. The average Canadian is not saving enough and the United States, as the great foreign lender, has announced in its new law that its future loans to Canada will be definitely limited.

It might be a good idea for our Canadian governments to turn from this written law to the deeper, unwritten law of human nature. There they would find that national policy has discouraged the very habits that it is designed to encourage. Government has made a profound mistake of psychology.

Unlimited Investment

If a growing nation like Canada needs virtually unlimited investment of all sorts, from sewers to art galleries, from hospitals to pulp mills, then clearly the ordinary person should be commended and rewarded in the tax rates for saving some of his income and investing it. The saver should be recognized as the good citizen.

Instead, the emphasis of public policy and tax laws is directed mainly toward the man who refuses to save. One might suppose that saving was hardly respectable, almost a social sin.

The Canadian state, quite rightly, is determined to protect those unwilling or unable to save for emergencies or for old age and, under its present pension plans, will force everybody to save during his active life. This is admirable but what about the citizen who saves without compulsion? He is the forgotten man in our society or, at any rate, in our tax system which regards income from investment as a natural target.

Thereby hangs an interesting question: What has a man actually done by saving part of his income? Has he somehow damaged society? Has he injured his fellow men? Has he tried to grind the faces of the poor? Is he a social asset or liability?

Our tax laws seem to consider him a liability when, in fact, he is the nation's largest economic asset. He alone can nourish society, since it can grow in wealth only from the savings of the people. There is no fairy godmother in these prosaic times and the American Santa Claus is rather hard up. Only the savers, all the little people combined, each of them with a few dollars to invest, can meet society's need for capital. From this single source, and nowhere else, must come all the wealth of government, all the fortunes of the rich.

In supplying capital the saver is denying himself, for the benefit of everybody, the goods that he could otherwise enjoy. He postpones some of his own demands until the time when he can no longer work and earn. Then he naturally expects society to repay its debt to him. Society has a neat method of escaping the debt. It repays the lender in devalued money. It has practised this legal fraud through the ages and still expects the saver to like it.

Complex Matters

All these complex matters were in the mind of the Congress when it cracked down on the export of American capital. They are also doubtless in the mind of a royal commission now studying the taxation laws of Canada and presumably meditating some increased tax benefits for the saver.

Before we can properly reform our laws, however, it will be necessary to look beyond them to the human creature as the true centre of all things. It will be necessary for society to accept the plain and generally disregarded fact that the man who saves and invests his money, who looks after himself and his family, who asks the least help from his fellows, is not a monster after all.

Once we get our minds around a truth much older than modern finance perhaps we can write it into law, remembering that no law can ever be stronger than the people who obey, or refuse to obey it.

PROTEST

Much criminality, if I can call it that amongst youngsters, is in a sense a protest against unreasonable treatment, a lack of sympathy with authority. If you can help children to realize that authority is something ultimately which they can accept, they will become less emotionally conditioned against authority.

FROM WARSAW — By JOHN RUTHERFORD

Poland Shows Two Sides

TWENTY years ago, Warsaw was fighting in a vain, despairing bid for freedom. The rising went on until early October. And when it was finally over the Germans took their vengeance, demolishing those parts of the city which had not already been destroyed. When the war ended, 85 per cent of Warsaw lay in ruins.

Today is it almost totally rebuilt. The Old City has been restored stone by stone, colonnade by colonnade, and gable by gable, down to the last ironwork door and knocker, exactly as it was before the war. Elsewhere the city has been renewed.

Warsaw today is a crowded, bustling capital again. The increasing traffic requires ever more roundabouts and traffic lights to control it. The shops are full of goods.

The days are hot, just as they were that August of 20 years ago. The women and girls are out in their summery dresses. The pavement cafes and espresso bars are full of chattering couples. At the railway station the trains bound for the Baltic are full. The highways swarm with rucksacked youngsters, hitch-hiking.

This is the bright side. Like the glowing record of industrial restoration and new growth and development announced recently by Mr. Gomulka, the Communist Party leader, in speeches at the Party congress and at the celebrations of the 20th anniversary of the Communist republic.

Official Cars

But the cars on the streets are mostly official ones; or the property of the lucky few who, because of some provident dispensation, can afford them. A modest car costs more than three years of an average skilled man's total earnings. There are plenty of articles in the shops. But generally the finish and choice are poor. There is a shortage of quality goods, and prices are high.

Mr. Gomulka can point to impressive advances in industrialization. Huge new factories and combines have been built. But it has been done at the consumer's expense. And the Polish consumer, like others in Eastern Europe, is increasingly distrustful of economic policies which keep things that way.

The recent anniversaries were occasions for dwelling on achievement. To meet the critics of official policy, Mr. Gomulka spoke enthusiastically of the future. It belonged, he said, to the younger generation, for whom economic planning had created "a start in life."

But his optimism seems to evoke little response from the Poles. Industry is plagued by bad management and poor quality work. Corruption in the economy—culminating recently in the Warsaw meat scandal involving the top management of the city's central meat organization—is widespread. The government's austerity program (which, admittedly is essential) seems to many Poles to hold out little hope of improvement, at least in their lifetime. "We've had 20 years of pie in the sky" remarked one Pole dejectedly. "We ought to be having some of it now."

Sceptical Workers

It is not only the workers who are sceptical and apathetic. Youth, with about a million new workers seeking jobs in 1965, is asking where the jobs will be coming from. In the next three years there will be three million of them—and unemployment is already considerable.

Critics assert that only drastic cutbacks in capital investment and bigger appropriations for light industry, together with radical changes towards a decentralized market economy based on profit-loss motives, can give the impulse needed.

Mr. Gomulka's policy is to steer a middle course between those he suspects and distrusts per se as intellectuals and revisionists, and those quasi-Stalinists who could provoke another 1956 which he might not be able to control. He will tolerate nobody who rocks the boat—whether it be the meat racketeers who outraged his concept of a morally self-disciplined socialist society, or the intellectuals and youth for whose eccentricities, intentions and yearnings it is not in the nature of the man to have understanding or patience. But the effect concerning the latter is to alienate much useful support that his regime might otherwise command.

Moderate Voices in Quebec

(Montreal Le Devoir)

In a speech last week to the Quebec Richelieu Club Georges-Henri Fortin, president of the St. Jean-Baptiste Societies, explained why the organization has rejected co-operative federalism. But the arguments used are extremely weak. By using the principles on which Mr. Fortin based his argument one could also conclude that this new political formula is a useful means of attaining the objectives shared by all French Canada. . . .

The essence of the new policy is that we are entering an evolution towards a federalism that is more respectful of the rights of Quebec. Is it wise to condemn in advance an attempt at redress whose future results are unknown and which has already borne appreciable fruit?

His principal complaint is that the new policy is inspired by Anglo-Saxon pragmatism as far as the evolutionary character of constitutional law is concerned. Thus he complains that consulting the provinces does not make a big enough change in the play of forces and is in effect a constitutional status quo incompatible with the right of Quebec to self-determination.

No one can deny that Quebec has gained ground between 1960 and 1964 but people reply that this is a smoke screen, that instead of the old centralization we have a new one, this one with the provinces' agreement. These affirmations are neither evident nor proved.

The example of the federal loans to students is not evidence either. Mr. Fortin quotes an article where I myself denounced this invasion of provincial jurisdiction by the central government and he expresses surprise that I do not reject co-operative federalism. The present situation of our federalism, despite certain improvements, is not acceptable but it is subject to a new policy of searching for a satisfactory solution. It is more logical to support and stimulate the efforts of those involved in this task than to block them with rash denunciations. Let us at least await the results before judging.—PAUL SAURIOL.

(Trois-Rivieres Le Nouvelliste)

The head of the New Democratic Party T. C. Douglas, has just made a sensational suggestion to the Commons that the portion of the direct taxes going to the provinces should be raised from 26 per cent to 50. By virtue of a bill brought under study recently, the provinces' share of this sort of revenue would be raised from 26 to 30 per cent. As Mr. Douglas said, this is a step in the right direction but it is necessary to go even further.

A more equitable share of tax revenue for the provinces would allow them to meet their constitutional obligations more effectively and allow the federal government to stop the payment of constitutional grants for the accomplishment of tasks that come under provincial jurisdiction. Certain fanatical federalists are becoming alarmed at the idea of Quebec's being put in a position to become strong and to escape from the control of the federal government . . .

In the case of contributory programs, Quebec doesn't want to prevent the other provinces from signing all the agreements they like, but it does want to be free not to associate itself with such things and, in the event of such disassociation, not to have to pay for the implementation of an agreement in the other provinces. Otherwise it is a matter of stealing money from Quebec to keep the other provinces going, a long-standing occurrence which is no longer tolerable.

The Commons members who want to keep Quebec in a state of subjection are paving the way for a split between the Confederation and ourselves. The high-handed tactics being used especially on the Opposition side would by no means win back the confidence and loyalty of French Canadians.

It would be best for everybody to think this over before it is too late. But a suggestion like that of Mr. Douglas indicates minds are clearing and that it will be possible to achieve a candid agreement made in good faith between Canada's two ethnic groups.

As Our Readers See It

Draw It Mild!

In his "At the Movies" column of Aug. 22, Norman Cribbens puts up a lawyer-like defence of "Beatlemania," but I cannot accept his argument that these Beatles are "as worthy of devotion" as great artistes like Caruso, Gigli, Grace Moore or Toscanini.

The Beatles are, after all, just a craze and will soon be replaced by some other teen-age attraction. They cannot be compared with great singers and musicians who had such phenomenal talent that grown men and women would queue up all night to hear them.

Draw it mild, Mr. Cribbens, even if you are a champion of youth!

No State of Anarchy

Some recent criticisms published in your esteemed paper of Mr. E. E. Pearlman's proposals for industrial peace were well taken. For Mr. Pearlman's insights into labor relations have a strange and rabid flavor about them, which, if put to the test, would likely inflame and make matters worse.

Why does Mr. Pearlman advocate such harsh and drastic measures against striking unions? The reason, he says, is so that anarchy can be prevented. This seems to be his basic premise, the preventing of anarchy.

But the notion that our labor condition in B.C. is in a state of anarchy is a bit exaggerated. The vast majority of contracts are signed peacefully. Only in marginal situations do strikes occur. So what Mr. Pearlman's very risky solutions would do would be to alter and upset this favorable and hopeful balance, thereby adding new stresses and antagonisms to our industrial life.

Those who are given to the free and easy use of the words "anarchy" and "emergency" to describe labor unrest very often have no real knowledge of labor relations at all, or a little knowledge, which is even more dangerous. Well-meaning enough, they view things only in economic terms. Yet, curiously, the most costly economic loss of all, unemployment, never appears to enter their lexicon. Not even when the government announces that 10,000 able and fit workers are drawing relief in the province. They only peal the tocsin when a plant shuts down, even though most of our industries seldom work a full year anyway.

Militia Before CBC

To many of your older male readers it will be saddening to learn that $100,000,000 is available for the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and to be told that the strength of our active militia must be reduced.

The history of Canada has proved that our citizen soldiers are of major importance in time of stress.

It will be hoped by many that our well-paid legislators in Ottawa may have sufficient manhood and patriotism to take appropriate action to reduce the outlay on the CBC and to insist that our citizen troops receive better support.

Smoke Nuisance

Our smoke nuisance can be cured. That will cost a little money.

If those who make all the smoke cannot, or will not, pay to cure it, I for one, as a taxpayer, am willing to do my share of stopping it at the expense of all taxpayers.

Even if that is unfair, surely it is far better than letting the nuisance go on.

Is it not a disgrace to us as citizens of this great province's capital city?

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER ALVAREZ

Cancer of the Prostate

Quite a few elderly men write, asking if there is anything new in regard to the treatment of prostatic cancer. I fear that usually, by the time the cancer is discovered, it is too late for a surgeon to remove all of the tumor. Too often X-ray examination of the bones of the man's pelvis show the "moth-eaten" holes due to the presence of scattered cancer. Dr. Elmer Belt of Los Angeles has removed many cancers of the prostate gland and he feels that the effort is worth while; some other urologists are not so optimistic.

Alvarez

Fortunately, some cancers of the prostate gland grow very slowly, or hardly at all; others however grow more rapidly and can soon cause much pain. Quite a few are held in check, sometimes for years, with the help of large doses of stilbestrol—a synthetic female hormone. Some statistics that I have read showed that the results of the giving of stilbestrol are about as good as those of castration.

Sometimes the big problem with a cancer of the prostate gland is to keep clear the channel that leads out of the urinary bladder, so that the person will not die of urinary retention. Usually, an able urologist can repeatedly remove part of the obstructing tumor and thus give the patient much relief. The safest and least troublesome operation is the one that is performed through a lighted tube passed through the urethra (the tube that carries urine out of the bladder).

I have read that in occasional cases treatment with large doses of cobalt rays will help; also radioactive isotopes can be given. The hopeful fact is that I know a number of men with cancer of the prostate gland who have lived comfortably with it for years, and are still enjoying life.

* * *

A correspondent who suffers much from psoriasis says that some of the doctors he has seen have said that it is not hereditary. Doubtless their reason for doing this is that the disease is one of those that often skips a couple of generations, and as all laymen know this happens commonly with a number of inherited ailments.

As my correspondent says, he knows it is hereditary because his grandfather had it, his father always had it, one of his father's sisters had it, but the man who writes me is the only one of 12 children who got it! But already my correspondent's son has it at the age of 18 months. The writer tells me that the only thing that he has found that will clear up his patches is to get a good suntan. He has also found that when he drinks alcoholic beverages the disease tends to become bothersome.

The man wants to know if there is anything he can do to keep the eruption from coming out on the skin of his boy, but I am afraid that even able skin specialists may have trouble protecting the youngster. The father wants to know also if anything is now being done to find the cause or a cure for this disease. Yes, some of the leading skin specialists in the world are doing research—trying to find out what goes wrong with the chemistry of the skin when a patch of redness with small fine scales appears.

As the man says, it is a most baffling and frustrating disease. Sometimes simple treatment will clear it up, and then again a man may spend months going to a professor of skin diseases, who will have great difficulty in getting any result. Also, a man will assume when his skin cleared that this was due to a certain treatment. But six months later, when the patches appear again, the medicine that he used so successfully before may now have no influence.

One of the most popular treatments—one that was much used by Dr. Goeckerman at the Mayo Clinic—was radiation with ultraviolet light plus some ointment containing tar.

HOME GARDEN

By JACK BEASTALL

The Conversation Potential

When a plant has a habit peculiar to itself and to no other plant, it makes an interesting garden subject regardless of its splendor or lack of it.

Jack

Such a plant becomes a conversation piece, and a drab garden can be the most entertaining garden when the peculiarities of each plant are told to visitors. This is where the smart gardener shines. She may not have the largest, nor the most expensive, collection of plants, but she knows the story of every plant she grows, and tells it to all who come.

When you meet some of her visitors a month or so later in your own garden they will recount the story of several plants word for word.

This shows that the story of a plant, something of its history or that of its finder, some habit that is not readily apparent, is as interesting to a visitor as the plant itself, and sometimes more so.

Some plants open their blooms at precisely the same time each afternoon, while others are as regular in closing. Certain flowers are so sensitive to temperature that a difference of one degree Fahrenheit determines whether the blossom will be open or closed.

Plants with spikes of flowers commonly open from the bottom upwards, but the few that open from the top downwards always provoke interest.

Facts of this nature are worth gathering when you purchase plants for the garden, because they incite a greater personal interest in the individual plant as well as increasing its garden value because of the conversational potentials.

When a gardener professes to have no interest in the story of the plant he is buying, saying that as long as it grows nothing else matters, he is missing one of the greatest thrills of gardening.

Mr. Reeve Spurns Mr. Mayor

Once a reeve, always a reeve . . . that's the feeling of Esquimalt reeve, Alfred C. Wurtele.

At Monday night's council meeting he shot down a suggestion by Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell, that reeves should become mayors.

The suggestion, put forward in a circular issued to all local councils, is for any municipality higher than a village rating, to have a mayor.

Said Reeve Wurtele: "Then we'd have to have supermayors and mayors. Or perhaps he could be called the over-burgermeister and the others under-burgermeisters.

"I think it's ideal as it is."

Asking council to move a motion filing the circular, he said: "We don't need it."

He said the title reeve was an old English expression derived from shire reeve or sheriff.

"It would be confusing having mayors outside of the main business centre," he added.

Contract Accepted

VANCOUVER (CP)—Woodworkers and employers in British Columbia's southern interior Tuesday accepted a conciliation proposal giving workers an across-the-board 37-cent hourly pay increase on a three-year contract.

Jack Moore, regional president of International Woodworkers of America (CLC), announced here that the 4,500 men involved had approved proposals made by conciliation officer R. S. Raguin.

Russian Arms Smuggled To S. Rhodesia

SALISBURY, S. Rhodesia — A steady trickle of Russian hand grenades is coming into Southern Rhodesia by underground channels.

They are standard Russian army equipment and are in perfect working order. Police raids have brought a number of these grenades to light.

It is believed they are smuggled across the Northern Rhodesia border and presumably come from Tanganyika or the Congo on the long journey from Russia.

In a court case in Salisbury last week evidence was given of a secret hand grenade training school attended by four young Africans in the bush outside Salisbury. Training was also given in the use of bows and steel-tipped arrows.

A Peoples' Caretaker Council official, Oliver Bwanya, was sentenced to 20 years' hard labor in the Salisbury magistrates' court for attending this hand grenade training meeting and having hand grenades—and bow and arrows—in his possession.

It was one of the highest sentences ever passed in a magistrates' court. Bwanya is the fourth Peoples' Caretaker Council official to be sentenced in Salisbury in a week for possessing hand grenades.

The British South African police forensic expert, Doctor J. W. Thomson, giving evidence on four Russian hand grenades found in Salisbury, said that 15 identical grenades had recently been exploded in Bulawayo, one of which had killed a man.

INDIAN EDUCATOR URGES

'Keep Universities Free'

OTTAWA (CP)—A warning was issued Monday by a prominent Indian educationist that vigilance must be exercised to see that universities do not become political instruments of governments.

Prof. Samuel Mathai, vice-chancellor of the University of Kerala, told reporters that the rate of increase in the number of universities in the Commonwealth is largely due to the pressure of demand for higher education.

A keynote speaker at the third Commonwealth Education Conference, he said the demand was an expression of the awakened mind of the common people. Until recently, everywhere in the world university education was the privilege of certain sections of society.

"But there is always need for very careful vigilance that, as governments come into the picture by providing funds for the expansion of facilities, educational institutions are not made wholly instruments of national policy," he said.

Sometimes there was only a thin line between what a government considered social purposes and national policy.

CLOSER TO INDUSTRY

Sir Willis Jackson, head of the electrical engineering department at the Imperial College of Science and Technology of London University, suggested that government spending in education be tied more closely to the needs of industry.

Sir Willis, also a keynote speaker, said at the press conference it was important to respond to demands for formal education but it was equally important to meet educational and training requirements at other levels.

An underlying theme in his address to the 200 delegates from 33 Commonwealth countries and territories was that technicians deserve a better place under the sun. It was necessary to give such people, who did not have university degrees, a boost in status and a sense of belonging.

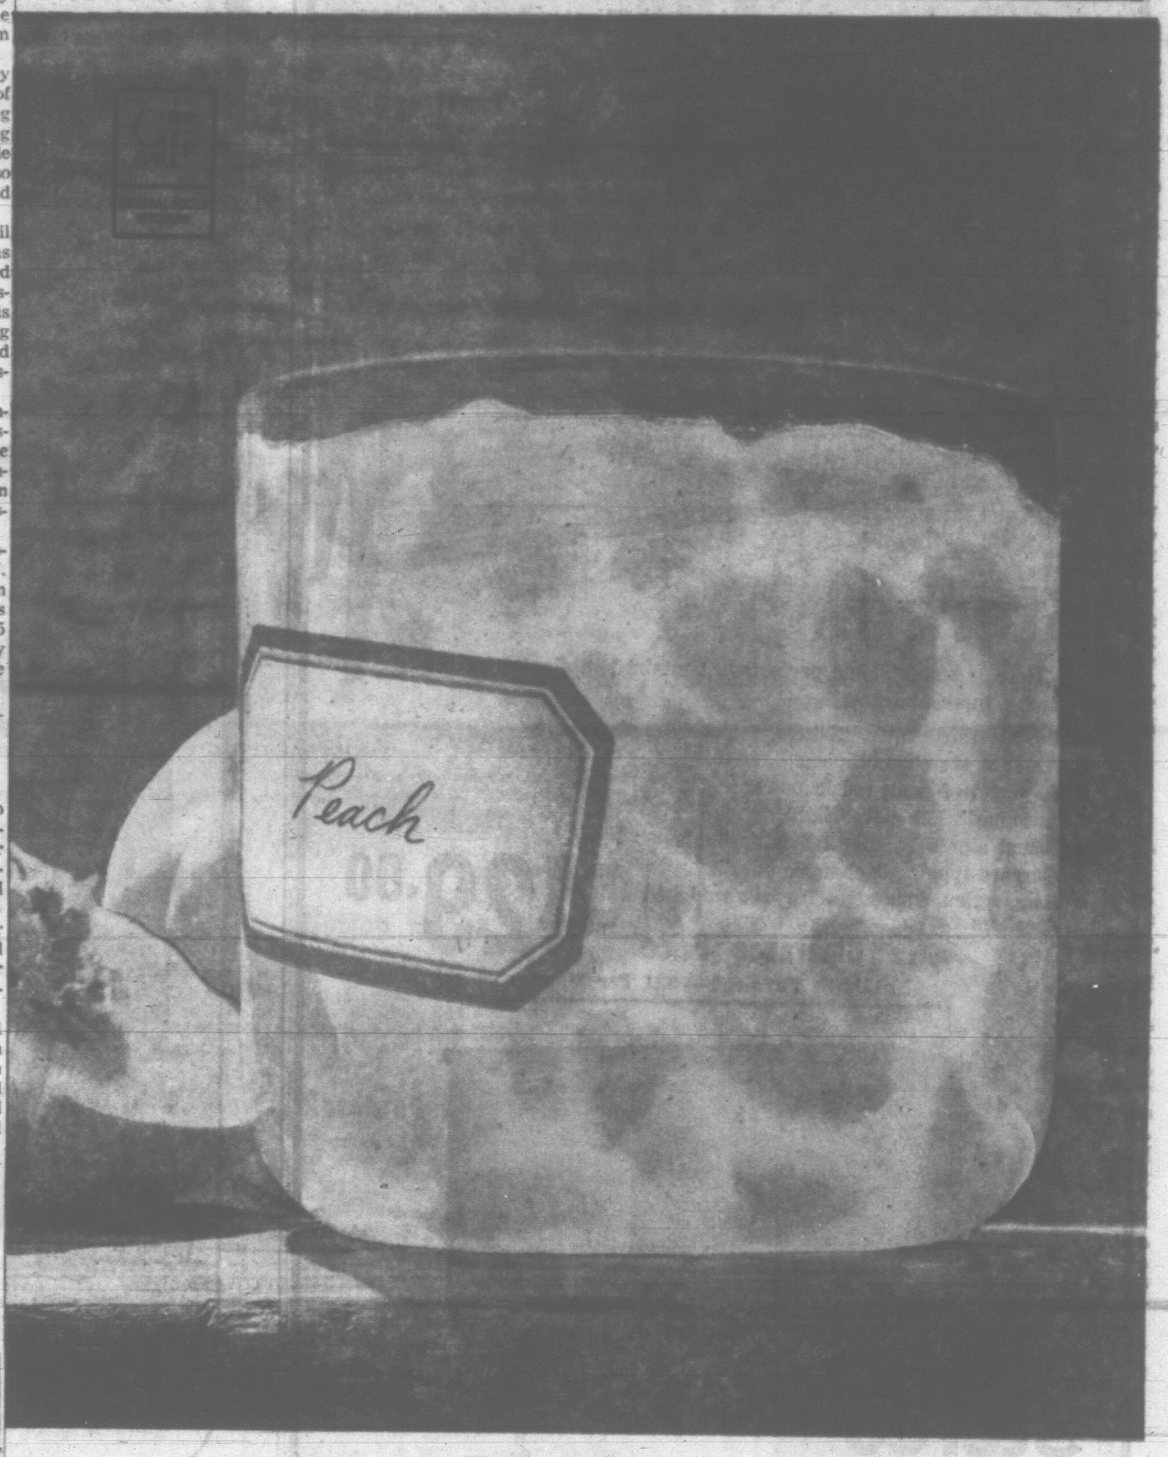

Prof. Mathai said the traditional British concept of the university is undergoing change.

"I feel we may have to expand our universities to include the kind of work done in polytechnices," multi-purpose technical institutes.

Sir Willis concurred that there is a snob value associated with a formal university education.

This year, when you think about jam, think about peaches (think about Certo, too)

This is the year to try something new when you're making your own jam. Peaches, for instance. Peach jam is a real favourite—and it's easy to make. Peaches will soon be available so plan now to turn that golden goodness into jam for your family. (Remember, nothing tastes better than the jam you make yourself.) Plan to use Certo too. By adding Certo fruit pectin, you get up to 50% more jam or jelly. And Certo locks all the goodness in with its flavour-saving 1 minute boil.

Use Certo Liquid or Crystals with all your preserving fruits.

PEACH APPLE JAM

Yield: about 11 medium glasses (5½ lbs. jam)

5 cups prepared fruit (about 1½ qts. each ripe apples and ripe peaches.)
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
⅓ cup lemon juice (2 or 3 lemons)
6½ cups (2¾ lbs.) sugar
1 box Certo Crystals

First, prepare the fruit. Peel and core about 1½ quarts fully ripe tart apples. Chop fine. Peel and pit about 1½ quarts fully ripe peaches. Chop fine. Combine fruits and measure 5 cups into a very large saucepan. Grate the rind from 1 medium-sized lemon, measure 1 teaspoon, and add to fruit. Squeeze the juice from 2 or 3 lemons. Measure ⅓ cup into saucepan with fruit.

Then make the jam. Measure sugar and set aside. Add Certo Crystals to fruit in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat and stir until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once stir in sugar. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Skim off foam with metal spoon. Then stir and skim by turns for 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Ladle quickly into glasses. Cover jam at once with ⅛ inch hot paraffin.

All-Out War in Toronto On Shop Plaza Hoodlums

TORONTO (CP)—All-out war was declared Tuesday on teenage shopping plaza hoodlums as irate shopkeepers prepared to rid themselves of a problem which some claim has been going on for years.

At the same time Charles Bick, chairman of the Metropolitan Toronto Police Commission, ordered an investigation into the charges of shopping plaza hoodlumism, and five youths were given jail terms for their part in a camera store break-in and the theft of three cars.

Sentences ranged from 18 months definite and six months indefinite to six months definite and six months indefinite.

A wave of protests was started by Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Williams after windows were broken at their ladies' wear shop in suburban Scarborough Saturday night. They said they may sell out because they are being terrorized.

A rash of complaints followed from other plaza shopkeepers who berated the youths' behavior—swearing, hanging around outside premises and bothering customers.

The Urban Development Institute, a non-profit group of land and property developers, is also preparing action against the gangs.

A committee is drawing up a plan, said Mrs. Greta Allen, executive director of the Ontario branch, to clear the youths from the plazas.

A suburban East York merchant, James Thompson, 64, meanwhile has armed himself with a baseball bat and is keeping a vigil at his clothing store where a plate-glass window has been broken three times this month.

ASK CASH SETTLEMENT FOR FIRED HYDRO BOSS

REGINA (CP)—The Saskatchewan Power Corporation board of directors will be asked to approve a settlement of $17,500 cash with David Cass-Beggs, fired as SPC general manager last month.

Provincial Industry Minister Herb Pinder said the settlement was negotiated with Mr. Cass-Beggs through the attorney-general's office.

Saved From Ship Wreckers

TORONTO (CP)—The retired destroyer HMCS Haida was turned over in a ceremony here Tuesday to Haida Incorporated, a 10-man group which will convert the ship into a memorial museum.

Headed by Neil Bruce of Toronto, the group raised $20,000 to buy the ship which was commissioned in 1943 and saw extensive action in the Second World War and the Korean War.

Alan Howard, vice-president of the group, said the ship will eventually rest in a concrete berth at the east end of the Canadian National Exhibition grounds.

The group now plans to campaign for $300,000 to build its permanent berth.

Among persons taking part in the ceremony were Vice-Admiral H. G. DeWolf who was captain of the Haida until 1944, Mayor Philip Givens of Toronto and Defence Minister Paul Hellyer.

"In the first year of the Haida's life we thought she led a charmed life," Vice-Admiral DeWolf said. "By the end of my command we were convinced she had a guardian angel. What could be happier than that, instead of being cut into razor blades, she should have a proud position on the Toronto waterfront?"

Fifth of Fund Already Raised For Varsities

One-fifth of a $28 million campaign to raise public funds for B.C.'s three public universities has already been raised or pledged, co-chairman Alan McGavin said here Tuesday.

He made the statement at a press conference prior to the first Victoria meeting of the tri-university fund campaign, which was attended by figures in the business and industrial community, government, University of Victoria and civic leaders.

Mr. McGavin, co-chairman Cyrus McLean and vice-chairman William H. Armstrong, who is also Vancouver Island fund chairman, were introduced along with Uvic president Dr. Malcolm G. Taylor. He was making his first official appearance before community representatives since taking up residence early this month.

ARMSTRONG
. . . V.I. chairman

BIGGEST EVER

The fund was described by Mr. McLean as probably the largest single public appeal ever attempted in B.C. It will be shared proportionately by Uvic, University of B.C. and Simon Fraser University over the next five years.

In addition, the provincial government promises $40.5 million for university capital needs which will allow UBC to expand, Simon Fraser to build from the ground up, and Uvic to expand and complete its transfer from Lansdowne to Gordon Head campus.

$6 MILLIONS GIVEN

Mr. McGavin said some $6,000,000, including $2,000,000 from MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Co. and $350,000 from Canadian Forest Products Ltd., has been toted up in the first 10 days of the campaign, which will run to next July.

Besides government support, the chairmen said they have been assured of support from the business community via boards of trade and from representative bodies of organized labor. They now seek the fullest co-operation from the general public.

FOUR REASONS

Although the campaign started out as a drive for Simon Fraser, which opens a new university in Burnaby a year from now, Mr. McGavin said it was changed to a tri-university appeal for four reasons:

- Having separate campaigns would do the universities "no good at all."
- Some prospective donors would "hide behind one campaign."
- The business community should not be asked to divide their contributions.
- The same people would be asked to work on all the campaigns.

The first 300 prospects, in the "major gifts" category of the drive are expected to bring in $16-$18 million, he said.

$1.5 MILLION

The amount raised on Vancouver Island is expected to reach $1.5 million, Mr. Armstrong said. The amount needed by Uvic for its second phase of Gordon Head development is $9.18 million, of which $4.7 million will come from the provincial government.

Since 80 per cent of the total objective will come from large corporations and selected sources, for about $3 million of the Uvic share, the remainder to be raised publicly here is about $1.5 million, Mr. Armstrong said.

So far, as a result of gifts already named, Uvic can claim $950,000.

He pointed out the campaign is timed so as not to conflict with the United Appeal. It is divided into three phases, which will overlap. The first—for major gifts—is under way.

AFTER APPEAL

Phase two will be advance gifts from corporations, personal sources and university groups such as alumni associations. The starting date is November, following the United Appeal.

Final phase will be in January and involve canvassing householders, civic organizations, up-Island communities, the Interior, the Prairies, Ontario and Quebec.

Canneries Humming, But Not All Fishermen

STEADY STREAM of salmon is pouring into B.C. canneries this year. Here Ken Olding of Oakland Industries unloads catch from the trawler Summit.

By JIM BIGSBY

British Columbia's commercial fishermen are having a good year, but as usual they are reluctant to admit it.

Packers report that 30 per cent more salmon has been canned this year than in 1963—45 million pounds as of last Friday.

An official of the federal department of fisheries says that catches have been "excellent."

And the fishermen, well, "It's a little better than average," said one. "We're at least making land wages this year."

ADMIT THEY'RE PLEASED

The men who go down to the sea have never been ones to praise the fishing situation, but this year they have to admit they're pleased.

A poor catch was expected, but instead a heavy sockeye run appeared.

Accordingly, net-fishing time in the Fraser Valley and inland waters around Vancouver Island was doubled by the department of fisheries.

And people began talking of a season total of well over a million sockeyes.

AT PEAK NOW

With twice as much sockeye, steelhead and chum salmon being canned as last year, and three times as much blueback going into the tin, packers are working at top speed.

"We're at our peak now, working 12 to 24 hours a day," said Ken Olding of Oakland Industries, a Wharf Street packing house.

"We'll start to taper off next week, and it'll be pretty well finished in three weeks."

Not all the fishermen will be working that late. At least one Victoria trawler is tied up for the season, allegedly because its owner has made over $18,000 so far.

"That guy is an exceptional fishermen," said one of his colleagues.

'HEAR NEW VOICES'

"But I know lots of good fishermen who have to work all year around.

"The average fisherman makes less than the man on shore, and he usually works twice as hard."

Main complaint of the fishermen is that, although the catch is larger, the number of boats going out to fish has increased, reducing individual earnings.

"I hear a lot of new voices out there," said one fisherman.

ALDERMEN SIZZLE

No Price-Fixing Claimed 'Drivel'

EDMONTON (CP) — Two Edmonton aldermen have branded as "assinine drivel" a federal justice department report which said there is no evidence of price-fixing among Canadian contractors.

Ald. Ivor Dent told City Council Monday the letter is "an insult to council's intelligence and integrity."

The letter was the justice department's reply to a council request for a federal probe into six identical bids received last month from electrical supply companies.

The letter, from the director of investigation and research of the department of justice, said a survey carried out a few years ago showed there was no evidence the Combines Investigations Act was being broken.

The letter said the identical bids can be explained by the fact that companies normally submit bids on the basis of published price lists.

"I guess we have to accept it as a hard fact of life that companies will put in the same bids and we can do nothing about it," Ald. Leger said.

Council awarded a $17,008.56 contract to Northern Electric Company for supply of cable. The company's bid was the lowest of seven. The other six were all for $17,080.62.

Mica Creek Pilot Tunnel Tenders Out

VANCOUVER (CP) — Tenders for a pilot tunnel to show geological formations at Mica Creek, site of the biggest of the three dams to be built under the Columbia River treaty, will be opened by B.C. Hydro and Power Authority on Sept. 1.

The 325-foot tunnel, opening into a 16-by-35-by-100-foot underground chamber, will give information required by contractors bidding on a contract for two 45-foot-diameter diversion tunnels.

Contracts for the tunnels will be let in 1965.

No cost estimates are available on the preliminary tunnelling.

DUAL ROLE

The 760-foot Mica dam will be built 92 miles north of Revelstoke, at an estimated $245,200,000. It will provide power generation in addition to flood control.

On Oct. 1 this year, B.C. will receive $254,000,000 from U.S. power companies as payment for downstream power benefits.

This sum, along with the interest it earns and later payments from the U.S. for flood control, will be used to build Mica dam, Arrow dam and Duncan dam.

Contracts have already been called for construction of Duncan dam.

Setback Problem Delaying Apartment Block

Plans for an Esquimalt block failed to get off the ground again Monday.

Having given its approval for a restaurant to top the building, council was not quite so sure about the lower regions.

It was told the superstructure of an underground garage would rise 10 to 20 feet above the ground in places—on the actual building line.

A bylaw calls for 10-foot setbacks for any building above ground.

Eric Hoel, of M & H Holdings, who proposed building the $550,000 block, said enforcement of the bylaw would make it difficult to provide the required number of parking spaces.

He claimed that having the building on the building line would be better than having a space which would be a convenient area for collection of refuse.

Council decided to view the site of the proposed building next Monday.

Switch Allegiance

MONTREAL (CP) — Some 1,000 National Harbors Board employees belonging to the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks (CLC) voted Tuesday to switch their allegiance from the Canadian Labour Congress of the Confederation of National Trade Unions.

BRIGHT YOUNG ACE . . . . . . QUITS AMATEUR RANKS

Wakeham Turning Pro

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Bill Wakeham is turning professional.

The youthful Gorge Vale Golf Club star announced today he has entered this weekend's Trail Open tournament as a professional.

The declaration of intent is all that is required to deprive B.C. and Canadian amateur ranks of one of its brightest young stars.

Wakeham, who will celebrate his 24th birthday on Sept. 14, was the national junior champion in 1957; twice was B.C. Amateur and Times Island Open winner; was medallist in the 1961 Canadian Amateur, and in recent years gained additional national recognition by being named to Canada's Commonwealth, World Cup and America's Cup teams.

Wakeham said the fact that he scored a boat-winning hole-in-one at the recent B.C. Open "had nothing to do with my decision.

"I did it (turned pro) because I just can't afford to remain an amateur."

Wakeham did not claim the $1,500 boat at the conclusion of the B.C. Open in order to protect his amateur standing. His reward, as an amateur, was to be a $200 scrip. Bill feels, however, he still is entitled to the boat.

BILL WAKEHAM
. . . plays for pay

"I haven't received anything from the sponsors. As such, I feel I'm entitled to the boat. I have put in a claim for it."

Wakeham says he has "nothing definite" in mind regarding future golf plans. He recently took on a job as the Island representative for the Alberto-Culver company.

"The company has a policy against summer vacations, and that rules out any possibility of getting away to the big events like the Canadian Amateur.

"There are a lot of weekend Open tournaments in the Pacific Northwest that I can enter . . . Like the Island Open, Cowichan, Nelson, Trail, Beach Grove and Spokane tournaments."

Wakeham adds that he intends to apply for membership in the Canadian Professional Golfers' Association. While he may play in CPGA-sponsored events, Wakeham will not be able to pocket any winnings from these tournaments for a probationary period of one year.

He can, however, pick up money in the lesser, non-sponsored events.

Dodgers Are Out to Help Giants Blow the Pennant

UPI

Having already seen to it that there'll be no World Series in Los Angeles this year, the Dodgers are out to make sure there'll be none in San Francisco either.

After losing 11 of 14 games to their traditional rivals, the Dodgers turned on the Giants Tuesday night to score a 3-1 victory that dealt San Francisco's waning National League flag hopes a staggering blow. The loss not only prevented the Giants from picking up on the first-place Philadelphia Phillies—who had lost—but also dropped them into third place behind the persistent Cincinnati Reds.

As a result, the Phillies hold first place by six games over the Reds and by 6½ over the Giants.

It was a particularly bitter loss for the Giants because it ruined the return to action of 15-game winner Juan Marichal, who had been sidelined for a month, and also came at the hands of Howie Reed, who won his first major league game for the Kansas City Athletics in 1958 and hadn't won another one since.

PHILS BOW TO BRAVES

Reed couldn't quite go all the way but manager Walt Alston called on Ron Perranoski to retire Ron Lanier and Bob Miller for the final two outs of the game. Marichal, who yielded all three Los Angeles runs and seven hits in five innings, suffered his sixth loss. Tommy Davis led the Dodgers' 10-hit attack with three hits, including a single that drove in the decisive run in the third inning.

The Phillies had given the Giants a chance to gain a full game by dropping a 7-5 decision to the Milwaukee Braves, the Reds whipped the New York Mets 7-2, the St. Louis Cardinals scored a 7-6 13-inning victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Houston Colts nipped the Chicago Cubs 5-4 in other National League action.

Ask Chicago White Sox pitchers to name their best friend and chances are they'll select a .250-hitter named Ron Hansen.

Hansen is the wide-ranging, 26-year-old shortstop from Oxford, Neb., who is the backbone of the classy White Sox defence. For that reason alone, Hansen would rate high with Chicago hurlers.

HANSEN DELIVERS

But there's another reason, too, because Hansen is one of those rare .250-hitters who connects in the clutch and drives in key runs. He's been doing it all season for the White Sox and he's doing it now in the stretch run of the three-cornered American League pennant race.

Hansen drove in the winning run for the White Sox for the 12th time this season Tuesday when Al Lopez' popgun hitters shaded Minnesota Twins 1-0 and crept to within one game of first-place Baltimore Orioles, who bowed to Cleveland Indians 5-3. New York Yankees also gained ground on the front runners with a 4-1 triumph over Washington Senators.

Hansen, acquired from the Orioles in early 1963, dealt his former teammates' pennant hopes a heavy blow when he singled off Al Worthington with two out in the ninth inning to drive in Jim Landis.

SPORTS DIARY

By SHIPLEY POVICH
(The Washington Post)

WASHINGTON—Of all the admonitions shouted by football coaches to their squads on the practice field, one has always been the most basic: Don't Hurt the Quarterback.

He is, understandably, the sacred cow in every scrimmage, because he is the most important man on every team and the hardest to replace. Each club has only one No. 1 quarterback.

Thus, when Sonny Jurgensen of the Redskins was banged up in a practice scrimmage the other day and left with a twisted knee that removes him from the scene for three weeks, perhaps longer, reporter Dave Brady properly wrote: "The inexcusable has happened."

It happened to Jurgensen when tackle John Paluck either could not contain his defensive charge or was inadvertantly side-swiped into his teammate. Certainly this was not Paluck's intent, But anyway it did happen, and there is justifiable gloom on the Redskins. As Jurgensen went down, head coach Bill McPeak, too, could feel the pain.

Jurgensen is McPeak's boy, for whom he boldly traded Norman Snead to the Eagles. He was gambling on Jurgensen not merely to lift the Redskins out of their slough, but for McPeak there was a self-serving aspect of the deal. Old pro quarterback Jurgensen, more than any other man, could win McPeak a renewal of his job with the Redskins which is now on a win-or-else basis.

Jurgensen Called His Own Shots

Jurgensen is more than an efficient quarterback and superb pass thrower. He lights up a football field with his cocksureness that borders on a swagger. He was to be the Redskins' take-charge man, a talent Redskin fans could note when Jurgensen was with the Eagles and beating Redskin teams, if not too many others.

The contrast with Snead could hardly be missed. Jurgensen, as a sort of playing head coach, smartly calling his own shots as against Snead's wavering and search for bench orders, was calculated to take much of the heat off McPeak and his fellow coaches. Jurgensen insists on running his own ball game, and in making the deal for him McPeak was not deterred by this.

It was going to be a different and obviously better Redskin team because of Jurgensen. The booming advance season ticket sales seemed to say this, too. And in the early weeks of training camp Bobby Mitchell and the other pass-catching targets were enthusing at the professional touch the poised redhead was giving to the club.

Izo Is Fizzo But Shiner May Glow

The progress of the patient, Jurgensen, will be closely watched by Redskin coaches, players and fans. His is probably the most important torn ligament in town, and a swift recovery is essential to the Redskins' welfare. The alternatives to Jurgensen at quarterback are not quite thrilling.

Until he can bring Jurgensen back to the lineup, McPeak is stripped down to George Izo and Dick Shiner as his quarterbacks. Izo is a pro whose career has been marked mostly by bench sores. He throws the long ball well but has never been noted for his skill at moving a team. Redskin coaches in the past few years, even in their desperation, have made little use of him.

The pretty story would be the emergence of rookie Shiner as the Redskins' new shining light at quarterback. He was the brightly combative type at the University of Maryland with poise to match his passing, but it is a swift baptism for him in the National Football League where few quarterbacks from college make it overnight.

Newcomers Could Light the Fire

For the Redskins, the greater tragedy of Jurgensen's injury is that it has occurred in a year when the team otherwise was giving promise of moving up in the race. This was to be the second year of Pat Richter's job at tight end where he was showing immense improvement late last season in disengaging himself from the tricky old pros who knew how to pin down a pass-catching end at the scrimmage line.

The Redskins' secondary defence has undoubtedly improved with the addition of Sam Huff, who has brought both his know-how and his own type of violence to the linebacker's job. The deep secondary, McPeak's chief defensive problem last year, has been stacking up better with the return to good health of Johnny Sample.

This was to be the year, too, perhaps, that the Redskins finally came up with their long-time need, the running back. Chuck Taylor, the No. 1 draft choice from Arizona State, may be the man to fill this role.

Everything about the Redskins said this was to be a more exciting year. But Jurgensen and his good health hold the key.

The Axe Falls On King Hugh

FAIRFIELD, Conn. (UPI)—Heavy-hearted Hugh McElhenny, a man whose total yardage reads like box-car figures, had just finished walking the roughest 50 yards of his life.

It was an abnormally slow, painful walk for the rugged, 35-year-old halfback because he was saying goodbye to all his teammates on the New York football Giants.

Most of them didn't really know what to say to a fellow they once called "The King." What can anyone really say to a veteran who has just been dropped from the squad?

"Tough luck, Mac," said one of his teammates, offering his hand. "Wish you all the best," Hughie," said another.

When it was all over, McElhenny, who gained a total of 11,239 yards during his 12 seasons in the National Football League with the San Francisco Forty - Niners, Minnesota Vikings and Giants, had a lot of time to think.

"I have nothing going," he confessed frankly to someone who asked him about his plans.

Plans Indefinite

"I honestly don't know whether I'll try to get a job with another club," he said. "I haven't given any thought to it at all. I haven't the least idea what I'm going to do."

Telling the likeable McElhenny he no longer was a member of the Giants at their training site here Tuesday was almost as difficult for head coach Allie Sherman as it was for the 190-pound veteran to accept the news.

"Sometimes I think this is the roughest part of the job," Sherman said.

McElhenny fully realized his age was against him when Sherman had to cut the squad to 45 players and he also knew he was vulnerable because a knee injury limited his activity last year. Somehow he kept hoping he might escape the axe.

All-Pro Three Times

"In some respects it was a shock to get the news," he said, "and in some respects it wasn't."

But it hurt and the man who had been chosen all-pro three times during his career and had gained more yardage than anyone in the NFL today, save Jimmy Brown and Ollie Matson, took it the way you'd expect—hard.

He must have been thinking about many things, like how he was San Francisco's No. 1 draft choice 12 years ago, how the fans out there regarded him as another Red Grange, and how when the Forty-Niners eventually traded him, he told reporters:

"Red Hickey thinks nobody over 30 can play this game."

McElhenny disproved that statement although it was apparent he slowed up somewhat the past season.

"Football has been awful good to me," he said quietly. "I certainly have no complaints. Playing in that title game with the Giants against the Bears last year was the biggest thrill of my life."

Now, it seemed, there was nothing left.

BRAMPTON IN FRONT

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Brampton defeated St. Catharines 10-9 Tuesday night to take a 2-1 lead in the best-of-five Ontario Lacrosse Association Junior A semi-finals.

Fourth game of the series will be played here tonight.

Bucs Peddle Orv Tessier

PORTLAND (AP) — Portland Buckaroos of the Western Hockey League today announced the sale of two veteran players.

Tom McCarthy, a forward, went to Toronto of the National Hockey League and Orval Tessier went to Montreal.

Coach Hal Laycoe said injuries kept the two players from displaying their top talents in the two seasons they were with the Buckaroos.

Laycoe also announced the signing of two rookies—Victor Buchy, a centre who played in the Manitoba Junior League last season, and right winger Mervyn Dubchak, who comes from Fort Wayne of the International League.

Liston-Clay Mix May Be Outlawed

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A majority of the early arrivals to the World Boxing Association convention this week favor outlawing the proposed Liston-Clay rematch.

Pre-convention talks with delegates also indicate there will be a floor fight over the WBA's suspension of Sonny Liston after he lost the world heavyweight boxing title to Cassius Clay.

James T. Deskin, executive secretary of the Nevada State Athletic Commission, said Tuesday he plans to take the floor at the convention Thursday and challenge the WBA's suspension of Liston. He maintains that the WBA did not have the authority to suspend Liston until a member boxing commission did so.

He added: "I favor reinstatement of Liston to the WBA ratings but disapprove of the return bout with Clay. I feel Liston should be made to fight somebody else before he meets Clay again. Then Liston can prove that shoulder is good again."

Morris Klein, chairman of the Miami Beach Boxing Commission, said: "We had no reason to suspend Liston. We could prove nothing irregular. X-rays were taken of his left shoulder and eight physicians examined him."

Liston was suspended for not coming out of his corner at the beginning of the seventh round of his fight with Clay last February in Miami Beach. He complained of a shoulder injury.

EGYPT 'TOO HOT'

Meanwhile, Cassius Clay started light workouts at Miami Beach for his return match with Liston and said he was only kidding about going to Egypt to train.

"It's too hot over there," the world heavyweight champion said.

Clay tipped the scales at 225, about 15 pounds over his fighting weight, before the first workout since his marriage almost two weeks ago.

"I'll lose it with no trouble," he said. "I'm eating one-fourth what I usually eat. But I could go in at 230 and beat Liston or any other heavyweight around because they are so slow."

The second Liston-Clay fight was announced last month but neither a date nor a site has been chosen.

McCormick Defeated By Mexican

MONTREAL (CP) — Rain interrupted Mexican successes in the second round of play Tuesday night in the junior Davis Cup tennis tournament.

Mexico's Marcelo Lara defeated Don McCormick of Victoria, 7-5, 6-4, in the only completed match.

Luis Garcia of Mexico was leading Pierre Lamarche of Montreal when rain hit. He took the first set, 6-2. The second was tied 2-2 with Garcia serving when play was stopped.

'Six Clubs or Four, Whaddya Say, Ed?'

SPOKANE (AP)—The Spokesman Review says an emergency meeting of Western International Hockey League executives will be held at Creston, Wednesday with the possible withdrawal of Rossland from the league the main topic of discussion.

Rossland Warriors competed in the five-team league last season with Spokane, Kimberley, Nelson and Trail.

"The main Rossland problem is apparently the lack of player personnel,' the Review says.

"The Warriors competed with four former players as the nucleus. The players were 'loaned' by Trail and created considerable bitterness among the followers . . . of the Trail club."

Eddie Dorohoy, general manager of the Spokane Jets, is quoted as saying he would like to see as many teams as possible in action with perhaps six teams rather than five competing.

A four-team league wouldn't be bad, the newspaper quotes Dorohoy as saying. "Everybody would be stronger and the interest might be higher if all the teams were in the thick of things."

Dorohoy and Spokane club vice-president Dan McDougald will represent the Jets at the Creston meeting.

The five-year-old black gelding was followed to the wire by Betsy Lou and Masterful.

RECORD CROWDS EXPECTED . . . AT WESTERN SPEEDWAY

Fast Irons for Daffodil Cup

The fastest irons in the Pacific Northwest will smoke before an estimated 12,800 auto racing fanatics at Western Speedway on Labor Day weekend.

Speedway accommodation has been increased to handle 6,400 at one sitting and the Daffodil Cup Class (at $4,000 the fourth richest chariot race on the Canadian-American Modified Racing Association circuit) is spread over two sittings—Saturday and Labor Day. Capacity houses are expected both days.

Nine of the fast irons—racing buggies—in the PNW will compete for glory and gold.

Among them: the one owned by Victoria's Billy Foster, CAMRA's leading point man and the acknowledged peer of local navigators. Out-of-town wheel pilots already entered include Jim Malloy of Denver; Jim Roberts of Eugene; Bob Gregg of Portland; Tom Fox of Seattle; Art Pollard of Roseburg, Ore.; George Robertson of Lewiston; and Eldon Rasmussen and Norm Ellefson of Edmonton.

Drivers will turn 40 laps Saturday and 100 Labor Day with points from the first main event counting on the final night.

First-place driver at the end of two days will receive at least $700, plus $5 for each lap in which he leads.

CAMRA president Reg Midgley claims that 28 cars will start in the final, with the fastest at the rear and the slowest in front. As if there won't be enough fireworks on the asphalt, a fireworks display is planned for Saturday night.

Neil Sprinkling Stepping Down As Haida Boss

Victoria Haida Chiefs are making plans for another Inter-City Basketball League season and for the first time in the club's history manager Neil Sprinkling won't be calling the tune.

Neil is planning to take a rest from basketball "for at least a year."

Sprinkling stepped casually into the basketball picture five years ago when he learned of a bunch of young men who wanted to play basketball but had no coach, no manager, no uniforms and no place to play.

Sprinkling formed a junior team and agreed to act as coach and manager. He also took care of the other details and the boys were in the basketball business.

INTO SENIOR RANKS

He guided his Optimist club through a couple of good junior seasons and then brought senior "A" basketball back to the city by moving the team into senior ranks as the Haida Chiefs.

With Sprinkling handling the manager's chores and Elmer Curtis doing the coaching in their first season, the Chiefs played exhibition games until playoff time.

In the past two years, with Ken King in the top coaching post, the Haidas have been a contending team in the tough Inter-City League.

"I've enjoyed every year," Sprinkling said Tuesday, "but I just don't have time to manage the club this season."

TO NAME COACH

King will take over as manager and says he will not be coaching during the coming season.

"Neil has done a great job with the Chiefs," King said. "If we can carry the ball the way he did we'll be all right.

"Elmer and I will hold a meeting soon to determine who will do the coaching," King said.

"We're definitely in the league and we are getting good support from local businessmen."

With the city's new professional hockey team due to play most of its home games on Saturday nights, the Haidas have asked the league for Wednesdays as Victoria nights in the hoop circuit.

Final decision on the schedule will be made at an ICBL meeting at Nanaimo on Sept. 19. If the Victoria request is granted, the Chiefs will start at home on Nov. 15, playing four successive Wednesday night games before Christmas.

They will wind up their eight-game home schedule with four games in the new year on successive Wednesdays.

SPECTACULAR DISPLAY

Burnaby Rifle Ace Tops Island Meet

Barnet Rifle Club of Burnaby failed to provide the expected quantity at the Vancouver Island centre-fire rifle championships, but the quality was strictly top drawer.

Instead of sending four four-man teams as expected to the first annual shoot Sunday at the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association range at Esquimalt Lagoon, the Burnaby Club left it to one man—Graham Thorkelson—to look after the Barnet reputation for shooting excellence.

Thorkelson was more than equal to the task. He almost cleaned the slate of individual trophies with a spactacular display of master class sniping.

Firing from three positions—prone, kneeling and standing—Thorkelson squinted through aperture sights and picked off the high-gun trophy and the peep-sight division title with 280 of a possible 300.

He switched sights on his .224-calibre Remington and won the scope-sight division with 278x300 and then changed to a .243-calibre Mannlicher and collected the open-sight crown with 276x300. He finished with the three highest scores recorded during the day.

FOULSER SECOND

Ernie Foulser of Victoria was runner-up with the high-gun chase with a tally of 266.

Foulser, working with Gil Carmichael (263), Garry Williams (259) and Colin Wyatt (252) anchored the Victoria club to a win in team competition. Nanaimo was four points back.

Thorkelson topped the master class and Foulser paced the expert class. John Evans was the leading sharpshooter, Cy Evans, John's father, was the marksman leader and Jim Gougen paced the tyro class.

Ontario Bowlers Hold Solid Lead

VANCOUVER (CP)—A comparatively youthful Ontario team had a commanding six-point lead in the overall standings today going into the final rounds of the Canadian lawn bowling championship.

The Ontario players, with an average age of 37, had 26 points compared to 20 for Quebec, 18 for British Columbia, 14 each for Manitoba and Saskatchewan, 12 for Alberta and four for Nova Scotia, competing in its first championship.

Ontario had lost only two matches out of 15 up to Tuesday night. It clinched the fours championship with a perfect 5-0 won-loss record and was 4-1 in the pairs and singles.

HENDERSON LEADS

Quebec held its second-place position largely on the efforts of John Henderson of Montreal, who upset defending singles champion Alex Houston, 70, of B.C. Tuesday and who had a 5-0 perfect record.

Despite Henderson's lead in the singles, experts saw a possibility of a three-way tie. Henderson was to play 26-year-old Karl Deacom of Scarborough, Ont. Deacom with a 4-1 record could beat Henderson, and Houston, with a 4-1 record also, was expected to win his match. A tie-breaker, if necessary, was to be held immediately after the seventh-round games.

The team standings (fours, pairs and singles records in that order followed by team points:

Ontario 5-0, 4-1, 4-1—26; Quebec 3-2, 2-3, 5-0—20; B.C. 3-2, 2-3, 4-1—18; Manitoba 3-3, 2-3, 2-3—14; Saskatchewan 2-3, 3-2, 2-4—14; Alberta 2-3, 4-2, 0-5—12; Nova Scotia 0-5, 1-4, 1-4—4.

Manny Ycaza Gets 20 Days

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — Jockey Manuel Ycaza was handed a 20-day suspension by the Saratoga stewards Tuesday as a penalty for his ride on Stephen Foster in the sixth race Monday.

Ycaza, who has a long record of suspensions, has twice before been set down by the stewards this year in New York. Since 1954, Ycaza has been suspended a total of 518 days.

Sovereign Sets Kurrewa Down Second Time

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—Sovereign made it two straight over Kurrewa V in the final trials for British 12-metre yachts Tuesday, winning by three minutes, 20 seconds over the full 24.3-mile America's Cup course in light air.

Sovereign led from the start, holding an advantage of 1:29 at the first mark. Kurrewa cut that lead to 56 seconds on the second leg but from that time on Sovereign steadily increased her margin.

The two American 12-metre yachts, Constellation and American Eagle, were to have raced Tuesday but the American Eagle crew asked for a one-day postponement.

Message to Maury From Warren Giles

CINCINNATI (AP) — Warren Giles, the National League president who has kept silent about remarks made by Maury Wills on umpires and the balk rule, had a statement Tuesday.

"No umpire was deprived of a Christmas bonus because such bonuses are not paid by the National League to its umpires. No umpire on the staff is receiving less in salary than he did in any previous year," said the statement.

"No meeting with the umpires, for the purpose of discussing the balk rule has been held this year, and no umpire has discussed the rule with me this season."

Wills, Los Angeles Dodgers shortstop, accused Giles Sunday of failing to have the balk rule enforced. Wills also said the National League had reduced salaries of umpires who tried to enforce the rule.

Wills, who set a record in 1962 by stealing 104 bases, said failure to enforce the balk rule is taking excitement from the game.

Wills said he learned one umpire "lost his Christmas bonus because he enforced the rule and I believe one also was cut in salary for the same reason.

OLYMPIC ACES TO COMPETE

Meet at Vancouver To Test Canadians

VANCOUVER (CP)—A unique attempt to offer top-flight international competition for Canada's track and field athlets will be made here in September.

The biggest track and field meet in Canada since the 1954 British Empire Games here will bring together athletes from Olympic teams of the United States, West Germany, Jamaica and Canada on Sept. 19.

The idea originated with a group of track and field coaches and others who were interested in giving Canadians some tough competition three weeks before the Tokyo Olympics.

They formed a private, non-profit company called Achilles International Athletics Limited, rented Empire Stadium here for the meet, and invited Olympic-choice athletes to attend.

Profits from the meet will be used to stage other similar meets, and plans are already underway for an indoor event next year.

Among the organizers of the Olympic Preview is Dr. Doug Clement of Vancouver, a former Canadian Olympic and British Empire Games competitor. He and his wife Diane, the former Canadian sprint champion Diane Matheson, founder and now coach of Richmond Track Club in suburban Richmond.

Among the backers is Lloyd Swindells, Vancouver coach who handled Canada's Pan-American Games track team in 1953, 1959 and 1963.

Palmer Has the 'Yips' But Venturi is Dandy

BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (AP)—Arnold Palmer has the putting "yips," Jack Nicklaus has a crook in his elbow, and Ken Venturi has nothing but confidence and an uncanny feeling for the flag.

So Venturi, the reigning National Open champion, will be favored when 155 golfers from 14 nations tee off Thursday in the first $200,000 World Championship.

First prize in the 72-hole, four-day test is $35,000.

Venturi's confidence has been soaring ever since he won the National Open last June in Washington.

He won the American Golf Classic at Akron, Ohio, last week by a record five shots and with a record tournament score of 275.

GOES SEVEN UNDER

Tuning up for the event here over the 6,907-yard, par 70 Oakland Hills course he had four straight birdies on the front nine for a four-under-par 31, then birdied the 11th and eagled the 566-yard 12th to go seven under.

"I started thinking then that this was just a practice run, and I didn't want to get a monkey on my back before the tournament started," Ken said. "So I sluffed off a few holes and finished with about 67.

"I am playing so well, I am so sure of myself on shots to the green that it startles me."

Palmer, who has had four second places and two thirds in his last six tournaments, continued to experiment with beat up, lead-headed putters without finding a satisfactory one.

"From five feet in, I used to never miss a putt," Palmer said. "Now I miss them and it's costing me."

FOUND THE CURE

Nicklaus, also beaten out in recent tournaments although he continues as the year's leading money winner, thinks he has found the reason for his erratic driving.

"I was crooking my left arm," he said. "I even noticed that my divots were hooking."

The tournament brings together 48 handpicked golfers from 13 countries outside the United States who had to survive qualifying tests.

Outstanding foreign threats are Gary Player of South Africa, Bob Charles of New Zealand and Peter Thomson and Kel Nagle of Australia.

Nineteen ex-Professional Golfers' Association and 11 former U.S. Open champions are in the field, including Ben Hogan, who won the third of his four Opens over the same course back in 1951.

There are eight Canadians, including pro champion George Knudson and amateur champ Nick Weslock, both of Toronto. Others are Al Balding, Alvie Thompson and Moe Norman, all of Toronto, Frank Whibley of Kitchener, Ont., Wilf Homenuik of Winnipeg and Bill Wright of Edmonton.

BUILDUP CONTINUES

Established Organization Required Now

VANCOUVER (UPI)—The man who built Canada's first truly national Olympic hockey team, Father David Bauer, has disclosed blueprints for the next two Canadian world championship entries and the 1968 Olympic team.

Father Bauer indicated here he was anxious to clear up any misunderstanding as to why the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association selected the Allan Cup champion Winnipeg Maroons for the core of the next national team and why Winnipeg was selected as the probable base of operations for the next three years.

The 44-year-old Roman Catholic priest denied the selection of the Maroons was a return to the practice of picking senior amateur teams, composed mostly of reinstated professionals unable to meet the competition provided by the hard-skating Europeans.

Father Bauer said many of last year's Olympic players have enrolled at the University of Manitoba and will merge with the Maroons to enter the world hockey championships in March.

Beginning of Truly National Team

He called the team "the beginnings of a truly national team." It will be coached by former Maroon coach Gordon Simpson.

Father Bauer is a member of the national team management committee which includes the manager of the Maroons, Bud Holohan of Winnipeg and the president and secretary of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

The former coach of the Canadian junior champion St. Michael's Majors in the Junior Ontario Hockey Association said it was not practical at this time to maintain a team of international calibre composed of Olympic-style amateurs.

Since former professionals are barred from the Olympics, but not world competition, most of the 1964 team was made up of students.

Father Bauer said: "It is not fair to ask the players to give up a year of university." Last year the heavy schedule of the Olympic team forced the players to curtail their studies.

"It is necessary to use the reinstated pros because the students won't know until March if their marks are good enough to allow them to compete in Europe," he said.

"For the next few years we are going to need help from an organization already in operation," said Father Bauer, a teacher at St. Marks College in Vancouver.

"However, by 1968 the team will be all Olympic amateurs," he added.

Many May Yet Win Gold Medal

By that time the members of the 1964 team will have graduated and not have to worry about their studies. Shortly after a crucial defeat by Russia at Innsbruck, Austria, the Olympic team gathered and vowed to compete in 1968 if possible.

It would appear many of them might win a gold medal yet. Terry O'Malley, Marshal Johnston, Roger Bourbonnais, Brian Conacher, Paul Conlan, Gary Dineen, Al McLean, Bob Foran, Barry McKenzie and Ray Cadeux all plan to attend the training camp which opens Sept. 8 in Winnipeg.

DANCER'S LEG INJURY . . . . . . 'MY GREATEST DISAPPOINTMENT'

Racing Luck Not Always Good for E.P.

TORONTO (CP)—E. P. Taylor has been jeered and booed often in his career as the leading thoroughbred breeder in Canada. This has been particularly noticeable on Queen's Plate Day when the Toronto industrialist almost invariably is called upon to accept the winning owner's purse.

There was a distinct change in behavior of horse-racing fans last June 20 when the rotund millionaire made his cross-the-track walk to stand beside Northern Dancer, winner of the 105th running of the Queen's Plate, Canada's prestige race for three-year-olds.

Old-timers high up on the rooftop press box at the suburban track were amazed to see fans cheering for Taylor. It was the ninth time in 16 years that his Windfields Farm stable and won the Queen's 50 guineas, a $5,000 gold cup and a pot of money.

Track fans at last had come around to admire the man who had spent millions of dollars since the late 1940s to improve the breed. The National Stud at Oshawa, Ont., and Windfields Farm are two of the top five breeding establishments in North America.

Taylor's Northern Dancer had captured the imagination of race-goers and people who wouldn't know the difference between a thoroughbred and a standardbred. He was the first Canadian-foaled horse to win the Kentucky Derby. He followed with a fine victory in the Preakness Stakes and then was blunted in his bid to win the elusive triple crown of racing with a third in the Belmont Stakes.

E. P. TAYLOR
. . . not jeered now

Northern Dancer had become a household name in Canada.

Taylor no longer was the "lucky stiff" to thousands of fans and there was genuine regret this week when it was announced that the Dancer had bowed a tendon in his left foreleg. It won't be known officially for about three weeks, but this could mean the end of the colt's racing career.

Taylor termed the injury to the greatest horse he had ever owned as "my greatest disappointment." His horse had a big chance of being named Horse of the Year in North America, an honor no Canadian-owned or bred horse had ever won.

The Dancer practically could have locked this up Saturday with a victory in the Travers Stakes at Saratoga in New York. Instead, he was hobbling around with a cast on his leg.

Although Taylor dominates Canadian racing and has won the Queen's Plate six times with colts that Canadian horsemen passed up at his annual yearling sales, his luck hasn't been good.

For instance, horsemen passed up Victoria Park as a $12,500 yearling and Taylor was stuck with him. Two years later, in 1960, he became the first Canadian-bred to enter the Kentucky Derby and finished a respectable third.

He won the Queen's Plate that year, won one more race before being hurt and finished his career with lifetime earnings of $250,076.

Victoria Park's injury: a bowed tendon.

EX-ROCKET DEVELOPER DOES RADIATION RESEARCH

Campus Acquires Twilight Man

By AB KENT

Physicist Harry Sullivan's grounding in rocketry and rarefied atmosphere makes him a natural for radiation research at University of Victoria.

The 43-year-old Winnipeg-born scientist is a new man on campus, specializing in upper atmosphere research, including radioactivity of minute particles.

He comes from the University of Saskatchewan, where he earned his doctorate in physics and began work on atmospheric research, he will continue as a faculty member here.

The rocketry? This dates back to the two years he worked for Canadair, Ltd., in Montreal, helping to develop the Velvet Glove—Canada's short-lived bid for air-to-air missile defence.

And last year he spent in France working with the director of the French rocket program on experiments in atmospheric planting.

Twilight Radiation

Working here, Dr. Sullivan hopes to help show how the atmosphere is being contaminated by thermonuclear bombs.

Not to be confused with the night-watching astronomers, Harry Sullivan is a twilight man, interested in twilight radiations.

In particular he wants to know about lithium radiations in connection with thermonuclear explosions. The quest parallels in part the luminous layer of sodium atoms about 55 miles in the sky, which he has also studied.

These radiations are hard to see because of what scientists call Rayleigh scattering due to sunlight.

Makes Sky Blue

"This is what makes the sky blue, and it is so much stronger than the resonance radiation of sodium that it can't be seen," Dr. Sullivan explained.

"But during twilight Rayleigh light diminishes and the sodium layer remains illuminated." Particles are excited by sunlight still shining in the upper atmosphere although no longer on earth.

It is not known where atmospheric sodium comes from. Two theories are suggested—diffusion of sea spray, a sodium chloride solution that splits, and from disintegrating meteorites, but there is no noticeable link between sodium and meteoric activity.

More In Winter

Dr. Sullivan found in Saskatoon the intensity of sodium was greatest in winter

"Now it might be interesting if we observe the seasonal variation in Victoria since it is close to the sea. I think the skies here are well suited to observations."

Other alkali metals are found to behave in similar manner, such as potassium and lithium.

"I was the first to observe potassium in the atmosphere," the physicist remarked. "We compared the relative abundance of sodium to potassium in sea water and the atmosphere and the result appeared quite good, but not conclusive."

There was also seasonal variation in the quantity of lithium, Dr. Sullivan found in his University of Saskatchewan experiments.

"The intensity from resonant scattering seemed to increase by at least a factor of 10 perhaps up to 100 by the explosion of thermonuclear bombs in the atmosphere.

It is generally believed H-bombs contain lithium deuteride—that's the easiest way of making one—and that the increase in lithium in space is due to contamination of the atmosphere by thermonuclear bombs.

"Unfortunately the authorities are unable to tell us what is used in an H-bomb.

"It may help to discover how or if the atmosphere is being contaminated by H-bombs. This is of general interest to us all. So we hope to establish an observational program along these lines," the scientist said.

Observations are made using a type of photometer that distinguishes between light scatterings.

So far, Dr. Sullivan has found less than one lithium atom per cubic centimetre of air during the low summertime concentration.

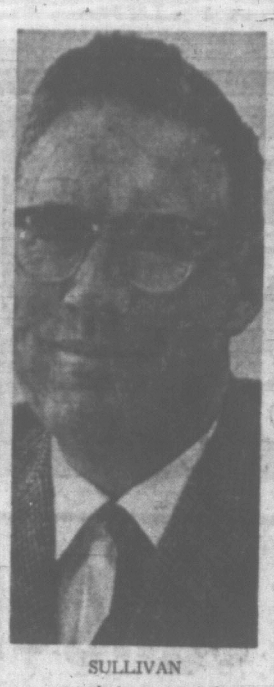

Arctic Posting

After the missile project folded, Dr. Sullivan—then a master of science in physics—went to a two-year posting at Resolute in the Arctic as part of the transport department's meteorological team on International Geophysical Year.

"It was very comfortable there because of the facilities provided by the air force and government due to the extreme isolation. And it was vigorous, with beautiful weather in summer," he recalls

Although the temperature was rarely over 60 degrees, the sun shone round the clock and grew poppies, buttercups, saxifrage, some grass and willows just two inches tall on otherwise barren rock and soil, Dr. Sullivan said.

He and his wife, Dorothy, have two boys, Arthur, 6½, and Michael, 4, and Paris-born daughter Madeline Anne-Mari, 14 months. The boys started school in France and will be in the awkward position of adjusting to an English-speaking system.

Ontario Coroner Calls For Compulsory Tests

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. Morton Shulman, Metropolitan Toronto's chief coroner, has called for compulsory breath analysis tests, claiming that more than half the drivers killed in traffic accidents in Ontario between last November and June were affected by alcohol.

Dr. Shulman said in an interview he has written Transport Minister Irwin Haskett of Ontario that all applicants for drivers' licences be required to sign an agreement to undergo breath analysis on police order.

At present, a driver cannot be compelled to submit to a breath test. Results of a test are supporting evidence in court but a driver cannot be convicted on an impaired or drunkenness charge on that evidence alone.

Dr. Shulman urged that all drivers involved in accidents be given breath tests and that spot check with breath-testing machines be made. He said only these steps would "stop the slaughter on our highways."

If a driver refused to take a test, he said, his licence would be cancelled.

Dr. Shulman said a study of 264 drivers killed in accidents in the eight-month period, only 23.0 per cent had no alcohol in their bloodstream.

"That means 77 per cent had an appreciable amount," he said. "Even worse, 55 per cent of all the drivers had more than 1.5 per cent alcohol in their blood. That means they were legally impaired and were mere automatons."

SOCRED 'CLEARED'

Manning Denies NDP Accusation

EDMONTON (CP)—Premier Manning said Tuesday that Dr. Lou Heard, Social Credit member of the Alberta legislature for Edmonton North East, has not violated the Legislative Assembly Act.

He was replying to Neil Reimer, Alberta New Democratic leader, who called for an investigation into the activities of Dr. Heard in connection with the province's Chiropractic Act.

Mr. Reimer said in a letter to the premier that actions taken recently by Dr. Heard may be in "conflict with statutes governing the conduct of MLAs."

"The prohibitions in the Legislative Assembly Act . . . would not seem to be violated in any way by reason of Dr. Heard performing certain administrative work for the Chiropractic Association of which he is a member," Premier Manning said in a letter of reply dated Aug. 24. The letter was released Tuesday by the premier's office.

Mr. Reimer sent the premier a copy of a confidential report prepared by Dr. Heard for the Alberta Chiropractic Association on government financial assistance to pensioners for chiropractic services. Dr. Heard is pension secretary-treasurer for the association.

Mr. Manning said "it is obvious that this (report) is not intended to be a report accounting to the public or to the government for the expenditures of public monies received by the association under its agreement with the department of health."

Mr. Manning said "no contract or agreement in any form exists between any department of government and Dr. Heard or any other member of the Alberta Chiropractic Association."

The association, he said, is an entity established by statute and the agreement into which the department of health entered to ensure chiropractic care for old age pensioners is between the department and the association.

"This is similar to the arrangement that exists between the department and the medical association for the provision of medical services to pensioners."

Tonsils 'Frozen' To Death

WASHINGTON (AP) — Use of super-cooled probes to make inflamed tonsils disappear in virtually bloodless surgery was described Tuesday by two New York doctors.

The doctors also told of other promising uses of cryosurgery—the use of extreme cold to "kill" diseased tissue instead of just cutting it away.

The technique has been used in certain types of brain disorders, such as Parkinson's disease (shaking palsy), and in treating cataracts of the eye, diseased prostate glands, and certain forms of cancer.

Dr. William G. Cahan of the Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Centre and Dr. Irving S. Cooper of the department of neurosurgery, St. Barnabas Hospital, told about the progress in reports to the first annual meeting of the Society for Cryobiology.

Liquid nitrogen, with a temperature 320 degrees below zero, is made to run through special probes which freeze the ailing body tissue at temperatures usually ranging from 14 to 76 degrees below zero.

Describing two years of such techniques at his hospital, Dr. Cahan said: "In general, targets of the freezing were necrosed (killed) with little morbidity (ill effects on the patient). In particular, there was no immediate or delayed hemorrhage, little or no subsequent pain, and no systemic ill effects."

New Fences at Zoo

PENTICTON (CP)—Two strong new fences will be built around the pen housing a mountain goat at the nearby Grey Sage private zoo, owner William George Wells said Tuesday. The fences were recommended by a coroner's jury Monday which held the goat responsible for the death of Susan McMann, 7, of Ladner, fatally gored earlier this month. Warning signs would also be posted, Wells said.

'MY, YOUR SUIT SMELLS JUST LIKE PINE, SIR'

LONDON (UPI)—Aromatic suits with a scent of leather, heather or pine, are being introduced by a London firm of tailors in 1965.

"Tailor and Cutter," Bible of British men's wear, reporting the new line Tuesday, said "It will not be a strong smell. Only those close to the wearer will be able to smell it.

"Inevitably one conjures up a vision of those curious advertisements with the unconscious offender sitting ignorantly between his dumbly flanking critics, their nostrils aquiver and their eyeballs clearly sunk into the corner pockets."

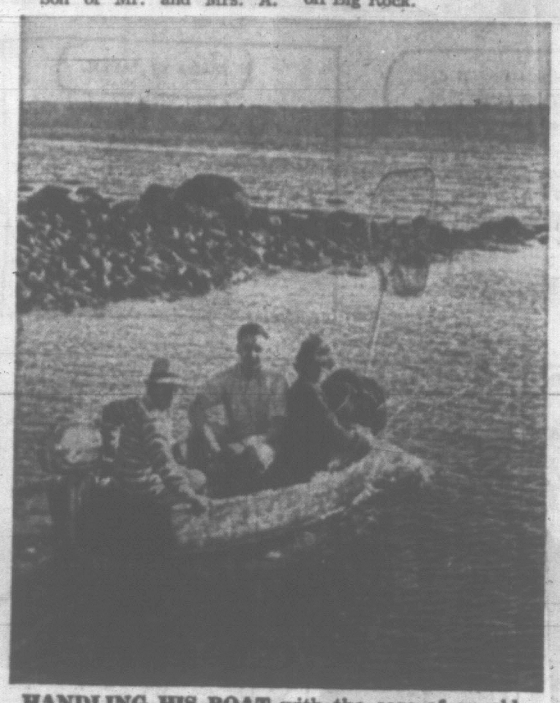

YOUNGEST GUIDE SCORES AND DAD BUYS THE GAS!

CAMPBELL RIVER — Campbell River not only has the finest salmon fishing in the northwest, it now boasts the youngest guide in the business.

At an age when most boys are playing with water pistols and catching minnows on the beach, Allan Gunnarson, 10, is a full-fledged fishing guide.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Gunnarson, owners and operators of the Big Rock Store and boat ramp just south of town, he got his start this summer when his parents gave him a 10-foot plywood runabout and 3 h.p. outboard for his birthday.

He quickly learned to handle the little boat and was soon a common sight cruising up and down the waters off Big Rock.

HANDLING HIS BOAT with the ease of an old-timer youngest guide Allan Gunnarson, 10, takes out a fishing party. (Photo by Kyle.)

Last Thursday, Allan became a guide.

Helping out around the ramp, he struck up a conversation with a Vancouver couple.

In reply to their question "are there fish in the river?" he gassed up his little boat, loaded the mainland couple aboard, and took them out.

NEW CAREER

They came in that night with happy smiles and four sizeable coho.

And the youngest guide in the business was launched on a new career.

The Johnson's gave him a $3 tip for the night's work.

Friday night he took them out again and guided them to a nine-pound coho, chalking up another $3 tip.

By Saturday, Allan's fame had spread.

A man from Texas called at the store and asked to be taken out. They were forced in early by rough weather and the young guide and his party were "skunked" for the first time.

ONCE AGAIN

Monday night, a young couple staying at the Marina Hotel, called and booked a trip for the following day. Allan took Roy Wolenski and his fiancee, Joy Baker, out and they hooked a small salmon before a blow put paid to further fishing.

One advantage Allan has over most guides is that he doesn't have to charge for gas.

As he explained to a client: "I get my gas free from Dad."

ISLAND DIGEST

DUNCAN-BORN Derek R. Lukin Johnston has been elected president of the 13,000-member Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants. A member of the profession since 1937, Mr. Johnston, of Vancouver, was elected at the institute's 62nd annual conference in Montreal. His late parents, E. H. Lukin Johnston and Mrs. Lukin Johnston, lived in Victoria.

Big Expansion At Duncan Bay

A $4.6 million expansion project to increase substantially wood utilization at its Elk Falls pulp and paper division at Duncan Bay was announced today by Crown Zellerbach Canada Limited.

The company will build a new woodroom that will handle a wider range of salvage logs than those now fed into the mill.

The installation, scheduled for completion in 1966, will be built as a separate unit next to the existing woodroom. Manufacturing vice-president R. A. Butler said preliminary engineering has begun and construction is expected to start later this year.

The new woodroom will operate on logs that are unsuitable for manufacture into lumber. In the woodroom, logs are reduced to four-foot blocks which are then ground into small fibres in the groundroom mill in the first stage of newsprint manufacture. In addition, a whole log chipper will convert other logs into chips for use in making kraft pulp.

GREATER USE

Ability of the new woodroom to handle larger logs means that the company's salvage logging will be based on a higher degree of wood utilization, said timber vice-president Hugh J. Hodgins.

He said that culls, chunks, and other logs normally left in the woods and burned as slash would now be delivered to the pulp mill.

The existing woodroom, built during construction of the mill in the early 50s, handles 75 million board feet annually. When the two units are in full production their combined capacity will be 240 million board feet a year.

The expansion is designed to keep pace with the increasing wood requirements of newsprint and kraft pulp production at the huge, $105 million pulp and paper complex.

Other projects at the Elk Falls mill announced earlier this year are a modernization of one of the mill's two newsprint machines and an increase in the capacity of the groundwood mill. The projects will total $5 million.

At the present time, finishing touches are being put on a $36 million expansion which began at Elk Falls in 1962.

'CORRECTIVE MEASURES' TO CONTROL DOG PACK

LAKE COWICHAN—RCMP and game officials are taking steps to control a pack of dogs suspected in the death of about 20 deer in the Honeymoon Bay and Youbou areas west of here.

The police have notified residents they will face prosecution if their dogs are not kept under control.

Game Warden W. H. Fowkes said undefined "corrective measures" are being taken.

Following the vote Monday night Mayor Les Hammer congratulated council members for their work in negotiations that led to formation of the plan, to be submitted to voters Oct. 17.

"This will become an historic document," the mayor said. "I think we have found terms on which the majority of people will agree."

Meanwhile, Alberni Valley Chamber of Commerce announced plans Tuesday for a series of talks on the proposed merger. First speaker at the chamber's Sept. 1 meeting will be J. E. Brown, deputy municipal affairs minister.

Later meetings will be addressed by Mayor Hammer and Mayor Fred Bishop of Alberni.

COURTENAY — District 71 school board has declared confidential its letters and discussion of them within board meetings.

A resolution passed at a board meeting Monday night said presence of the press and the public at future meetings would be contingent on agreement to treat the communications and discussions as confidential.

The resolution said letters from the board are often discussed before they reach their destination. Publication of news items concerning the letters might "jeopardize the board's relationship with the intended recipient."

The board decided its next meeting would discuss how best to advertise a money bylaw to be held this fall. Board members agreed to obtain as much free publicity as possible from the local press and radio.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Tallulah Bankhead was jetting to London to do a movie . . . and there were a few GHASTLY things she had to clear up, Darlings . . . so I ahsk you, don't be RUDE!

"I'll vote absentee ballot for Mr. Johnson . . ." Tallulah crackled hoarsely at me in the midst of packing . . . "You think Goldwater has a chahnce? You make me sick, darling! . . . Of course he HASN'T! . . . I'll be at the Ritz, darling, I cahn't stand those other places where they have movie stars.

"What'd you say her name is, darling?" There was a pregnant, rather chilly pause. "I've such a GHAHSTLY memory."

I'd asked Tallulah if she'd met a wonderfully bright rebellious interesting 21-year-old, Stefanie Powers, a self-confessed juvenile delinquent, who's her daughter-in-law in their coming film, "Fanatic." (And might even be a threat to Tallulah.)

"You've heard of her!" I said quickly. "She dated Eddie Fisher when the Burtons got married . . . she's made eight films . . . ADORES animals . . . supposed to be just great in 'The NEW Interns' opening here . . ."

'HIM AND HER'

"Just cahn't remember one bloody name darling. Call everybody Him and Her . . ."

Tallulah asked somebody near to get her a cigarette. "I've cut down from 80 to 13 a day, because 13's my lucky number," she said.

"But Stefanie's so worshipful, she wanted to meet you, even phoned . . ." I said.

"Oh, THAT child!" Tallulah croaked. "I was busy watching TV. I ahsked her to call me back. She didn't. If she cahn't call me back, she must be a very rude little girl, darling!"

I let it lay, as they say on B'way. Stefanie's the type of youngster who after a beer party cuts down a favorite tree on the high school quadrangle because it's another sorority's. She did it in Hollywood and almost got expelled.

After a tangle or two, they'll like each other because of pets.

In Washington Stefanie found an alley cat she took on a U.S. tour.

"I call her Cat. That's her name," Stefanie told me. "She's a nut, but she's real people, Cat is. They won't let me take Cat to England. I'll be so lonesome. It'd be nice after a hard day of work to have your little friend greeting you . . ."

Maybe she'll take up with Tallulah instead, darlings.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Kenneth Scarano, 12, Spotswood, N.J., for his question:

Who first discovered microbes?

Microbes were here long before the human family arrived to enjoy life on this wondrous planet. But until the microscope was invented, these swarming midgets were invisible. At last they were spotted by a man whose hobby was spying small miracles through his homemade microscopes.

The olden city of Delft stands on the flat lowlands of Holland. Its neat canals are bordered with story-book houses and spanned by 70 bridges. It was the home of the painter Jan Vermeer, and for hundreds of years its fine blue pottery has been world famous. Anthony van Leeuwenhoek was born in this city of old world charm. The year was 1632.

His life was crowded with business and civic activities, but he had time for a hobby which made him famous as the first man to spy and describe the tiny living things we call microbes. At 22, Leeuwenhoek ran his own textile store, and six years later he was chosen to be chamberlain to the city sheriff. He studied and became a surveyor, and later he became the city's official wine tester. In his spare time, he made the best microscopes of his day and through them beheld the small miracles of nature.

In the 1670s Leeuwenhoek's microscopes were finer than those used by the world expert Robert Hooke of London. Curiosity drove him to examine the microscopic wrigglers in a drop of rain water, to investigate a speck of pepper in hopes of finding what made it hot and to magnify a scraping of gritty tartar from his teeth. Leeuwenhoek knew he was a businessman and at first was shy about calling his hobby to the attention of the experts.

Sent Records to Royal Society

However, a sense of wonder at the small miracles he saw caused him to make lots of notes and drawings. Finally he had to tell someone who might share his sense of wonder. So he sent his records to the Royal Society of London. Hooke and his co-workers were agog, and they made this modest hobbyist a member of their renowned society.

Leeuwenhoek called his microbes animalcules or little animals. In 1675 he spied animalcules in rain water, two years before Hooke had a microscope good enough to reveal them. He never found why pepper is hot, but he saw microbes in a speck of rotting pepper. In 1683 he saw them in scrapings of tartar. The notes and drawings he made to describe these animalcules prove that they were common bacteria that cause tooth decay.

Leeuwenhoek's hobby sprang from thrilling curiosity and wonder. He thought his microscopic midgets were more wondrous than giant whales. But he often apologized for his lack of skill and training. The modest man never realized that he was the greatest microscope expert of his day. His hobby opened the door to a whole new world of science.

Andy sends a 15-inch World Book Globe to Tim Foley, Jr., are eight, of Staten Island, N.Y., for his question:

How did the word jaywalker start?

Andy could not find out who invented this word. But everybody who is older than five years old knows what jaywalking means. A jaywalker is a silly person who refuses to keep the traffic rules. He dares to cross the street when the red light tells him to stop and wait for the green light. He may cross in the middle of a city block, and he does not care if a car is swooping down the street.

A silly jaywalker may step off the sidewalk and march down the street where the traffic is supposed to go. If he has any brains, he does not use them, and there is no telling what he will do to break the traffic rules. These rules, of course, are made to keep people safe from traffic accidents. But the jaywalker does not care. Someday he surely will get hurt, and worse than this, he may cause another person to be hurt in a traffic accident.

Booze Deterioration Afflicts 6 Million

HAMILTON (CP) — More than 6,000,000 persons in Canada and the United States are "hard-core alcoholics who have reached complete mental and social deterioration," Dr. R. Gordon Bell of Toronto, said Monday.

Dr. Bell, addressing 80 delegates to the Ontario Institute of Alcohol Studies at McMaster University, said harmful dependence on alcohol falls into three categories:

The direct physical factor in the first stage is the ability to enjoy alcohol in harmful quantities, he said. The initial mental state is the pursuit of pleasure, or release from distress, and a desire to conform.

Dr. Bell said the mental state in the second stage is habituation. The alcoholic becomes obsessed to cover up his addiction by lying, alibis, resentment and suspicion.

He said that mental deterioration at the third stage results in malnutrition and chronic intoxication leading to childish and irrational behaviour.

Reeveship Byelection All Set for October 24

Coun. Joseph Casey has been appointed acting reeve until Oct. 24, when a byelection will be held to select a new reeve for Saanich, it was decided Tuesday.

The special council meeting accepted Reeve Stanley Murphy's resignation and set Oct. 14 as the deadline for nominations in the byelection.

Coun. Casey said he will not be a candidate in the byelection.

Coun. Hugh Curtis and motel operator Ed Lum, who failed in a reeveship attempt last year, have said they would enter the contest.

Mr. Murphy tendered his expected resignation so he can leave Friday for Southern Rhodesia, where he will serve as an exchange teacher.

LAST YEAR'S LIST

City clerk and returning officer Gordon Hayward said last year's voters' list would be used for the Oct. 24 byelection because the new one is not ready.

Coun. Casey also was appointed as Saanich delegate to the Capital Improvement District Commission to fill out the balance of Mr. Murphy's term on the board for this year.

Saanich Approves Water Board Change

Saanich council Tuesday formally approved a Greater Victoria water board agreement to reconstitute the membership of the board.

The new setup will take one seat away from Victoria and give it to Saanich resulting in three voting members for Victoria, two for Saanich and one each for Oak Bay and Esquimalt.

Previous arrangement gave Victoria four members and the three municipalities one each.

The change is required under provincial legislation but it needs final endorsation of the cabinet.

The re-arrangement follows the final mortgage payment by the board to Victoria city earlier this year for the watershed and waterworks supply system formerly owned solely by the city.

The city sold the water supply system to itself and the other municipalities as a joint board in 1949 for $3,372,627 under a 15-year agreement for sale.

The validating legislation provided that during the life of the agreement, the city would have a majority voice on the board as the mortgage holder but the seats would be reapportioned after the last payment.

The board acts as water wholesaler to the municipalities which in turn retail the water to their own consumers.

THE FACULTY OF HEARING

No. 3

Much comment is made about reading speed, is there such a thing as listening speed? Certainly. We have reading, talking and listening speeds. Listening speed can be simply defined as that speed at which speech can be heard and understood. Play a 33 r.p.m. record at 78 r.p.m. and you will hear every word and understand not one! Persons with impaired hearing often have a subnormal listening speed—so often they hear, but do not understand because sentences are made up of words, and words are made up of individual sounds, which give audible recognition in the same way that printed letters give visual recognition. The time space between words and sentences is used to make sense of these individual sounds.

Lincoln's Gettysburg Address contains 264 words made up of 1,033 separate sounds requiring about 3½ minutes to deliver. The 1,033 sounds were uttered in about 1¾ minutes, or at the rate of 600 individual sounds per minute—which is 10 sounds per second!

For those with impaired hearing, an assessment of listening speed is essential—you can turn your TV louder, but not slower! A good quality hearing aid without distortion and static is also essential to maintain adequate listening speed, and give comfortable listening.

By the way—do speak slowly to anyone wearing an aid—it helps so much.

Professional attention and high quality aids are available at the HBC Hearing Dept., second,

NEW SYSTEM of yarding logs by balloon will be operationally tested at Sproat Lake soon when balloons like ones in artist's sketch arrive here from England.

Crews Stand By for Balloon-Logging Take-off

A balloon which may give a lift to the world's logging industries will undergo its first full-scale operational tests on Vancouver Island.

The balloon is a helium-inflated device which logging companies hope will drastically decrease costs of transporting cut logs out of the woods.

Three balloons are on their way from England to the Sproat Lake Division of MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Ltd.

Engineers and loggers will try out the balloon-logging concept under actual working conditions.

If the tests prove it is more economical than existing methods of in-woods transport, thousands of acres of B.C. timber now economically inaccessible may be opened to the forest industry.

The balloons are rigged to one end of a log and lift it off the ground so the log can be moved through the forest.

Currently huge mobile steel spars travel over logging roads to cutting areas.

The tall spars are anchored and logs are "yarded out" to the loading point on a skyline cable.

But as valley and sidehill timber becomes harvested, the logging industry has to move further up the mountain sides.

There steeper and rockier slopes make road construction for the mobile spars prohibitively expensive.

Balloon logging will require minimum road construction, provide the lifting effect of a skyline system, eliminate expensive cable rigging and permit the use of light lines and fast yarders.

If it works.

A Swedish experimental group has carried out some tests in balloon logging, and engineers have calculated the balloon's likely abilities.

From this preliminary study it is believed that the balloon's aerodynamic qualities will cause it to behave like a kite—that is, face into the wind and rise with it, providing a greater lift factor, in wind up to speeds of 50 miles per hour.

The balloons are expected to overcome most physical obstacles in rugged terrain.

With one end lifted, logs will not get hung-up, will break less frequently, do less damage to soil and standing trees, and pose less danger to logging crews.

At Sproat Lake, engineers and loggers will perfect the rigging system and operational techniques, then carry out detailed time studies to determine the exact operating cost.

Patent holder on the balloon logging concept, the Vancouver firm of Air-Reel Transport Ltd., hopes that other advantages of the system will appear once full operational efficiency is reached.

Logging crews should have more flexibility in harvesting desired species and grades; there should be less high-cost road mileage required; greater timber volumes should come over existing roads; and many stands of wind-thrown, disease-ridden and insect-killed timber should become accessible.

VICTORIA, B.C., WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 26, 1964—PAGE 21

INJURED MAN RELAYED TO HOSPITAL

A Cobble Hill man was rushed by speedboat, ferry and ambulance to St. Joseph's Hospital here Tuesday after being hit on the head by a wind-blown sapling.

Alfred Flick, 67, was visiting a logging site on Bold Bluff, Salt Spring Island, when the accident occurred.

Salt Spring Island resident Stan Tyerman gave first aid while his wife walked two-and-a-half miles to Burgoyne Beach for assistance.

A speedboat rushed Mr. Flick to the government float at Burgoyne Bay, where he was loaded into an ambulance to take him to the Fulford ferry.

His condition in St. Joseph's is fair.

City Man Questioned About Fresno Holdup

Vancouver Pair Facing Charges

A 24-year-old Victoria man is being held by police in Fresno, Calif., for investigation in connection with an armed hold-up of a jewellery store.

John Wayne Thomsen, Collingwood Court Apartments, 975 Fairfield Road, was arrested earlier this week by police in San Francisco acting on information from the Fresno police department.

A spokesman for Fresno police said this morning that word to pick up Thomsen went out after two Vancouver persons were arrested when they tried to holdup a jewellery store at gun-point.

GIRL ARRESTED

Under arrest and charged with the armed robbery are George F. Jackson, 28, and Cheryl Columbus, a 19-year-old girl, both of Vancouver.

Fresno police said it has been established that they travelled to California in company with Thomsen and an investigation is now being made to find if he was involved with them in the armed robbery attempt.

IN U-DRIVE

Fresno police said the trio went to California in a U-drive car hired from a Victoria company. They did not identify the company here from which the car was hired.

Police said that Jackson and the girl hired a U-drive in Fresno that was found a block away from the scene of the hold-up. Police arrested the pair inside the store.

Thomsen was arrested next day in San Francisco.

Wonder No More

By JOHN MIKA
Times City Hall Reporter

Twelve unfinished light poles stand witness in Beacon Hill Park to absent-minded bureaucracy in the Parliament complete with all necessary underground wiring, have been standing since April—totally useless because not a single light has been put in.

It would take about $1,000 to finish the $9,000 job and put the lights into operation.

But the Capital Improvement District Commission, which commissioned the work and has some $200,000 in the kitty, has done nothing about it all summer.

HOW?

Here's how the comedy of red tape started:

Early this year, the CIDC told the city to go ahead with a program of installing street lighting in Beacon Hill Park and also extending the decorative lighting as a provincial beautification project.

Total cost was to be about $20,000 but the CIDC, cleaning up its 1963 funds, said it could only give $9,000 right away.

This had to be spent by April 30—the end of the provincial government's fiscal year—the CIDC ruled and the balance would be forthcoming quickly.

So, city lighting crews dropped all their other projects and worked feverishly to spend the $9,000 by the arbitrary deadline.

They made it by carrying out only part of the original plan—the wiring and poles for only a dozen lights.

WAIT

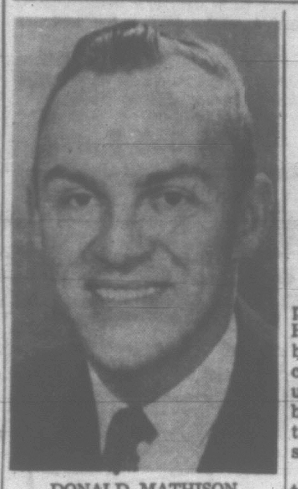

Then they sat back and waited for the money to finish the program—and waited and waited all summer long.

Meanwhile, the legislature as usual voted the annual $200,000 for the CIDC's beautification budget so there was plenty of money to finish the complete program before the summer even started.

But the CIDC apparently has forgotten to hold even one meeting since then so no authorization has come through to even finish what has been done so far.

Instead, park visitors have been staring at 12 unfinished poles scattered along roads for the past seven months wondering what they are there for.

Wonder no more — they are monuments to some monumental absent mindedness.

DONALD MATHISON
. . . tries again

Speaking Champion Seeks Seat

A fourth Saanich ratepayer announced today he will seek election as councillor in the Oct. 24 Saanich byelection.

Donald Charles Mathison, 38, of 3828 Haro Road, a department store salesman, announced he will seek election to the seat vacated by Con. Hugh Curtis.

Mr. Mathison recently won the Junior Chamber of Commerce Canadian public speaking championship.

Coun. Curtis will seek the reeveship in the election caused by the resignation of Reeve Stanley Murphy. He is leaving Victoria to take up a teaching job in Africa.

Mr. Mathison is no newcomer to municipal politics. He was an unsuccessful council candidate in the 1963 municipal elections.

He is in favor of semi-metro, and he wants all board meetings open to the public.

"It's better than amalgamation," he said. "It will also help solve some of the problems of the capital region."

NO POOLING

The candidate is opposed to pooling the federal centennial grant with other municipalities for a joint project. Instead, he favors using the $165,000 grant for the construction of a municipal swimming pool and landscaping the grounds of the proposed municipal hall.

The three other candidates who will be contesting the seat are William Campbell, contractor, Lt.-Cmdr. Harry Shergold, RCN, and Edward Ball, Victoria fireman.

Car Drivers To Pay More Insurance

Victoria drivers can expect another increase in car insurance rates next year, a spokesman for B.C. insurance companies said today.

But Victoria's increase could well be less than in other parts of the province—particularly Vancouver, he added.

The increase will reflect the sharp jump in traffic accidents and rising costs in the meeting of insurance claims.

DAMAGE UP

"There was a 33 per cent increase in property damage throughout B.C. during the first four months of this year," the insurance spokesman said. "Something has to give."

He added that insurance companies are also faced with rising costs all down the line—for automobile replacement, repairs, hospitalization and lost wages due to injuries.

The increase for drivers with accident-free record would be less than for those with recent accidents.

Car insurance rates increased 10 per cent in the Victoria area in 1964; 7 per cent in British Columbia and 14 per cent across Canada.

Term In Haney For Repeater Who Took Car

A youth who took a car without consent while on probation for attempted theft was sent to jail this morning for eight months definite and four months indefinite.

John Heffernan, 2705 Seaview Road, will serve his sentence at the Young Offender's Unit in Haney.

Heffernan was convicted of attempted theft some months ago was put on probation. Last Friday night he took a car in Oak Bay and was arrested while driving it on Trans-Canada Highway a few hours later.

'DEEPER FRIENDLY RELATIONS SOUGHT,' SAYS ADMIRAL

Japanese Students Send Drawings to Reeve

By RON SUDLOW

Rear-Admiral Kazutoshi Kuhara today looked back 31 years when four destroyer-escorts of the Japanese Self Defence Agency's training squadron tied up at HMC Dockyard.

He first saw Victoria in 1933 as a newly-commissioned officer when his training squadron anchored off the coast en route to a visit to Vancouver.

"We did not come ashore but anchored only temporarily on our way to Vancouver," he said through an interpreter at a press conference aboard his flagship JDS Teruzuki.

He added that the ship's commanding officer Cdr. Noboru Kawamoto came here in 1958 as a newly-commissioned officer when two Japanese destroyers visited during the province's centennial celebrations. Many of the four ships' companies of 1,150 men also came here then.

"The purpose of our training squadron is to gain deeper friendly relations between Japan and Canada, to give appropriate training to the crews and especially 158 newly-commissioned officers and to extend their knowledge of your country.

DRAWINGS BROUGHT

"And I am very happy to perform my duty as a cultural mission by carrying on board messages and a bundle of drawings from (the) mayor of Yokosuka and school children to Reeve (A. C. Wurtele) of Esquimalt," he said.

The four ships, Teruzuki, Ariake, Makinami and Yugure are completing the final leg of their 1964 training cruise which will end in Vancouver Sept. 2 before they return to their home port of Yokosuka Sept. 30.

The admiral said that, although he will be home in time for the 1964 Olympic Games in Tokyo in October, he will be at sea when they are in progress.

However, he smiled and pointed to a Japanese manufactured television set in the corner of his cabin.

The Japanese ships slipped through the approaches to Esquimalt Harbor at 9 this morning to the volleys of 68 guns fired in salutes.

MUSICAL SALUTE

Twenty minutes later the Teruzuki had secured at B jetty in HMC Dockyard and Rear-Admiral Kuhara was officially welcomed by Rear-Admiral W. M. Landymore, flag officer, Pacific Coast.

A 24-piece Japanese band played O Canada and Kimigayo (Emperor's Reign), and offered a musical salute to the Canadian rear-admiral while a 24-man color guard stood at attention.

The black uniforms, trimmed with gold braid and white sashes, of the band stood out in stark contrast to the working fatigues of the Japanese seamen which resembled pyjama-like judo uniforms.

WREATH-LAYING

Later, Admiral Kuhara participated in a wreath-laying ceremony at the Esquimalt cenotaph with a guard and band from the Japanese ships and a guard from HMCS Naden.

Nearly 200 Japanese personnel, including naval cadets, toured Canadian Services College, Royal Roads.

Tonight Japanese and RCN softball teams will compete on the lower playing field at HMCS Naden. Game time is 6 o'clock.

At the same time cadets from the Japanese ships will be at the Empress Hotel attending a dinner given by the city of Victoria, which will be followed by a tour of Butchart Gardens.

The training squadron's band will perform this evening at 7:30 in Cameron Bandshell, Beacon Hill Park.

TWO REAR-ADMIRALS, W. M. Landymore, flag officer, Pacific Coast, and Kazutoshi Kuhara, commander of the training squadron of the Japanese Maritime Self Defence Force, inspect 24-man honor guard at B Jetty, HMC Dockyard after arrival of four Japanese destroyer-escorts this morning for four-day visit.

BOWING DEEPLY, Rear-Admiral Kazutoshi Kuhara exchanges greetings with Noburo Imajo, Japanese consul-general in Vancouver, after ships tied up. The four destroyer-escorts will move to the port of Vancouver for a four-day stay Sunday, last visit on their 75-day training cruise. (Halkett photos.)

Drivers of the two cars involved were Thomas Dobson of Merritt and Bryan T. Smith, 356 Simcoe.

Prowler Flees After Kneeling By Girl's Bed

A 16-year-old Saanich girl awoke early today to find a man kneeling beside her bed.

Susan Jones, 316 Burnside, was wakened by a noise that she thought at first was made by the family dog. She looked around her room, and then looked down at the floor.

Said Miss Jones today: "I almost touched the man."

As soon as the prowler saw he was discovered he jumped up and ran out through the back door. Miss Jones had a girl friend staying with her overnight as her parents were away.

Police searched the area within minutes but the prowler escaped. Police said he apparently entered the house by an unlocked basement window.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Hunting Season Is Coming— So Start Checking Gear

By PENNY SAVER

Hunting season begins in less than a month! This means it is time to start checking your equipment and preparing for your first big day in the woods.

A handy item for all hunters to carry is a silicone gun and reel cloth that comes in a pocket-size metal case and sells at $1.45. These are designed to polish and rust-proof your gun in one manoeuvre.

For best results, use cloth on a clean surface and polish slowly. This creates a protective coating impervious to salt spray, rust or corrosion. If cloth is used regularly, equipment will retain its renewed condition.

One item that a hunter should never be without is a compass. And ones I found in this shop will fit any bill.

They come in either pocket or wrist pin-on style and prices range from $2.95 to $4.45.

Compasses are designed with liquid filled capsules that assist the needle to settle instantly for quick sighting. Capsules are see-through and have a direction arrow that rotates in the case for taking bearings and making map orientation easy.

If you find that your guns need oiling but hate the muss and fuss it causes, your worries are over.

Now selling at $1.49 is a precision oiler that eliminates both mess and waste.

Oilers are designed the same as the hypodermic needle used in hospitals. They are covered in a plastic case and are also useful in the home, office or workshop. They are easily refilled with any type of fine oil.

There is a new invention on the market for the shotgun user, too. Shells that sell at 25 for $3.95 are now being coated with plastic rather than cardboard. This allows for a truer shot when firing.

If you'll call Penny at 382-3131, she'll gladly tell you where to shop for these items. And, don't forget to check on changes in licences and big game tags for this year. Happy hunting!

Clark-Mills Wedding

Rev. H. G. Turpin officiated at the ceremony, last Saturday evening, uniting Carol Anne Mills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Gordon Mills, 3231 Happy Valley Road, and Roland Lewis Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Lewis Clark, 647 Kelly Road.

Baskets of gladioli decorated Esquimalt United Church for the occasion. Soloist was Mrs. Daniel Webster.

The bride wore an exquisite gown of nylon sheer, styled with a roll collar highlighted with delicate pleated inserts, lily point sleeves and a full skirt with a train. A headpiece of lace, pearls and rhinestones held the chapel-length veil. Tasmania roses were in the bouquet.

Matron of honor for her sister-in-law was Mrs. R. Mills, the bride's sister, Mrs. Ken Ensor, was bridesmatron, and the bridesmaid was Miss Donna Keoppel. They wore sheath-style gowns of sparkle nylon over taffeta accented with a coral design. Their accessories were white, and their bouquets, white gladioli with coral tips.

Flower girl, Cindy Carey, wore a full-skirted frock of coral nylon over taffeta. White gloves and a basket of coral-tipped white gladioli completed her ensemble.

Lanny Seaton was best man. Ushers were Roy Mills, and Joel Aplin. The ringbearer, Lloyd Beckley, carried a white satin cushion.

The wedding cake, made and decorated by the bride's mother, centred head table at a reception in Chez Marcel. Pink rosebuds and sweet peas were used in decorations. Toast was proposed by George McArthur.

After a honeymoon on the mainland, the newlyweds will make their home in Victoria.

For travelling the bride chose an eggshell-toned linen suit with yellow hat, gloves, necklace and earrings. The outfit was enhanced by black patent shoes and purse, and a yellow gladioli corsage.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Start Training Yourself!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I go with a guy who is real good in sports. I don't have much trouble with him (keeping him in his place, I mean) while he is in training, but when he is not in training he is murder. He's as strong as an ox and won't listen to reason. How can I make him keep his distance without losing him?

JACK'S GIRL

DEAR GIRL: Take a course in Judo and throw him off balance.

DEAR ABBY: If a man is left a widower, and decides to remarry after waiting a decent amount of time, must he invite the parents of his late wife to his second wedding? If not, must he inform them of it? This is an especially touchy situation because there are children by the first wife. Thank you in advance.

THE MAN

DEAR MAN: He should invite them unless they are the kind of people who would be saddened by the revived memories. In any case, he should inform the parents of his late wife of his intentions to remarry. And he should do it before someone else does.

DEAR ABBY: My whole life changed two weeks ago when they brought my child home from the public playground and told me that he had had some kind of a "fit." We took him to the doctor immediately and, after several tests, the doctor said our son has epilepsy, but he didn't know how severe it was, or how often he would have seizures. I have cried and prayed and spent sleepless nights. We've never had anything like this in our family before, Abby. What causes this? Is it contagious? Will he outgrow it? Can it be cured? We are afraid out doctor isn't telling us the whole truth. Please help us.

DESPERATE PARENTS

DEAR DESPERATE: Many people suffer from epilepsy. It is not contagious. Today, treated by modern medical and surgical techniques, 50 per cent of all persons suffering from epilepsy become seizure-free. Another 30 per cent enjoy a reduction in the number of attacks.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Are You Guilty of Uttering These Revealing Remarks?

Are you guilty . . . of any of the following remarks? If so, you had better check up on yourself because these reflect attitudes which can lead to poor health, premature aging and an old-age outlook at any age. Some women are old at 30 while others are youthful at 80. Our attitude toward life makes the difference!

Lowman

"I don't have time to fool around with lubricating creams and moisturizers. I think it's all a lot of baloney anyway—just ideas to make the cosmeticians rich."

"It doesn't matter what I eat. Fat runs in my family. It's my glands!"

"I used to love to dance, but I couldn't care less now."

"At our age we have to expect rolls over the girdle."

"It's just plain neurotic to go to see a doctor once a year if you feel well."

"I have worn my hair this way for 15 years and I am not going to change now."

"People are stupid."

"At her age it is ridiculous to go back to school. You can't teach an old dog new tricks."

"I don't care if I am overweight! I have to eat to keep my strength up."

"I don't know what's wrong with the younger generation. It's not like it used to be."

"Now that my children are grown and have left home I do not know what to do with myself."

"My daughter-in-law is a pretty little thing, but, well you know, when your son marries you lose him."

"Imagine not inviting us! They already owe us a dinner."

"I don't believe a word they say about vitamins."

"I don't know what he sees in her. She's silly, always laughing about something."

"I'll never forgive her if I live to be 100."

"I get plenty of exercise just doing my housework."

"If they make her president of the club, I will resign."

"She is not a bit smarter than our Mamie Lou. They just push her. If we worked with Mamie Lou like they do with Susie, Mamie would probably make better grades."

"I can't see that she is so good-looking!"

It is so easy to fall into "old-age" habits of thinking, into defeated dreary attitudes and into unimaginative living. We have to give thought to avoiding these pitfalls if our happiness is not to be victimized by them.

If you have the worry habit which is spoiling your enjoyment of life, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet "Worry," Number 64, to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

McGavin, Mrs. G. Bridges, Mrs. G. Armistead of Port Angeles; Mrs. H. M. Orr of Vancouver; Mrs. S. Millington and Miss M. Fracy. All received carnation corsages with tiny pink umbrellas.

In The South

Also among out-of-town guests at the wedding will be Miss Wynne Shaw, well-known Victoria dance teacher. She is leaving for the south on Wednesday and will visit in San Francisco and San Diego before going to Los Angeles.

Miss Sandra Begg leaves Victoria on Friday to join the Royal Winnipeg Ballet Company. She will travel to Winnipeg with Miss Sheila Mackinnon, who has been visiting in the city for a week, after a most successful tour as a soloist with the company. Both Miss Begg and Miss Mackinnon are former students of the Wynne Shaw Dance Studio here.

September

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Salmon, 945 Delwood Road, have announced the engagement of their only daughter, Virginia, to Mr. John Gould, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Gould of Don Mills, Ont. The wedding will take place on Saturday, Sept. 12, at 2 p.m., in St. Martin's-in-the-Fields Church. Mrs. Charles Y. Brown, who is acting as co-chairman of the residential canvass with Mrs. Gunning.

Party for Volunteers

Grounds at Canadian Services College, Royal Roads, will be the scene of a garden party next Tuesday afternoon from 2 p.m., planned to honor women of the Greater Victoria area who assisted the United Appeal campaign last year and those who have already volunteered their services this year.

Setting for this gathering in the gardens at the well-known cadet training establishment at Colwood was made possible by permission of the commandant, Capt. W. P. Hayes, CD., RCN.

Mrs. A. H. Gunning, chairman of the residential division of this year's United Appeal, has arranged a program which will include brief talks by campaign leaders, presentations on behalf of a number of Community Chest member agencies, a fall fur fashion show by Fosters Furs, Ltd. and refreshments. An orchestra will be in attendance.

In connection with the party Mrs. Gunning emphasizes that anyone wishing to assist in the forthcoming campaign, who has not received an invitation for the garden party, may pick up one at the Community Chest office in Spencerhouse, 1951 Cook Street, or by telephoning 385-6708.

It is expected that during the campaign month of October more than 2,000 women will be needed in residential areas throughout lower Vancouver Island.

At Langford

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Adam, 747 Station Avenue, have announced the engagement of their eldest daughter, Margaret Jean, to Mr. David Harry Bleasdale, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Bleasdale, 994 Haliburton Road. The wedding will take place on Saturday, Sept. 5, in the Langford Community Baptist Church. Miss Adam has chosen as her attendants, Miss Verla Johnson and Miss Vicki Broom.

Tom Jones Party

A suckling pig roasted on a barbecue in the garden was piece-de-resistance when Mr. Richard Cox entertained 40 university friends at his home on Victoria Ave. Party was in a "Tom Jones" theme with guests wearing appropriate costumes. Same theme was carried out with the refreshments and entertainment that featured lute and harp music.

The Burnside Road East home of their daughter, Mrs. Gray, has taken on something of the atmosphere of an art gallery, with collages, like one shown here, Mr. and Mrs. Baalam brought west with them this summer.

Keeps Eye on His Wife's Clothes

By PAT DUFOUR

Mrs. Arthur Baalam wishes her husband would stop admiring her clothes. Small wonder, for every time he does she's in danger of losing the dress off her back!

This is one of the hazards of living with a man who spends every available moment creating collage paintings from scraps of material.

Margaret Baalam quips, "I'm often tempted to wear all the clothes I own at one time—just so I can hang on to them. He can't wait for me to wear out dresses that he wants to cut up for his pictures!"

Even plastic tablecloths are in danger of being snipped up in this household!

The Baalams are here from North Battleford, Sask., on a holiday. Although the main reason for the trip is to see their daughter, Mrs. M. Gray and her two daughters, Rhonda and Maureen, the prolific artist is also sketching local scenes so that he can add a Vancouver Island flavor to his collages when he returns to Saskatchewan.

And, along with the rest of their luggage, came some collages, a few of which are receiving a great deal of attention in a downtown store display.

A native of London, England, Arthur Baalam emigrated to Saskatchewan 40 years ago.

He recalls, "I arrived with 20 dollars in my pockets. I was on a harvest excursion and was to work on a farm. Although I'd always loved art, I was too poor to do much about it."

His farming career came to an abrupt end when he was accidentally shot through both legs by a hunter.

He joined the staff of the Saskatchewan Mental Hospital in 1927 and there he was to find some outlet for his artistic leanings, working in the occupational therapy department.

He was also to find a wife. Margaret Baalam was a practical nurse at the hospital when they were married in 1930.

Mr. Baalam retired from the hospital in 1962. When he's not creating collages, he's painting in water colors or oils. Occasionally, he does a little upholstering for friends, a trade he mastered before he came to Canada.

What does Margaret Baalam do while her husband busies himself with his art?

Modestly she says, "Not much."

Her husband corrects this by telling of the "40 or 50 sweaters she knits each year, plus an imposing amount of needlepoint and crochetwork."

Although the Baalams have not set a deadline for their return to Saskatchewan, chances are it won't be too long before they head their car in the direction of home.

Arthur Baalam is "itching to get back to my paints again" while his wife is busy planning her own projects.

"I'm anxious to get back to my garden. That's one department that's all mine. Arthur's too busy—and gardening is one thing that I'm better at than he is."

Bride Carried White Roses On Her Wedding Day

A white Chantilly lace gown was worn by Linda Margaret Doyle when she exchanged vows with Patrick George Mead-Robins last Saturday. The bodice was styled with lily point sleeves and a neckline trimmed with seed pearls and sequins. The skirt was en train and the long net veil was held by a coronet of seed pearls.

White roses were in the bouquet.

Canon Hywel J. Jones officiated at the ceremony in St. Mary's Anglican Church. Coral-toned gladioli were used in decorations.

Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Doyle, 2952 Tudor Avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. George Mead-Robins, 3730 Craigmillar Road. Mr. Doyle gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride's four attendants were Mrs. Roy Hopland, matron of honor; Mrs. Raymond Coxon and Mrs. Robert Marwood, bridesmatrons, and Miss Kathleen Tuey, junior bridesmaid.

Mrs. Hopland chose a gold peau de soie floor-length sleeveless gown and the other attendants wore similarly styled gowns in sage green. All had matching braided coronets and carried white Leif Erickson gladioli.

Raymond Coxon was best man. Guests were ushered to pews marked with white daisies and bows by Winston Roberts, Fred Scriber and Edward Tyrrell.

A reception was held in the Ferndale Road home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Tyrell. An embroidered cloth with Oriental motif covered the bride's table which was centred with a three-tier cake. White candles in silver holders flanked the cake.

Mr. Tyrrell proposed the toast.

After a honeymoon up-Island the newlyweds will make their home in Victoria. For travelling the bride wore a dress of royal blue boucle, white boucle coat, a blue and green velvet and feather hat, black accessories and corsage of cornflowers and gardenias.

Couple To Live In Minneapolis

After a honeymoon motoring trip, first to Point-No-Point at Sooke and then to eastern Canada, Dr. and Mrs. Edward Mossop Donaldson will make their home in Minneapolis, Minn., where the groom has accepted a post doctoral fellowship in the faculty of medicine.

Canon Hywel Jones officiated at the ceremony in St. Mary's Anglican Church that united Judith Denise Selwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Selwood, 650 Mt. Joy Avenue, and the son of Mrs. M. E. Donaldson, Whitehaven, Eng., and the late Mr. Donaldson.

White gladioli, pink larkspur and blue scabiosa decorated the church. Pews were marked with white circlets, centred with scabiosa and tiny bows. Hymn, "Praise My Soul" was sung during the ceremony.

The bride was lovely in a model full-length gown of white taffeta overlaid with silk organza. A detachable fiesta court train swept from the waist. Gown was topped with a fitted jacket of Alencon lace that featured a scalloped neckline and waist accent and lily point sleeves. The re-embroidered shoulder-length veil of nylon illusion net misted from an organza rose. Stephanotis formed the cascade bouquet. She entered the church on her father's arm.

Full-skirted dresses of pink chiffon and toning rose headpieces were worn by maid of honor, Miss Norma McCurdy and bridesmaids, the Misses Isabel Ogle and Andrea Selwood, sister of the bride. They carried baskets of pastel-toned anenomes.

Wayne McNeal was best man and ushering guests were the bride's brothers, William and Russell Selwood.

W. Melville McCurdy proposed the toast to the bride at a reception in the home of her parents.

A three-tier wedding cake was circled with fern, tulle and stephanotis. Pale pink candles completed table decor. Rooms were decorated with arrangements of pastel-toned flowers.

Leaving on honeymoon, the bride wore a blue Donegal tweed suit, toning flowered pixie hat and cornflower corsage.

New Season's Color Choice

Audacious color mixtures will be seen in the new fashions for late 1964 and early 1965. The latest fabric collections include tones of red with yellow or green, green combined with russet, wine tones worn with brighter greens and pinks, and shades of stone with purple.

The appropriate colors for shoes and gloves to accompany these new fabrics are already on view. Leather tones for shoes worn with the gay tweed mixtures are a deep cold, earthy brown or "grege," a mixture of beige and brown. With the new soft greens the suggestion is a shoe leather in deep emerald with, as a contrast, a "grege" leather for gloves; or, alternatively, a deep-toned green for shoes with an almost matching glove leather.

Wine-toned leathers are also being made to accompany the winey-reds which are among the most popular of the new season's colors for clothes. To blend with the brown-greens made up into coats and suits of camel-hair, cashmere or tweed for country wear is a subtle mid-green shoe and glove leather. The russet browns call for a shoe color which approximates to sandalwood with gloves which either match or are made up in a much darker shade of brown; or else for shoes and gloves in an attractive dull yellow. The brilliant reds among the cloths and tweeds are matched by an equally gay shade of red for shoes with a light brown leather for glove contrast.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Anderson, right, leave this weekend to return to their home in Largs, Scotland, after a two-month visit here with Mrs. Anderson's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. R. McDonald, The Esplande. The Andersons came to Victoria with Mrs. McDonald, when she returned from a visit to Scotland. It was the first meeting for the sisters in 30 years. During the two months here the Scottish visitors have travelled to Los Angeles, San Francisco and Seattle, as well as seeing many points in British Columbia.

Breezes Inspire Fall-Winter Collection

BLOUSES—In principle all the blouses have a cagoule collar. These slide into the skirt with lowered waistline to the hips, often tightened by a little belt. Some long, fitted sleeves, but also bare arms. The cagoules are cleverly cut to drape as a collar according to feminine caprice. The skirts jut out in the back or have flat pleats either in front or back. The necklines are as modest as confidences. Some coats are collarless and close at the side in a movement as if carried "with the wind."

THE TWO-PIECE—The two pieces have uncluttered lines pleasing to the most difficult by their reserved elegance and the sureness of the cut.

DRESSES—The dresses, without fulness, like nevertheless the broken pleats at the corner, either in front or back, or pleated quills inserted at the bottom of the skirts. A slight blousing at the waist-line, some brandebourgs made in heavy cotton mesh close them without being heavy. For cocktails, dresses with deep decolletes take brilliant black. Soft wools, plump silks and laces are perfectly suited to the style.

Waterproof lacquer, imitating the scales of the serpent, lined with cashmere, covers a fine chantilly dress. For evenings, cashmere lined and matelasse in black taffeta over paillettted tulle.

MATERIALS—Special importance is given cashmere, the exquisite softness of which has been irresistable to Claude Riviere in dressy wear.

WOOLS with relief, boutonne tweeds, the large and warm jerseys, soft and mossy mohairs, pieds de poule in gay colors. For evening beaded fabrics, fine chantilly, velvet cut satins, pannes on mousseline, silks and crepes.

THE COLORS of this winter are tonic, colza yellows, the pine and laurel greens and spring green, the dawn shades and coq de roche.

Gifts In Cup

Gifts were in a decorated replica of a tea cup when Mrs. B. Gilchrist and Mrs. I. Borrowman entertained at a cup and saucer shower in the Quadra Street home of the latter in honor of Miss Joanne Dark. Rose corsages were presented to the honor guest and her mother, Mrs. Gordon Dark. Guests included many neighborhood friends. Miss Dark has also been entertained at a dinner in the Oak Bay Marina by fellow staff members at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Look Ahead Homemakers!

MONTREAL (CP) — Americans select personnel with them. Canada uses them for defence. They can write poetry and edit newspapers. "They" are computers.

Maureen Maguire of Montreal, an educational computer specialist, looks forward to the time when computers are widely used in the home, too.

At 26, she visits offices, factories and laboratories in Montreal and eastern Canada training companies' personnel in computer systems and programming methods.

Miss Maguire says that only the uses of human intelligence in applying functions for computers limits their application at all.

If a machine was fed the rules of "rhyme and metre and vocabulary, it could even turn out a poem. It might not be good poetry, but it would be a poem nonetheless," she says.

"It could edit your newspaper at the rate of 100,000 words every five minutes. Again, you would have to feed it the dictionary for spelling and the rules of punctuation and grammar. This would be quite a job, but the computer could handle it."

Miss Maguire forsees the use of computers in the home—but at present costs it would be too expensive for domestic uses, she says.

Mexican Honeymoon Follows This Ceremony

Rev. Albert King officiated at Saturday evening's ceremony in Metropolitan United Church when Glenys Ann Mee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Mee, 107 Island Highway, became the bride of the son of Mrs. Douglas Purden, 307 View Royal Avenue, and the late Mr. Purden.

Mr. and Mrs. Robin Curtis Purden are honeymooning in Mexico.

Pink and white gladioli decorated the church for the ceremony. Eric Boothroyd was organist, and soloist, Mrs. Vera Barclay, sang "The Lord's Prayer" and the "Wedding Prayer." She later sang the "Hawaiian Wedding Song" when guests met for a reception in All Saints' Church Hall.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown made by her matron of honor, Mrs. F. Bolton. It was of white satin and styled with a lace bodice, lily point sleeves and a floor-length skirt that swept back to a train. The waist-length veil misted from an aurora borealis coronet. Deep pink gladioli were in her bouquet.

The matron of honor and bridesmatron, Mrs. P. Perry, wore pink satin gowns highlighted with toning lace. Gladioli in two shades of pink were in their cascade bouquets.

Both the groom and his attendants, best man, Lorne Ross, and ushers, Terry Purden, George Devlin and Wesley Arden, wore white tuxedos.

J. Francois proposed the toast to the bride at the reception. Pale pink rosebuds trimmed the three-tier wedding cake.

As her going-away ensemble, the bride chose a pink wool boucle suit, black accessories and white orchid corsage.

Newlywed will make their home in Victoria.

Many guests came from Vancouver to attend the wedding. They included Mr. and Mrs. Ted Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. D. Nilson, Mrs. W. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. D. Campbell, Mrs. Bachelor, Mrs. F. Bolton, Miss B. Wurtele and Miss F. Thompson.

Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. G. Purden, Mrs. Pope, Mr. and Mrs. B. Cherry and Mr. D. Purden, all of Pemberton, B.C.; Mrs. E. Palmer, Burnaby; Mrs. M. Stone, Berkeley, Calif.; Mrs. D. Griffiths, Pender Island; Mrs. R. Noble, Terrace; Mr. and Mrs. S. Smyth, Dawson Creek, and Mr. and Mrs. M. Moore of Youbou.

Out-of-Town

Many out-of-town guests attended the Donaldson-Selwood wedding. They included Mrs. M. Longstaff, Mr. and Mrs. W. Biggin, Mrs. S. Morton and Duncan, Mrs. J. McEwen, Mr. Wayne McNeal, Miss Isabel Ogle, Mr. and Mrs. W. Melville McCurdy, all of Vancouver; Mrs. J. R. Williams, Prince Rupert; Mrs. B. Hale, Sidney; Miss Nancy Parker, Syracuse, N.Y.; Miss Isabel Strainer, Oliver, B.C.; Mrs. E. Lovett and Debbie, of New Westminster.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Thomas G. Simmons, 2184 Epworth Street, have announced the coming marriage of their daughter, Elizabeth Laura, to Mr. Robert Edgar Jobbins, son of Mrs. H. E. Jobbins, 252 Wildwood Avenue, and the late Mr. Jobbins. The wedding will take place on Saturday, September 12, at 7:30 p.m., in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. (Chevrons Studio.)

ANOTHER AWARD

Word has been received here this week that Miss Maureen Lawson, outstanding young ballet dancer, has been awarded a further scholarship to the Banff School of Fine Arts for next year. The award was made at the final performance of the ballet in Banff. Miss Lawson, and two other young Victoria dancers, Miss Ann Mackinnon and Miss Janet Smith, attending Banff this year (the first two on scholarships) all took part in the ballet performances of the school in Banff, Calgary and in Kelowna. They are pupils of Miss Wynne Shaw.

Duncan Couple Marks 50th Anniversary

The Duncan home of Mr. and Mrs. John Oliver Mitchell was scene of a reunion recently when the couple marked their golden wedding anniversary with an "at home" for family and friends. Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell were married in Victoria on August 20, 1914.

The Mitchells have one son, Alfred, also of Duncan, and four grandchildren, Ray, 24; Glenda 19; Fred, eight and Sid, seven.

Mr. Mitchell was born at St. Thomas, Ont., and Mrs. Mitchell (nee Ethel Gibson) came from St. Paul, Minn. Both arrived in Victoria at the turn of the century.

They left Victoria in 1923 and settled at Charter Siding where Mr. Mitchell worked as a logger. They lived at Shawnigan Lake from 1928 to 1934 then spent some time in Vancouver and at Salmon River before going to Duncan where they operated a cafe for 15 years until 1961.

SEW SIMPLE WITH Eunice Farmer

Dress Form Will Never Fit Exactly As Own Body

Dear Eunice Farmer:

I have just bought a dress form and know nothing about using one. Do you adjust the form to your exact measurements or the way you want your dress to fit when it is finished?

Mrs. I.B.

Dear Mrs. I.B.:

If you buy the kind that looks like wire mesh, it must be pressed closely to your body, for your exact measurement. Someone will have to fit this for you. The standard-type dress forms will never fit exactly as your own body because you cannot attain the same curves even though you may come close to the same measurements.

The fact that your body is not rigid, makes it possible to slip into a dress by moving shoulders, etc. You must remember that a dress form is rigid, and for this reason, it is impossible to do fitting unless you leave the shoulder and underarm open.

I personally feel that the most successful method of fitting, is to learn to adjust the pattern to your own measurements and by trial and error, learn to fit yourself.

Knit Notes

Mrs. J. W. gives us this terrific suggestion. She is knitting matching sweaters for her son and daughter. Her girl is the oldest, so she decided to use a zipper closing for the cardigan, instead of buttons. In this way, her son can grow into it beautifully without looking like "sister's" sweater.

WHEN Should the Teen-Age Girl Start Wearing a Bra?

It varies somewhere between 11 and 16. Her exact age is not important because no two children develop at the same speed. What does matter is . . . WHEN HER FIGURE FIRST BEGINS TO LOOK MORE ROUNDED . . . MORE FEMININE. She is a beTWEEN-ager. It is time to start thinking about a bra. By giving her a Bra as SOON AS HER FIGURE STARTS TO DEVELOP, you can help your daughter grow up to have a firm, perfectly-shaped bust. At this stage the still-forming tissue can be easily and irreparably damaged by strain. But the gentle support of a correctly fitting bra safeguards her future figure-beauty.

EDITOR FINED FOR ASSAULT ON PICKETER

SARNIA (CP)—John T. Fullerton, editor of the weekly Sarnia Gazette, was fined $1 when he was convicted in magistrate's court here Tuesday on an assault charge involving International Typographical Union (CLC) pickets in front of the strike-bound Gazette building.

At the same time, Magistrate William Pearson also ordered a dog removed from the picket line after Marcel Saddy, Gazette publisher, claimed the animal was intimidating non-striking Gazette employees.

Fullerton was charged with assaulting Eugene Boley June, 25, as he picketed the newspaper plant where Local 837 is on strike, seeking a first contract with management.

Meningitis Hits 73

FORT ORD, Calif. (AP) — Three new cases of meningitis were reported at Fort Ord Tuesday as authorities tightened restrictions in their fight against the disease. The latest cases brought to 73 the number of persons at this U.S. Army training post stricken by meningitis this year.

NEW TROPHY FOR NEW EVENT at North and South Saanich Agricultural Society's 96th annual fall fair on Labor Day weekend is this "big boy" held by horse show committee chairman, A. W. (Bud) Mesher. It is Victoria Daily Times perpetual challenge trophy for winner of the open cutting horse events. Top horses and riders from northwest states, B.C. and Alberta are entered in action-packed contests which will be seen on Saturday and Sunday of the three-day fair. In the contest, horse and rider "cut" a steer from a herd and drive it to the other end of the show ring, holding it from returning to its "friends" for two minutes. (Times photo.)

'Girls Town' At Uvic Fills Quickly

"Sorry, no vacancies!"

The filled up sign is out at University of Victoria's first pair of on-campus women's residences, due to open Sept. 14.

With the exception of two or three units left open for last minute situations, the 71 single and double accommodations in each of the Emily Carr and Margaret Newton halls are all assigned to students, housing co-ordinator Mrs. Phoebe Noble said today.

The 142 students who will live the 1964-65 academic session at Gordon Head—a step away from the other buildings on campus—include residence fellows, who are also women students.

The first two are Pat Loft and Pauline Owens, who will assist in settling the new girls and act as advisers.

A residence director, Mrs. Lola Mae Mora, and don Diana Nelson, complete the staff.

FULL PROGRAM

Girls accepted for residence must not only be from out of the city but carry a full academic program of five courses.

"We have tried to accommodate all third and fourth year applicants," Mrs. Noble said, "because we are trying to carry the academic climate right into the home, and for these girls the residences are their home at university."

This is to enhance the academic atmosphere, fostering discussion between students and scholars, a primary object of any university.

"People who live in residence, it has been found, do better academically. There are better marks and fewer failures," Mrs. Noble said.

She hopes the day will come when there are "a great many foreign students in residence" as well, which will do more to promote the full exchange of ideas between students.

Unlike some other budding universities or where residence programs are being modernized, Uvic will not yet permit the women to have male guests in their rooms.

HOUSE DAYS

It is felt that this would be for most of the girls an invasion of privacy. Many girls, as at home, are in the habit of moving from room to room in various stages of undress, or without makeup and hair twisted around curlers.

However, Mrs. Noble said, there will be open house days when guests will be allowed to inspect the buildings and visit the occupants. At other times men will be allowed in the lounge areas up to 11 p.m.

Meanwhile, the residents are expected to draw up their own code of behavior and they may be represented on the student council.

Mrs. Noble said the benefits of living in residence are many.

"These girls are the most privileged people on campus."

TEARS GUSHED when Joan Crawford, top, learned from newsmen that Olivia De Havilland had been hired to replace her in 'Hush, Hush, Sweet Charlotte.' Ill and in hospital, Miss Crawford, 56, said, "Wouldn't it have been nice if they had told me?" Producer Robert Aldrich said a letter had been sent to her. She said she didn't receive it. Miss Crawford has been sent to hospital three times since June with a respiratory virus infection.

'MP Can't Be Held to A Campaign Promise'

OTTAWA (CP)—An out-of-office politician who makes a promise in an election campaign can't be held to account for it if he gets elected and joins the cabinet.

This theory of political responsibility drew opposition laughter and shouts of derision in the Commons Tuesday when it was stated by Postmaster-General Jack Nicholson.

"This is the most outrageous proposition that I have ever heard advanced," said Opposition Leader Diefenbaker.

LAING ABSENT

Mr. Nicholson was answering opposition questions about an increase in rents at the Fraserview veterans housing project in Vancouver and a promise given in an election campaign by Arthur Laing, now the minister of northern affairs.

Mr. Laing is absent this week on an Arctic tour.

"I say there is a difference between a private member campaigning as a member of the opposition party trying to get elected, and a member of the government," said Mr. Nicholson, whose portfolio includes housing matters.

DIFFERENT

Later he added: "When a man speaks as a member of the government he speaks on behalf of the government. When a man speaks during the course of an election campaign about what he will try to do, that is another matter and different from speaking as a member of the government."

The Commons flurry arose from a decision by Mr. Nicholson and the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation not to postpone an increase in rents for the veterans' houses.

Harold Winch (NDP — Vancouver East) and George Chatterton (PC — Esquimalt-Saanich) said Mr. Laing, while campaigning in Vancouver South riding, had given written promises he would protect the veterans' interests.

Plowing Matches Set for October 17

The time and place have been chosen for this year's Saanich Plowing Association championship matches.

This will be the third year of the peninsula "down to earth" competitions, and an active organization committee expects an entry larger than ever.

The time of the event this year is Saturday, Oct. 17.

And the place is a flat 10-acre field on the farm of G. and R. Michell on Island View Road off the Pat Bay Highway.

Announcement of the plans was made by Joe Saville, president of the association, who said there will be 12 events.

Included in the contests will be the Saanich senior championship class from which the top two plowmen will be chosen to compete in the B.C. championships on the mainland.

OCT. 14 DEADLINE

Entries in all classes will be accepted up to Oct. 14 by the secretary of the association, Aubrey Temblett, 709 Wains Cross Road, Sidney.

In addition to cash and script prizes for the various events for horse plowing, and tractor single, two-furrow and three-furrow plowing, a special award will be made for the oldest and most interesting display of farm equipment. Last year two antique tractors went through their paces for the amusement and to the amazement of spectators.

CONVENTION SCUFFLE
'Get Out of Town' Judge Tells Nazis

ATLANTIC CITY (AP)—Eight members of the American Nazi party were given 90-day suspended sentences and ordered out of town today on charges resulting from a disturbance in front of Convention hall Monday.

The Storm Troopers, still in the uniforms and red swastika arm bands they wore when arrested, lined up in military fashion before Minicipal Judge F. Frederick Perone.

They pleaded guilty to charges of participating in a disturbing assembly and also molesting and interfering. They pleaded not guilty to a charge of failure to give a good account of themselves. Judge Perone ordered the men to leave town by 2 p.m. "and never return."

The eight men, from Arlington, Va., are followers of George Lincoln Rockwell but Rockwell was not with them.

They caused a disturbance Monday afternoon when they marched on the boardwalk in front of Convention hall, site of the Democratic national convention, with signs reading "President Johnson is a traitor."

A crowd of convention delegates on the boardwalk closed in on them and a melee continued for about 10 minutes before they were rescued by police.

Later Harry Blair, 27, a leader of the group, said they wanted to demonstrate "before President Johnson had betrayed the white majority."

Carpenters Plan Voters' List Sign-Up Drive

The carpenters' union Tuesday informed City Hall it will make an all-out drive to see its members register for civic elections this year.

Local 1598, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, wrote that it would like municipal help in making sure all its members qualify for a vote this December.

City Hall officials, bedevilled by voter apathy each year, said they were pleased with the union's move.

It will conduct an internal drive to convince all members who are not on the voters' lists now to register at their respective municipal halls by the Sept. 30 deadline.

Property owners do not have to register but persons renting living quarters or work quarters who had a vote last year must confirm in writing they are still qualified for a ballot.

Those who were not on the list last year must register at municipal offices.

Attendance Down

NANAIMO—Officials of Vancouver Island Exhibition are disappointed with the number of people who turned up.

Attendance at the fair, held here last Thursday, Friday and Saturday, was in the region of 10,000. This was 3,000 below last year's figure.

Cancel Opera Season

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Opera Association cancelled its 1964 season on Tuesday, 17 days before it was scheduled to open. Association president Robert Watt Miller blamed "failure in the negotiations for a labor contract" with Musicians' Union, Local 6.

AID PEACE DRIVE

80% Slash In Cyprus Force Urged

NICOSIA (AP)—Senior United Nations officials in Cyprus are weighing the idea of a whopping 80-per-cent cut in the 6,300-man peace-keeping force as a calming gesture to this divided island.

This surprising view has been forwarded to UN Secretary-General U Thant who now is considering it, UN and diplomatic informants said Tuesday.

It originated with Thant's senior political representative on the island, former Ecuadorian president Galo Plaza. He feels the UN cease-fire between the Turkish- and Greek - Cypriot communities can be maintained.

Rather than beef up the force, as its commander Gen. K. S. Thimayya is said to have urged, Plaza believes a smaller observer force would keep the peace and also be more conducive to a negotiated settlement, the sources said.

Plaza's views are expected to be seriously considered at UN headquarters in New York. Since the illness of mediator Sakari Tuomioja of Finland, Plaza has been acting for him on the island and has been in frequent consultations with President Makarios.

THANT WARNING

Makarios has opposed any UN peace force larger than 7,000 men. Thant on Aug. 13 requested more troops for the peace force. Canada has the largest contingent in the force, 1,130 men.

The UN mandate on Cyprus expires Sept. 26. Thant warned last Thursday that unless UN members came forward with $2,000,000 more, the whole force might have to be pulled out even before that date.

Informants say it has been presented to Thant that this is the time to reduce the force and get a new mandate stressing peaceful political aims.

Near-Victim Of Drowning Goes Home

DUNCAN — Clinton Cartwright, the 16-year-old boy who had to be rescued twice Monday from Cowichan River, was sent home Tuesday from King's Daughters' Hospital.

He suffered only shock after being rescued first by his brother and a friend who applied artificial respiration, and then by a policeman after he plunged back into the water as a result of shock.

FEATURE ATTRACTION at Luxton Fair Saturday will be a sky-diving exhibition performed by five members of Angel Sky Diving Club. They will land in centre of fair grounds. Picture above is a member making a perfect landing from a height of 7,000 feet.

FRIDAY, SATURDAY

Skydivers Ready For Luxton Fair

There's a hustling and bustling at the Luxton fair grounds today.

Work crews are making last minute preparations for the opening Friday of the annual two-day fall fair of the Luxton Farmer's Institute.

Feature attractions will be a sky diving exhibition, a horse show, baby show, 4-H club demonstrations and midway.

Exhibits are expected to be more numerous than last year's. These will include flowers, fruits, garden produce, sheep, goats, cattle, hobbycraft, needlecraft and home cooking.

"Our fair as a whole will be larger than last year's," said Art Kitely, a member of the fair committee. "There will be plenty of entertainment for both young and old."

The grounds will be opened to the public at noon, Friday, following the judging of exhibits. At 3 p.m. there will be a baby show, followed by a junior horse show at 6 p.m.

The fair queen will be chosen and crowned at a ceremony starting at 7 p.m. There are three contestants, Lenora Hamilton, Happy Valley School, Yvonne Smith, Glen Lake School, and Andrea Greskiw, Colwood.

The climax of the evening events will be a tug-of-war competition. Teams from five district fire hall's will take part in the sport. These include the View Royal, Colwood, Langford, Sooke and Metchosin.

On Saturday there will be a parade to the fair grounds starting from Belmont High School at 10 a.m., and later in the afternoon Lieutenant-Governor G. R. Pearkes will officially open the exhibition.

Afternoon activities will include a gymkhana sponsored by the Colwood Trail Riders at 2 p.m.; 4-H Club demonstrations at 2:30 p.m. and a sky diving exhibition starting at 4 p.m.

The Silk Angel sky diving team composed of four men and a woman will parachute from a height of 7,000 feet and land in the centre of the fair grounds.

The fair will close with a dance, starting at 9 p.m. in the fair ground's main hall.

Drink Blamed In Officer Impersonation

A man who resents police when sober and pretends to be one when's drunk will be sentenced Sept. 1 for impersonating a police officer.

Kenneth Arnold, 132 Ontario Street, pleaded guilty to the impersonation charge when he appeared in city court Tuesday.

Crown Prosecutor Peter Birkett said Arnold approached a woman who stopped her car on Fisgard Street July 25. Arnold told her, "Move over, honey, you are in no condition to drive," and then said he was a policeman.

The woman asked for his identification and he told her he had none, "only a revolver." He produced a pistol.

Mr. Birkett said Arnold told the woman driver he would let her go "if she went straight home." He then left her and walked up the street.

The woman drove to a uniformed constable, told him what happened and he chased and captured Arnold. When asked to produce the pistol, Arnold showed a starting pistol.

Arnold's lawyer said Arnold's problem is mainly due to alcohol. A psychiatrist who examined Arnold said his personality "changes completely" when he drinks.

He said Arnold resents authority when sober but when he drinks he assumes a phoney mantle of authority by pretending to be a policeman.

Magistrate William Ostler remanded Arnold for a psychiatrict report, remarking that his conduct appeared to be most contradictory.

Autopsy Ordered

WEST VANCOUVER (CP) — An autopsy was ordered Tuesday in an effort to determine the cause of death of Wallace Marks, 32, whose body was found near Lions Gate Bridge Monday.

Army of 4,000 To Guard Queen On Que. Visit

QUEBEC CITY (UPI) — An army of 4,000 men will be utilized to safeguard the Oct. 10-11 visit here of Queen Elizabeth II after threats were made against her life several months ago by extreme nationalist groups.

Seven police forces totalling 1,500 men will bear the brunt of the vast security operation, the most comprehensive in Canadian history. The balance of the security force will be made up of sailors and soldiers.

Police reinforcements will come from across Canada to join officers from Britain's New Scotland Yard; the Royal Canadian Mounted Police; municipal and provincial police; Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railway police and the Corps of Commissioners.

Specialists in every phase of police work will be in the provincial capital in case they are needed.

These were believed to include men trained in the handling of civil disobedience methods such as used by American Civil Rights groups.

Several months ago, the leader of a nationalist movement seeking the secession of the province from Confederation said the group's 7,000 members would be trained in non-violent civil disobedience tactics for the Queen's visit.

These would mean the carrying out of mass sit-down demonstrations in front of the Queen's motorized cortege as it winds its way through the provincial capital's narrow, twisting streets.

Pierre Bourgeault, president of the Rassemblement pour l'Independance Nationale, Quebec's largest separatist movement, told newsmen his followers would take precautions to see that the Queen was not "assassinated."

However, police officials are fearful "that some nut with a rifle might attempt to make himself a martyr."

Spectacular Fire Halts Gambling At Vegas Casino

LAS VEGAS (UPI)—A spectacular mult' million-dollar fire, one of the worst in the history of the Las Vegas resort strip, swept the Sahara Hotel casino Tuesday scattering 700 to 800 mid-day gamblers and guests.

The blaze forced closing of gaming tables Tuesday night—a rare instance here except in such major emergencies.

The fire burned through the ceiling above the casino, damaging gambling tables and causing extensive water damage.

Dealers scraped up most of the money and chips from the gaming tables when the first smoke seeped into the casino. A hotel spokesman said "some of the money was put in the fireproof steel vau't behind the cashier's cage and some of it was taken to previously designated areas in the hotel."

Mungo Fund Collection Boxes Set

Shoppers are expected to put the Mungo Martin Memorial Fund past its first milestone of $1,000 today as collection boxes open in two city department stores.

Boxes have been placed in the Hudson's Bay Co store in the ground floor ticket offices and in the T. Eaton Co. store on the third floor opposite the service desk.

As of Tuesday evening the drive for a cedar and copper memorial to the famed Indian carver was only $18 short of its first $1,000.

Total cost of the memorial will be $5,000.

Further proceeds are expected to come from a memorial booklet which may be made available to B.C. schools, the public and tourists, said Mrs. Nellie Tulles of the Indian Arts and Welfare Society advisory committee.

The committee will meet at 1 p.m. Thursday with provincial anthropologist Wilson Duff to further plans for a memorial booklet to the Kwariutl chief.

Donations are deductible from income tax and may be sent to The Daily Times.

MacPhail Has Candidate For Top Post

BELAIR, Md. (AP) — Larry MacPhail, who helped seat A. B. (Happy) Chandler as baseball commissioner nearly 20 years ago, has a personal choice for the sport's No. 1 man to succeed Ford Frick.

He is Milton Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore and younger brother of former President Eisenhower.

"The next commissioner absolutely must be a man of national prominence and an executive," said MacPhail. "We have just that kind of man here in Maryland.

"I don't know whether Dr. Eisenhower even would consider it, but I believe he would make an outstanding commissioner."

Frick, whose term expires a year from September, announced his intentions to retire several weeks ago.

DUFFER SWINGS INTO HOT STREAK

Jack Moffat, a No. 1 duffer he says when it comes to golf, is in the golf business in a big way.

Jack served an apprenticeship under his father as a painter and after this he went into instrument work at HMC Dockyard.

All the while he was puttering around at his hobby repairing golf clubs.

"Then as I went around to the different clubhouses and talked to the pros I could see the need arising for display equipment," said Jack.

It wasn't long before his hobby crowded out his occupation.

IN GARAGE

Three years ago he started the Van Isle Golf Service as a full-time business in his garage. Now he is looking for a new location and a larger building.

Jack doesn't believe in jumping into a new business on speculation but he believes there is still lots of room for private enterprise.

He knew there was a market for what he had to sell, before he gave up a regular pay cheque.

Jack says he and his two assistants, Andy Hudock and Jerry Dunn, are the only people in the golf repair business, except for manufacturers and golf club pro shops, this side of Winnipeg.

Orders for golf carts, display equipment and golf club repairs, from all over Vancouver Island and the mainland, keep him busy up to 20 hours a day on some occasions.

Ninety per cent of his work is now done for wholesalers, and before the year is out he hopes to see his product distributed all across Canada.

Not only does Jack make an old golf club look like new, he can also improve a man's game.

"Sometimes when a man is skying the ball, for example, we can alter the angle of his club just enough to correct it," said Jack.

Ceremonial Duties Deplete Top Unit

OTTAWA (CP)—The 2nd Battalion, Canadian Guards, has been practically immobilized as a combat infantry unit because of ceremonial and other duties, informants say.

Strength of the battalion now is down to 570 all ranks. Full complement of an infantry battalion is slightly more than 900.

The battalion, stationed at Camp Petawawa, Ont., has been doing so many odd jobs this summer that it was unable to take part in brigade exercises at Camp Gagetown, N.B.

Besides providing the "public duties detachment" which carries out changing the guard ceremony for tourists on Parliament Hill every day, the battalion has sent reinforcements to the 1st Battalion of the regiment at Picton, Ont., now Canada's standby unit for United Nations duty, and provided trials teams for the armored and infantry schools and demonstration squads.

The changing the guard ceremony was started in 1960 as a tourist attraction at the urging of the city of Ottawa. Thousands of persons watch the ceremony every day.

It is understood that Defence Minister Hellyer would like to shed this ceremonial duty by the battalion as an economy measure but doesn't know how he can do it.

However, he did disband the RCA's Golden Hawks, a premier attraction at air shows and fairs across Canada throughout the summer and fall.

McKinley, Ralston Keep Monopoly

CHESTNUT HILL, Mass. (AP) — Chuck McKinley and Dennis Ralston ran through Britain's Mike Sangster and Graham Stillwell, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4, in 50 minutes Monday and won their third U.S. National Doubles Tennis Championship.

McKinley, 23, and Ralston, 2, became the first team in 18 years to win three titles and retire the Silver Bowl, emblematic of the championship.

They have been in the finals four straight years, previously winning in 1961 and 1963.

Sons May Get Gov't Offer On Homesites

A government source said Tuesday that Sons of Freedom Doukhobors camped in Kent municipality may be offered Crown land on which to settle in the Fraser Valley.

Between 300 and 350 men, women and children are camped near the federal government Agassiz Prison, where a number of Sons are jailed for acts of terrorism. Quarters used by the families are a fire and health menace.

It is suggested by a member of the government who preferred to remain anonymous that homesites — on special terms — may be granted to the Doukhobors, who trekked from their previous homes in the Kootenays last year.

NO ACTION

The provincial government took no action July 15 when the Sons failed to evacuate the campsite as ordered.

It was learned via the attorney-general's department that officials have looked at Crown land in the area with a view to setting up residential sites.

Doukhobors have not yet been approached on the matter and it appears the government awaits their reaction to its plan. "Reasonable financial terms" would have to be offered, it is suggested.

A third party would be enlisted to negotiate in order to keep active government participation to a minimum.

Doukhobors in the Kootenays accepted a similar scheme, which was successful. Many of those living in the Fraser Valley have found employment.

BENNETT COOL

Premier Bennett evidently does not share whatever government enthusiasm there is for the plan. He said Monday he did not think it was a good idea.

"I don't think it is good to have them housed in one area," he is quoted as saying. He reiterated a previous statement aimed at the federal government:

"It was a poor idea to have their jail there in the first place."

Emergency Declared In S. Rhodesia Area

Johnson Named Tonight

ATLANTIC CITY (UPI)—Democrats sought to suppress further public squabbling over southern convention seats today and give Lyndon B. Johnson an unprecedented nomination by acclamation for the presidency.

Delegates to the 34th Democratic national convention were set to do this tonight and also to ratify Johnson's choice for a vice-presidential running mate in the campaign against the GOP's Barry M. Goldwater and William E. Miller.

The president still had not identified his choice for the No. 2 post, but a new development

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson—possibly tipping his hand on his choice for a running mate—said today he expects to summon Senator Hubert Humphrey to the White House in the afternoon to exchange views on the vice-presidency.

today made it practically certain it's to be Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey.

The man considered most likely to get the vice-presidential nod, if Humphrey didn't, bowed out and in a telegram to Johnson urged selection of the Senate Democratic whip.

'RIGHT MAN'

The telegram was sent by Humphrey's fellow Minnesota senator, Eugene J. McCarthy. He told the president that by Johnson's own standards Humphrey was the right man for the role.

In Washington, Johnson's press secretary, George E. Reedy, had "nothing to say" about McCarthy's telegram. But few delegates had any doubt the choice would be Humphrey, the 53-year-old former small-town druggist who became mayor of Minneapolis and went on to the Senate and a place of power in national politics.

That much was set. But still smouldering was the controversy over Mississippi and Alabama which turned Tuesday night's session into one of the most chaotic of modern times, and all on national television.

To avoid possible repetition of the unruly scene, which featured a boycott by Mississippians and a takeover of their seats by rival Freedom Party members, Democratic leaders were considering bypassing the normal roll call on the presidential nomination.

RARE PROCEDURE

Instead they planned to give the party's top honor to Johnson by acclamation, a rarely used procedure which would avoid the necessity for a roll call and an official ruling on the status of the Alabama and Mississippi delegations.

2 DIE AT PEACE DAM

HUDSON HOPE, B.C. (CP)—Two men were believed killed today in an underground blast in a drainage tunnel at the Peace River hydro project in this northeastern British Columbia community.

An electrician was killed when he went into the tunnel to connect lighting before the miners returned to work and the explosion took place. The second man was overcome by fumes attempting to rescue him. Three men standing outside the tunnel were injured.

JAPANESE OFFICERS supervise securing of Teruzuki, flag ship of Rear-Admiral Kazutoshi Kuhara whose training squadron arrived at Esquimalt today for a four-day visit. Pictured behind the Rising Sun flying from the Teruzuki's jackstaff is the Ariake, a Fletcher Class destroyer on loan to Japan from the United States. Other Japanese ships which tied up at B and C Jetties in HMC Dockyard are Makinami and Yugure. The four ships will be open to the public Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon before they conclude their visit here early Sunday. See also Page 21. (Bill Halkett photo.)

Two Nationalist Groups Banned

SALISBURY (Reuters)—A state of emergency was declared in a Southern Rhodesian African township today and a government ban placed on the country's two main African nationalist organizations.

Police and troops ringed Highfield township just before dawn today as Governor Sir Humphrey Gibbs declared the area in a state of emergency.

Some territorial national guard troops were called out and all Africans in the district were being screened.

Highfield, about eight miles from Salisbury, has been the scene of continued violence since early this year. Several people have been killed in fights between the rival African nationalist factions.

Houses, cars and buses have been stoned and set on fire. Molotov cocktails have been thrown into houses and individuals have been attacked with stones and knives.

Shortly after the emergency was declared the British colony's minister of law and order, Desmond Lardner-Burke, announced in a radio broadcast that Southern Rhodesia's two rival nationalist parties, the People's Caretaker Council and the Zimbabwe African Nationalist Union, had been banned.

Lardner-Burke said the state of emergency in Highfield, "the scene of considerable lawlessness for some time," would last for three months.

'ARREST ALL THUGS'—

He said the object of the declaration was to arrest all "thugs and criminals."

The police were only concerned with weeding out lawless elements and were in the township to protect those who had been the innocent victims of recent unrest, he said.

Leader of the now banned PCC is Joshua Nkomo, who is in a restriction camp in a remote area with most of his chief aides.

ZANU is headed by Rev. Ndabangingi Sithole, a former chief lieutenant of Nkomo. He is presently awaiting trial on charges under the Law and Order Maintenance Act.

They had been banned because their activities "endangered public safety, disturbed and interfered with public order, and were otherwise prejudicial to the security of Southern Rhodesia."

Youths Protest Attempt to Ban Newspaper

SALISBURY (Reuters)—Some 50 white and African university students today were arrested for demonstrating outside the Southern Rhodesian Parliament buildings.

The students were demonstrating against a government motion to ban The Daily News, one of Salisbury's two daily newspapers.

The protest came as Parliament debated the motion.

The Daily News, with a circulation of 15,000—mostly Africans—supports African nationalism. It is owned by the group controlled by Lord Thomson, Canadian-born British newspaper magnate.

The motion was presented Tuesday by Desmond Lardner-Burke, minister of law and order, under the Law and Order Maintenance Act which provides for a banning order where a publication "is held to be contrary to the interests of public safety or security."

Deryk James, the newspaper's managing director, and Eugene Wasson, the editor, in a joint statement Tuesday night said they were "profoundly shocked by this news." They said The Daily News "has never, repeat never, urged or encouraged subversive activities."

Sir Roy Welensky, leader of the opposition Rhodesia Party, said the ban "could have serious repercussions."

John Parker, president of the Rhodesian Guild of Journalists, described it as "the first major step in an endeavor to reduce all news media to the status of government propaganda instruments."

The guild at an emergency meeting Tuesday night agreed "positive action" should be taken immediately.

ROUTED 'ROM BED

Masked Pair Ties Up, Robs Bronfmans

TARRYTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Two masked robbers tied up Samuel Bronfman of Montreal, president of the Seagrams whisky firm, and his wife in their mansion here today and escaped with an undisclosed amount of cash and jewelry, police said.

Police said one man wearing a handkerchief over his face and another with a stocking mask entered Bronfman's home through a first-floor window.

Police said they then routed the Bronfmans from bed at gunpoint, tied them up in an adjoining bathroom and fled after taking cash and jewelry. Detectives declined to give an estimate of how much jewelry and cash were taken. They said the house was not ransacked.

Bronfman is president of Distiller Corporation — Seagrams Limited.

MAKARIOS TARGET OF COUP?

NICOSIA (Reuters)—Three Nicosia Greek-language newspapers today published reports claiming a coup against President Makarios—allegedly prepared by NATO imperialists"—had come to the knowledge of the Cypriot government.

The reports said the coup, to have taken place last Friday, provided for the seizure of the presidential and archbishop's palaces, the arrest of Makarios and the assumption of power by "a group faithful to the Americans."

Spokesman for the U.S. embassy and the British high commission declined to comment.

But an informed British source said the reports were "ludicrous." Sources close to the government said the government "sees no serious cause for anxiety."

'Situation Very Serious' Says Troubled Khanh

By ROY ESSOYAN

SAIGON (AP) — Maj.-Gen. Nguyen Khanh failed today to convince fellow members of the ruling revolutionary military council that they should quit politics to prevent new riots.

"We are not even close to a decision," said Lt.-Gen. Tran Thien Khiem, one of the most powerful officers of the 60-man junta.

Fresh bloodshed in the north attended deepening of the political crisis that led Khanh to resign Tuesday as president, junk a controversial constitution and pledge a new deal for this Communist-menaced republic.

A source close to the junta said the question of electing a new national leader—part of an arrangement with the leaders of student and Buddhist demonstrators — was not even discussed.

MORE THREATS

Before the five-hour meeting broke up, student leaders threatened new mass demonstrations unless the military men returned to fighting the war, opening the government to civilians.

Khanh called the situation serious.

He appeared tired and tense. Speaking alternately in Vietnamese and English, he said:

"The situation is very serious. We men in Vietnamese army must take time to think about the problem. The subject is so important we have to be very careful so we meet again tomorrow and then we will see what results."

Buddhist rioters thronged in and around Da Nang, 380 miles northeast of Saigon, for the third straight day and South Viet-

'HOLY WAR' MOB BEATS 4 PATIENTS TO DEATH

SAIGON (UPI)—A mob broke into a hospital operated by an American doctor at Da Nang and beat four patients to death.

The doctor, who was not injured, said he had heard that a Roman Catholic priest also had been beaten to death today by another of the gangs roaming the streets of Da Nang.

The victims in the hospital were among a dozen under treatment there for beatings received during rioting in a "holy war" between Buddhists and Catholics.

Hurricane Threatens Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Cleo made a northward turn today and aimed directly for the southeast Florida coast. The weather bureau issued gale warnings for south Florida and the western Bahamas.

The Florida warning area extended from Sombrero Light, 40 miles northeast of Key West, to Fort Lauderdale on the lower east coast of the Florida mainland and included populous Miami.

Cleo left at least 64 dead in her wake as she thrashed across central Cuba toward the Florida Straits.

Coming off the north coast of Cuba, over the warm waters of the Florida straits, the hurricane could quickly regain some of its lost power. Its winds, which hit 140 miles an hour over Haiti, dropped to 75 over Cuba.

The hurricane, which killed at least 14 on the island of Guadalope and an estimated 50 in the mountain of Haiti, moved into Cuba Tuesday afternoon.

A businessman in Les Cayes on Haiti's southern peninsula radioed to Port au Prince that a hospital had been destroyed by the storm and 50 bodies found. Les Cayes was still in the process of rebuilding from the effect of Hurricane Flora which devastated the island and took thousands of lives.

More than 10,000 persons were evacuated from exposed areas on Cuba's southwestern coast. There were no reports of casualties.

LONDON (Reuters) — The British Aircraft Corporation has refused for a second time to sell any of its new long-range VC-10 jet airliners to Cuba, a corporation spokesman here said today.

Ban Called Irresponsible

LONDON (Reuters) — Lord Thomson, owner of the Salisbury Daily News which the Southern Rhodesian government seeks to ban, said here today he is sure such action would not be taken by a responsible Commonwealth government.

In a statement to the Commonwealth Press Union, the Canadian-born newspaper publisher said such a ban "would be a blow to the freedom of the press all over the world."

Disease Toll Grows Daily

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Houston residents sought today to stamp out the mosquito carrying sleeping sickness as the number of suspected cases rose to 216.

The disease, also known as Encephalitis, has been blamed for 18 deaths in 30 days. It is carried by the female culex mosquito.

While Houston authorities used mass methods of spraying to kill mosquitoes, they also offered free insecticide to individuals.

Meanwhile, a helicopter and 40 trucks were spraying ditches and bayous—prime mosquito breeding places.

Police Catch Top Fugitive

MONTREAL (CP) — Adolphe Krachesky, alias Maurice Deschamps, Canada's most wanted criminal, was captured today as he sipped a cup of tea in a midtown St. Hubert Street apartment.

Working on a tip, an armed four-man Montreal police squad burst into Krachesky's apartment at 8:30 a.m., and made the arrest without incident.

The 44-year-old Krachesky escaped from Kingston Penitentiary last April 18, where he was serving a life sentence for armed robbery.

'Belly Landing'

KANSAS CITY (UPI) — A Trans-World airliner made a "belly landing" today on the main runway of municipal airport, but the 130 passengers escaped injury. The landing gear collapsed as the Boeing 707 jet came down on the runway and skilled several hundred feet on its belly.

Southern States Quit Democrats

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The state's top political leaders say the walkout by the Mississippi regular delegation from the Democratic convention Tuesday severs the state's connections with the national party.

"There can be little question of how Mississippi and her sister states of the Deep South will cast their ballots this November," said former governor Ross Barnett, obviously predicting that Republican nominee Barry Goldwater would carry the state.

But Barnett, who had earlier said he leaned toward Goldwater, did not mention the Arizona Conservative by name Tuesday night as he commented on the refusal of the state's regular delegation to accept the compromise worked out over the challenge by the largely Negro Mississippi Freedom Democrats.

Mississippians, said Barnett, "can forget about working things out within the party of our fathers and begin to chart a realistic course of political action."

The convention credentials committee called for the state's all-white, regular delegation to sign a loyalty pledge to support President Johnson in November and accorded at-large delegate status to two Freedom Democrat leaders.

BOY CHAINED TO DECK AS POLICE JUST LOOK

BALTIMORE (AP) — A ship's captain who ordered a 16-year-old Turkish stowaway chained to the deck rail says the boy will be flown back to Istanbul.

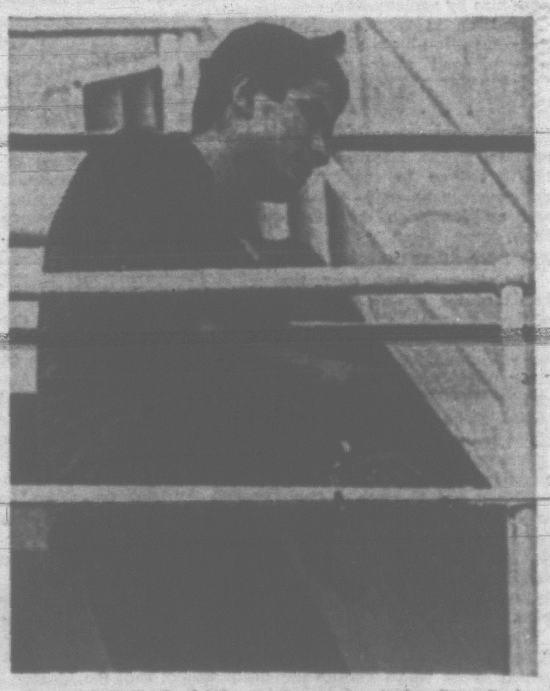

Vuseyin Tunay was discovered aboard the freighter Green Bay after it left Turkey, bound for Baltimore.

Capt. F. L. Winborne said Tunay was allowed freedom of the ship until it entered Chesapeake Bay Monday.

"We had to put him in chains," said the captain, because Tunay had escaped three times after being handcuffed to a stateroom stanchion.

When the ship docked at the Bethlehem Steel Company, longshoremen protested to company police about the boy being in irons. Police said they lacked jurisdiction to interfere.

Kenneth Graves of the Hinkins Steamship Agency said he has tried to turn the boy over to immigration authorities. The immigration officials refused to take him, saying it's their job to keep stowaways from reaching shore.

NEW 'TERROR CURE'

Alcoholics Scared Dry

HAMILTON (CP)—Queen's University in Kingston is using the "most terrifying" treatment for alcoholism with some success, Staff Psychiatrist George D. Scott said Tuesday.

"It's the most horrible thing a person could wish to see," he said as he described the Scoline treatment to delegates attending an alcohol education eminar at McMaster University.

Dr. Scott said the patient is injected with the drug which paralyzes the upper half if his body and slowly suffocates him.

While the patient is struggling to breathe, he is given a whiff of rye whisky. The treatment continues until the patient is almost gasping his last and then an anesthetist gives him oxygen.

IN INFANCY

Dr. Scott said the idea of the treatment, which he described as still in its infancy, is to associate the smell of alcohol with pain and the feeling of being close to death.

"There have been cures and failures," he said. "Some switch addictions, others turn to beer and others start drinking heavily all over again.

He said 50 years is the maximum an alcoholic can expect to live. Alcohol is a poison which progressively damages the body and produces illness.

Ont. Securities Chief Denies Wrongdoing

TORONTO (CP) — John H. Campbell, suspended as director of the Ontario Securities Commission following disclosure of a possible conflict of interest involving a mining company the OCS is investigating, said today he did nothing "illegal, immoral or unethical."

"I think it will be cleared up," he said.

Mr. Campbell, 50, was suspended Tuesday by Attorney-General Arthur Wishart who said he feels the evidence is "pretty strong" that there was a conflict of interest.

Mr. Campbell said his suspension was based on evidence he himself gave the commission. He did not specify what the information was, but said it was about Windfall Oils and Mines Ltd.

The price of Windfall shares rose to $5.60 from 56 cents in July on rumors of a rich find near Timmins, then collapsed after it was announced no ore was found on its property.

SEVERAL INQUIRIES

Several investigations, including a one-man royal commission are under way because of the stock's performance.

When Mr. Campbell was appointed 10 months ago to the newly created post he was described as the chief watchdog of the Ontario financial community. His duties included making initial decisions on investigations of individuals and companies in the securities business and directing the work of the commission's staff of investigators.

The suspension is the first result of an investigation ordered into the company by the attorney - general July 28, shortly after the market price of the shares fell. Mr. Wishart said the suspension would remain in effect until "this aspect of the investigation has been completed."

Mr. Campbell said in an interview that his suspension was the only action the attorney-general could have taken under the circumstances, but added that he expects it to be lifted once the investigation ends.

REFUSES TO COMMENT

He declined to comment on whether he was trading in the company's shares.

Mr. Campbell said he has seen George MacMillan, Windfall president, and his wife, constantly in both social and official capacities since he met them at the prospectors and developers association convention early in March.

Mr. Campbell said he had acted as mediator between the TSE and Mr. MacMillan after the Exchange demanded a statement on drilling results from Windfall and threatened suspension of the shares if a statement were not forthcoming.

"The MacMillans couldn't have cared less whether the company was suspended or not," he said. "I felt that suspension would have done a great deal of damage to the shareholders."

Mr. Campbell, 50, said he was confident the public will learn that he has done nothing of which to be ashamed.

Mr. Wishart said news of Mr. Campbell's suspension had been forwarded to Mr. Justice Arthur Kelly, a one-man royal commission appointed early this month by Premier John Robarts to inquire into the trading in Windfall and two other speculative mines with claims in the Timmins area where Texas Gulf Sulphur Company made a major base metal discovery this spring.

The value of Windfall shares, now selling at 51 cents, fell more than $3 in one day after Mr. MacMillan announced the drilling on company property produced no valuable find.

A. R. Dick, associate deputy attorney - general, said the investigation into Mr. Campbell's activities is "proceeding as quickly as possible" in an effort "to get the facts straight."

TEACHERS' STRIKE THREATENS

REGINA (CP) — More than 30,000 elementary public school students in three major Saskatchewan cities may find their classrooms empty of teachers when summer holidays end Monday.

About 1,200 elementary school teachers in Regina, Saskatoon and Prince Albert say they are being penalized in wages solely because they teach elementary school rather than high school. They say elementary teachers and high school teachers with the same training and experience should get essentially the same wages.

The teachers have voted to strike if the school boards will not recognize this principle.

CENTURY-OLD SHOT

Navy Finds Life In Museum Piece

By HUMPHRY DAVY

One of three 100-year-old cannon balls presented to the Maritime Museum of B.C. Tuesday had to be de-activated by Royal Canadian Navy divers before becoming a museum piece.

The cannon ball, fired by the Royal Navy at the Indian village of Ahousat on the west coast of Vancouver Island, was found to be still dangerous when examined by navy ordinance officers in Esquimalt.

Navy divers disarmed the old ball.

The cannon ball and two others was presented to Lieutenant - Governor G. R. Pearkes when he visited the Indian village aboard the destroyer escort HMCS Margaree in May. The Indians asked that they be placed in the museum.

Cmdr. J. L. Panabaker, commanding officer of the Margaree, presented the cannon balls to the museum on behalf of Mr. Pearkes.

FIRST ONE SINCE

In making the presentation, Cmdr. Panabaker recalled that HMCS Margaree was the first warship to visit Ahousat since the British Navy shelled the Indian village for an act of piracy. That was 100 years ago.

The Ahousats in 1864 murdered the crew of the trading sloop Kingfisher in Clayoquot Sound, plundered the vessel and sank it.

FIRED ON SHIPS

HMS Sutlej and the Devastation were sent from Victoria to apprehend those responsible for the murder but the Ahousats refused to turn over the wanted men. They even fired upon the ships.

The Sutlej and the Devastation punished the Indians by destroying the longhouses and canoes at Ahousat as well as other Indian dwellings in nearby villages.

The action of the two vessels may have saved the colony from an Indian war as B.C. natives at the time were resentful at the whites settling in B.C.

Arms Race Deplored By Pope

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP)—Pope Paul warned today that "some of those basic principles on which peace must be founded" are crumbling.

In an impassioned appeal against an arms race, the pontiff begged men to remember what caused two devastating world wars, and deplored what he called a return to the "illusory concept that peace can only be based on the terrifying power of extremely homicidal weapons."

Pope Paul said the world is seeing a rebirth of perilous concepts, that the "concept of the sacred and inviolable character of human life" has been obscured.

The Pope spoke to his weekly general audience at his summer residence south of Rome.

Pope Paul said his thoughts were stirred by the current anniversary commemorations of the start of the First and Second World Wars.

Blood Bomb Hurler Gets Offer of Job

VANCOUVER (CP)—A car firm here has offered David Cowlishaw a job because "he has got to feed his family."

Carsean Tanbergg, manager of Sargent Sales and Services Ltd., said Tuesday he had wired Cowlishaw in an Ottawa jail $77 with which to pay his fine and damages.

Cowlishaw was apprehended Monday night when he threw a carton of animal blood onto the floor of the House of Commons to underline what he called the unjust treatment of Calvin Macdonald of Ottawa, who claimed he was an RCMP undercover agent in the Communist party.

He was fined $25 and damages.

When asked why his firm was offering a job to Cowlishaw, a former newspaper reporter, Mr. Tanbergg said Cowlishaw has "obligations to fulfill, and his family is not exactly living in luxury, I am sure, because of Mr. Cowlishaw's unstinting efforts to help people."

Mr. Tanbergg said he was a close personal friend of the Cowlishaw family.

Mr. Cowlishaw has sacrificed most of his time and almost all of his personal earnings in his venture to help people who have been wronged," said Mr. Tanbergg.

COMMITTEE COOL-OFF

Tories Step Up Flag Bid

OTTAWA (CP) — Conservative MPs are stepping up their new campaign in the Commons to persuade the government to refer the flag issue to a special parliamentary committee in an effort to break the summer-long deadlock.

As the House plodded through its 14th sitting day on the maple leaf flag resolution Tuesday, Conservative after Conservative argued that a small all-party committee would cool off the steaming debate.

"If the House agrees," said Reynold Rapp (PC — Humboldt-Melfort-Tisdale), "a compromise could be reached. There could be set up a committee composed of representatives of all parties.

". . . The committee should be empowered to recommend a flag and have it approved by the House."

If the committee failed to agree unanimously on a flag design, the issue should be taken to the people in a national plebiscite.

The committee proposal was first aired last week by Opposition Leader Diefenbaker. He suggested that a 15-man committee should be able to find a solution to the flag impasse if it were given about two months.

WANT LIMIT

Prime Minister Pearson and leaders of the three small parties generally agreed with the idea, but held that a definite debating limit should be tied in to ensure a vote on the issue.

A total of 122 speeches have been made so far in the debate, 56 of them on a Conservative sub-amendment for a plebiscite.

The Conservatives have made 79 speeches, many of them speaking twice, and 27 Liberal MPs have spoken. The splinter parties have put up 16 speakers.

Jean-Louis Frenette (SC — Portneuf) said the government should resort to the infamous closure rule if necessary to end "this sterile discussion."

Conservatives denied they are conducting a filibuster. They argued that any national flag must command wide public acceptance and not be connected with any political party in particular.

Terry Nugent (PC — Edmonton Strathcona) said few Canadians are impressed by "this three-leaf monstrosity . . . this pure political gimmick."

"Have you ever tried to explain three maple leaves to an Eskimo who has never seen a tree?" asked Gene Rheaume (PC — Northwest Territories).

"What in God's name, we in the Territories ask, is all this about?"

A. M. A. McLean (L—Charlotte), the only government speaker Tuesday, said he fought under the Union Jack in the First World War but would like a new flag to symbolize Canada's future.

Crews Stand By for Balloon-Logging Take-off

NEW SYSTEM of yarding logs by balloon will be operationally tested at Sproat Lake soon when balloons like ones in artist's sketch arrive here from England.

A balloon which may give a lift to the world's logging industries will undergo its first full-scale operational tests on Vancouver Island.

The balloon is a helium-inflated device which logging companies hope will drastically decrease costs of transporting cut logs out of the woods.

Three balloons are on their way from England to the Sproat Lake Division of MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Ltd.

Engineers and loggers will try out the balloon-logging concept under actual working conditions.

If the tests prove it is more economical than existing methods of in-woods transport, thousands of acres of B.C. timber now economically inaccessible may be opened to the forest industry.

The balloons are rigged to one end of a log and lift it off the ground so the log can be moved through the forest.

Currently huge mobile steel spars travel over logging roads to cutting areas.

The tall spars are anchored and logs are "yarded out" to the loading point on a skyline cable.

But as valley and sidehill timber becomes harvested, the logging industry has to move further up the mountain sides.

There steeper and rockier slopes make road construction for the mobile spars prohibitively expensive.

Balloon logging will require minimum road construction, provide the lifting effect of a skyline system, eliminate expensive cable rigging and permit the use of light lines and fast yarders.

If it works.

A Swedish experimental group has carried out some tests in balloon logging, and engineers have calculated the balloon's likely abilities.

From this preliminary study it is believed that the balloon's aerodynamic qualities will cause it to behave like a kite—that is, face into the wind and rise with it, providing a greater lift factor, in wind up to speeds of 50 miles per hour.

The balloons are expected to overcome most physical obstacles in rugged terrain.

With one end lifted, logs will not get hung-up, will break less frequently, do less damage to soil and standing trees, and pose less danger to logging crews.

At Sproat Lake, engineers and loggers will perfect the rigging system and operational techniques, then carry out detailed time studies to determine the exact operating cost.

Patent holder on the balloon logging concept, the Vancouver firm of Air-Reel Transport Ltd., hopes that other advantages of the system will appear once full operational efficiency is reached.

Logging crews should have more flexibility in harvesting desired species and grades; there should be less high-cost road mileage required; greater timber volumes should come over existing roads; and many stands of wind-thrown, disease-ridden and insect-killed timber should become accessible.

INJURED MAN RELAYED TO HOSPITAL

A Cobble Hill man was rushed by speedboat, ferry and ambulance to St. Joseph's Hospital here Tuesday after being hit on the head by a wind-blown sapling.

Alfred Flick, 67, was visiting a logging site on Bold Bluff, Salt Spring Island, when the accident occurred.

Salt Spring Island resident Stan Tyerman gave first aid while his wife walked two-and-a-half miles to Burgoyne Beach for assistance.

A speedboat rushed Mr. Flick to the government float at Burgoyne Bay, where he was loaded into an ambulance to take him to the Fulford ferry.

His condition in St. Joseph's is fair.

City Man Questioned About Fresno Holdup

Vancouver Pair Facing Charges

A 24-year-old Victoria man is being held by police in Fresno, Calif., for investigation in connection with an armed hold-up of a jewellery store.

John Wayne Thomsen, Collingwood Court Apartments, 975 Fairfield Road, was arrested earlier this week by police in San Francisco acting on information from the Fresno police department.

A spokesman for Fresno police said this morning that word to pick up Thomsen went out after two Vancouver persons were arrested when they tried to holdup a jewellery store at gun-point.

GIRL ARRESTED

Under arrest and charged with the armed robbery are George F. Jackson, 28, and Cheryl Columbus, a 19-year-old girl, both of Vancouver.

Fresno police said it has been established that they travelled to California in company with Thomsen and an investigation is now being made to find if he was involved with them in the armed robbery attempt.

IN U-DRIVE

Fresno police said the trio went to California in a U-drive car hired from a Victoria company. They did not identify the company here from which the car was hired.

Police said that Jackson and the girl hired a U-drive in Fresno that was found a block away from the scene of the hold-up. Police arrested the pair inside the store.

Thomsen was arrested next day in San Francisco.

Wonder No More

By JOHN MIKA
Times City Hall Reporter

Twelve unfinished light poles stand witness in Beacon Hill Park to absent-minded bureaucracy in the Parliament complete with all necessary underground wiring, have been standing since April—totally useless because not a single light has been put in.

It would take about $1,000 to finish the $9,000 job and put the lights into operation.

But the Capital Improvement District Commission, which commissioned the work and has some $200,000 in the kitty, has done nothing about it all summer.

HOW?

Here's how the comedy of red tape started:

Early this year, the CIDC told the city to go ahead with a program of installing street lighting in Beacon Hill Park and also extending the decorative lighting as a provincial beautification project.

Total cost was to be about $20,000 but the CIDC, cleaning up its 1963 funds, said it could only give $9,000 right away.

This had to be spent by April 30—the end of the provincial government's fiscal year—the CIDC ruled and the balance would be forthcoming quickly.

So, city lighting crews dropped all their other projects and worked feverishly to spend the $9,000 by the arbitrary deadline.

They made it by carrying out only part of the original plan—the wiring and poles for only a dozen lights.

WAIT

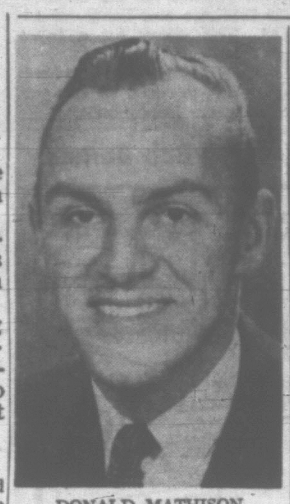

Then they sat back and waited for the money to finish the program—and waited and waited all summer long.

Meanwhile, the legislature as usual voted the annual $200,000 for the CIDC's beautification budget so there was plenty of money to finish the complete program before the summer even started.

But the CIDC apparently has forgotten to hold even one meeting since then so no authorization has come through to even finish what has been done so far.

Instead, park visitors have been staring at 12 unfinished poles scattered along roads for the past seven months wondering what they are there for.

Wonder no more — they are monuments to some monumental absent mindedness.

DONALD MATHISON
. . . tries again

Speaking Champion Seeks Seat

A fourth Saanich ratepayer announced today he will seek election as councillor in the Oct. 24 Saanich byelection.

Donald Charles Mathison, 38, of 3828 Haro Road, a department store salesman, announced he will seek election to the seat vacated by Con. Hugh Curtis.

Mr. Mathison recently won the Junior Chamber of Commerce Canadian public speaking championship.

Coun. Curtis will seek the reeveship in the election caused by the resignation of Reeve Stanley Murphy. He is leaving Victoria to take up a teaching job in Africa.

Mr. Mathison is no newcomer to municipal politics. He was an unsuccessful council candidate in the 1963 municipal elections.

He is in favor of semi-metro, and he wants all board meetings open to the public.

"It's better than amalgamation," he said. "It will also help solve some of the problems of the capital region."

NO POOLING

The candidate is opposed to pooling the federal centennial grant with other municipalities for a joint project. Instead, he favors using the $165,000 grant for the construction of a municipal swimming pool and landscaping the grounds of the proposed municipal hall.

The three other candidates who will be contesting the seat are William Campbell, contractor, Lt.-Cmdr. Harry Shergold, RCN, and Edward Ball, Victoria fireman.

Car Drivers To Pay More Insurance

Victoria drivers can expect another increase in car insurance rates next year, a spokesman for B.C. insurance companies said today.

But Victoria's increase could well be less than in other parts of the province—particularly Vancouver, he added.

The increase will reflect the sharp jump in traffic accidents and rising costs in the meeting of insurance claims.

DAMAGE UP

"There was a 33 per cent increase in property damage throughout B.C. during the first four months of this year," the insurance spokesman said. "Something has to give."

He added that insurance companies are also faced with rising costs all down the line —for automobile replacement, repairs, hospitalization and lost wages due to injuries.

The increase for drivers with accident-free record would be less than for those with recent accidents.

Car insurance rates increased 10 per cent in the Victoria area in 1964; 7 per cent in British Columbia and 14 per cent across Canada.

A youth who took a car without consent while on probation for attempted theft was sent to jail this morning for eight months definite and four months indefinite.

Heffernan was convicted of attempted theft some months ago was put on probation. Last Friday night he took a car in Oak Bay and was arrested while driving it on Trans-Canada Highway a few hours later.

Naval Lab Official Given Commonwealth Scholarship

Mathematician Stan Clark, 626 Vancouver Street, has been awarded one of the five Commonwealth scholarships granted to B.C. residents.

He will use the scholarship to study for his doctor's degree in applied mathematics at Manchester University. The award covers tuition, travel and some living expenses.

Mr. Clark, 27, is chief computer programmer at the Pacific Naval Laboratories in Esquimalt.

He is a graduate of UBC and has a master's degree in mathematics from Aberdeen University, which he attended under a Lord Athlone Fellowship.

'DEEPER FRIENDLY RELATIONS SOUGHT,' SAYS ADMIRAL

Japanese Students Send Drawings to Reeve

By RON SUDLOW

Rear-Admiral Kazutoshi Kuhara today looked back 31 years when four destroyer-escorts of the Japanese Self Defence Agency's training squadron tied up at HMC Dockyard.

He first saw Victoria in 1933 as a newly-commissioned officer when his training squadron anchored off the coast en route to a visit to Vancouver.

"We did not come ashore but anchored only temporarily on our way to Vancouver," he said through an interpreter at a press conference aboard his flagship JDS Teruzuki.

He added that the ship's commanding officer Cdr. Noboru Kawamoto came here in 1958 as a newly-commissioned officer when two Japanese destroyers visited during the province's centennial celebrations. Many of the four ships' companies of 1,150 men also came here then.

"The purpose of our training squadron are to gain a deeper friendly relations between Japan and Canada, to give appropriate training to the crews and especially 158 newly-commissioned officers and to extend their knowledge of your country.

DRAWINGS BROUGHT

"And I am very happy to perform my duty as a cultural mission by carrying on board messages and a bundle of drawings from (the) mayor of Yokosuka and school children to Reeve (A. C. Wurtele) of Esquimalt," he said.

The four ships, Teruzuki, Ariake, Makinami and Yugure are completing the final leg of their 1964 training cruise which will end in Vancouver Sept. 2 before they return to their home port of Yokosuka Sept. 30.

The admiral said that, although he will be home in time for the 1964 Olympic Games in Tokyo in October, he will be at sea when they are in progress.

However, he smiled and pointed to a Japanese manufactured television set in the corner of his cabin.

The Japanese ships slipped through the approaches to Esquimalt Harbor at 9 this morning to the volleys of 68 guns fired in salutes.

MUSICAL SALUTE

Twenty minutes later the Teruzuki had secured at B jetty in HMC Dockyard and Rear-Admiral Kuhara was officially welcomed by Rear-Admiral W. M. Landymore, flag officer, Pacific Coast.

A 24-piece Japanese band played O Canada and Kimigayo (Emperor's Reign), and offered a musical salute to the Canadian rear-admiral while a 24-man color guard stood at attention.

The black uniforms, trimmed with gold braid and white sashes, of the band stood out in stark contrast to the working fatigues of the Japanese seamen which resembled pyjama-like judo uniforms.

WREATH-LAYING

Later, Admiral Kuhara participated in a wreath-laying ceremony at the Esquimalt cenotaph with a guard and band from the Japanese ships and a guard from HMCS Naden.

Nearly 200 Japanese personnel, including naval cadets, toured Canadian Services College, Royal Roads.

Tonight Japanese and RCN softball teams will compete on the lower playing field at HMCS Naden. Game time is 6 o'clock.

At the same time cadets from the Japanese ships will be at the Empress Hotel attending a dinner given by the city of Victoria, which will be followed by a tour of Butchart Gardens.

The training squadron's band will perform this evening at 7:30 in Cameron Bandshell, Beacon Hill Park.

TWO REAR-ADMIRALS, W. M. Landymore, flag officer, Pacific Coast, and Kazutoshi Kuhara, commander of the training squadron of the Japanese Maritime Self Defence Force, inspect 24-man honor guard at B Jetty, HMC Dockyard after arrival of four Japanese destroyer-escorts this morning for four-day visit.

BOWING DEEPLY, Rear-Admiral Kazutoshi Kuhara exchanges greetings with Noburo Imajo, Japanese consul-general in Vancouver, after ships tied up. The four destroyer-escorts will move to the port of Vancouver for a four-day stay Sunday, last visit on their 75-day training cruise. (Halkett photos.)

Said Miss Jones today: "I almost touched the man."

As soon as the prowler saw he was discovered he jumped up and ran out through the back door. Miss Jones had a girl friend staying with her overnight as her parents were away.

Police searched the area within minutes but the prowler escaped. Police said he apparently entered the house by an unlocked basement window.

BLAST KILLS 2 AT PEACE DAM

3 Others Hurt In Explosion

HUDSON HOPE, B.C. (CP) — Two men were believed killed today in an underground blast in a drainage tunnel at the Peace River hydro project in this northeastern British Columbia community.

Three others were injured.

The injured were flown to the nearest hospital, at Fort St. John, B.C.

A spokesman for B.C. Hydro and Power Authority in Vancouver said one man was known to be dead. An electrician, apparently also dead, was still in the tunnel, one of several drainage tunnels at the giant power project now under construction.

The spokesman said the electrician went into the tunnel to connect lighting before miners returned to work.

"An explosion took place, presumably from gas in a coal vein."

Three men standing outside the tunnel in the bank of the Portage Mountain Canyon were injured, one seriously.

ANOTHER DIED

Another man went inside the tunnel to rescue the electrician but was overcome by fumes and died.

Other miners were able to bring the dead man out. They were not able to bypass the fumes to rescue the electrician.

The tunnels are being dug in the walls of the canyon near the base of the earth-fill dam to allow seepage to run off.

Names of the victims were being withheld.

It was not immediately known whether the tunnel collapsed after the explosion.

Blasting powder was being used to bore the tunnels and several explosions had been set and detonated before the electrician entered the tunnel.

The $73,000,000 dam is part of a project in this rugged area to dam the Peace River to deliver hydro-electric power to Vancouver.

The project encompasses building a 600-foot-high earth-fill dam, and a 500-mile transmission line to Vancouver.

NEW 'TERROR CURE'

Alcoholics Scared Dry

HAMILTON (CP)—Queen's University in Kingston is using the "most terrifying" treatment for alcoholism with some success, Staff Psychiatrist George D. Scott said Tuesday.

"It's the most horrible thing a person could wish to see," he said as he described the Scoline treatment to delegates attending an alcohol education eminar at McMaster University.

Dr. Scott said the patient is injected with the drug which paralyzes the upper half of his body and slowly suffocates him.

While the patient is struggling to breathe, he is given a whiff of rye whisky. The treatment continues until the patient is almost gasping his last and then an anesthetist gives him oxygen.

Dr. Scott said the idea of the treatment, which he described as still in its infancy, is to associate the smell of alcohol with pain and the feeling of being close to death.

"There have been cures and failures," he said. "Some switch addictions, others turn to beer and others start drinking heavily all over again.

He said 50 years is the maximum an alcoholic can expect to live. Alcohol is a poison which progressively damages the body and produces illness.

Southern States Quit Democrats

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The state's top political leaders say the walkout by the Mississippi regular delegation from the Democratic convention Tuesday severs the state's connections with the national party.

"There can be little question of how Mississippi and her sister states of the Deep South will cast their ballots this November," said former governor Ross Barnett, obviously predicting that Republican nominee Barry Goldwater would carry the state.

But Barnett, who had earlier said he leaned toward Goldwater, did not mention the Arizona Conservative by name Tuesday night as he commented on the refusal of the state's regular delegation to accept the compromise worked out over the challenge by the largely Negro Mississippi Freedom Democrats.

Mississippians, said Barnett, "can forget about working things out within the party of our fathers and begin to chart a realistic course of political action."

The convention credentials committee called for the state's all-white, regular delegation to sign a loyalty pledge to support President Johnson in November and accorded at-large delegate status to two Freedom Democrat leaders.

Johnson Named Tonight

ATLANTIC CITY (UPI) —Democrats sought to suppress further public squabbling over southern convention seats today and give Lyndon B. Johnson an unprecedented nomination by acclamation for the presidency.

Delegates to the 34th Democratic national convention were set to do this tonight and also to ratify Johnson's choice for a vice-presidential running mate in the campaign against the GOP's Barry M. Goldwater and William E. Miller.

The president still had not identified his choice for the No. 2 post, but a new development

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson—possibly tipping his hand on his choice for a running mate—said today he expects to summon Senator Hubert Humphrey to the White House in the afternoon to exchange views on the vice-presidency.

today made it practically certain it's to be Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey.

The man considered most likely to get the vice-presidential nod, if Humphrey didn't, bowed out and in a telegram to Johnson urged selection of the Senate Democratic whip.

'RIGHT MAN'

The telegram was sent by Humphrey's fellow Minnesota senator, Eugene J. McCarthy. He told the president that by Johnson's own standards Humphrey was the right man for the role.

In Washington, Johnson's press secretary, George E. Reedy, had "nothing to say" about McCarthy's telegram. But few delegates had any doubt the choice would be Humphrey, the 53-year-old former small-town druggist who became mayor of Minneapolis and went on to the Senate and a place of power in national politics.

That much was set. But still smouldering was the controversy over Mississippi and Alabama which turned Tuesday night's session into one of the most chaotic of modern times, and all on national television.

To avoid possible repetition of the unruly scene, which featured a boycott by Mississippians and a takeover of their seats by rival Freedom Party members, Democratic leaders were considering bypassing the normal roll call on the presidential nomination.

Instead they planned to give the party's top honor to Johnson by acclamation, a rarely used procedure which would avoid the necessity for a roll call and an official ruling on the status of the Alabama and Mississippi delegations.

Situation 'Serious' Says Worried Khanh

SAMUEL BRONFMAN . . . held at gunpoint

SAIGON (AP) — Maj.-Gen. Nguyen Khanh failed today to convince fellow members of the ruling revolutionary military council that they should quit politics to prevent new riots.

"We are not even close to a decision," said Lt.-Gen. Tran Thelen Khiem, one of the most powerful officers of the 60-man junta.

Fresh bloodshed in the north attended deepening of the political crisis that led Khanh to resign Tuesday as president, junk a controversial constitution and pledge a new deal for this Communist-menaced republic.

A source close to the junta said the question of electing a new national leader—part of an arrangement with the leaders of student and Buddhist demonstrators — was not even discussed.

MORE THREATS

Before the five-hour meeting broke up, student leaders threatened new mass demonstrations unless the military men returned to fighting the war, opening the government to civilians.

Khanh called the situation serious.

He appeared tired and tense. Speaking alternately in Vietnamese and English, he said:

"The situation is very serious. We men in Vietnamese army must take time to think about the problem. The subject is so important we have to be very careful so we meet again tomorrow and then we will see what results."

Buddhist rioters thronged in and around Da Nang, 380 miles northeast of Saigon, for the third straight day and South Viet-

ROUTED FROM BED

Masked Pair Ties Up, Robs Bronfmans

TARRYTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Two masked robbers tied up Samuel Bronfman of Montreal, president of the Seagrams whisky firm, and his wife in their mansion here today and escaped with an undisclosed amount of cash and jewelry, police said.

Police said one man wearing a handkerchief over his face and another with a stocking mask entered Bronfman's home through a first-floor window.

Police said they then routed the Bronfmans from bed at gunpoint, tied them up in an adjoining bathroom and fled after taking cash and jewelry. Detectives declined to give an estimate of how much jewelry and cash were taken. They said the house was not ransacked.

Bronfman is president of Distiller Corporation — Seagrams Limited.

He and his wife managed to free themselves a short time after the robbers left and called the superintendent of the large estate.

Hurricane Threatens Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Cleo made a northward turn today and aimed directly for the southeast Florida coast. The weather bureau issued gale warnings for south Florida and the western Bahamas.

The Florida warning area extended from Sombrero Light, 40 miles northeast of Key West, to Fort Lauderdale on the lower east coast of the Florida mainland and included populous Miami.

Cleo left at least 64 dead in her wake as she thrashed across central Cuba toward the Florida Straits.

Coming off the north coast of Cuba, over the warm waters of the Florida straits, the hurricane could quickly regain some of its lost power. Its winds, which hit 140 miles an hour over Haiti, dropped to 75 over Cuba.

The hurricane, which killed at least 14 on the island of Guadalope and an estimated 50 in the mountain of Haiti, moved into Cuba Tuesday afternoon.

A businessman in Les Cayes on Haiti's southern peninsula radioed to Port au Prince that a hospital had been destroyed by the storm and 50 bodies found. Les Cayes was still in the process of rebuilding from the effect of Hurricane Flora which devastated the island and took thousands of lives.

More than 10,000 persons were evacuated from exposed areas on Cuba's southwestern coast. There were no reports of casualties.

S. Rhodesia Declares State of Emergency

SALISBURY (Reuters)—A state of emergency was declared in a Southern Rhodesian African township today and a government ban placed on the country's two main African nationalist organizations.

Police and troops ringed Highfield township just before dawn today as Governor Sir Humphrey Gibbs declared the area in a state of emergency.

Some territorial national guard troops were called out and all Africans in the district were being screened.

Highfield, about eight miles from Salisbury, has been the scene of continued violence since early this year. Several people have been killed in fights between the rival African nationalist factions.

Houses, cars and buses have been stoned and set on fire, Molotov cocktails have been thrown into houses and individuals have been attacked with stones and knives.

Shortly after the emergency was declared the British colony's minister of law and order, Desmond Lardner-Burke, announced in a radio broadcast that Southern Rhodesia's two rival nationalist parties, the People's Caretaker Council and the Zimbabwe African Nationalist Union, had been banned.

Lardner-Burke said the state of emergency in Highfield, "the scene of considerable lawlessness for some time," would last for three months.

He said the object of the declaration was to arrest all "thugs and criminals."

The police were only concerned with weeding out lawless elements and were in the township to protect those who had been the innocent victims of recent unrest, he said.

Leader of the now banned PCC is Joshua Nkomo, who is in a restriction camp in a remote area with most of his chief aides.

ZANU is headed by Rev. Ndabangingi Sithole, a former chief lieutenant of Nkomo. He is presently awaiting trial on charges under the Law and Order Maintenance Act.

Lardner-Burke said the PCC and ZANU were "the main promoters of intimidation and violence in Highfield and throughout the country."

They had been banned because their activities "endangered public safety, disturbed and interfered with public order, and were otherwise prejudicial to the security of Southern Rhodesia."

Youths Protest Attempt to Bar Newspaper

SALISBURY (Reuters)—Some 50 white and African university students today were arrested for demonstrating outside the Southern Rhodesian Parliament buildings.

The students were demonstrating against a government motion to ban The Daily News, one of Salisbury's two daily newspapers.

The protest came as Parliament debated the motion.

The Daily News, with a circulation of 15,000—mostly Africans—supports African nationalism. It is owned by the group controlled by Lord Thomson, Canadian-born British newspaper magnate.

The motion was presented Tuesday by Desmond Lardner-Burke, minister of law and order, under the Law and Order Maintenance Act which provides for a banning order where a publication "is held to be contrary to the interests of public safety or security."

Deryk James, the newspaper's managing director, and Eugene Wasson, the editor, in a joint statement Tuesday night said they were "profoundly shocked by this news." They said The Daily News "has never, repeat never, urged or encouraged subversive activities."

Sir Roy Welensky, leader of the opposition Rhodesia Party, said the ban "could have serious repercussions."

John Parker, president of the Rhodesian Guild of Journalists, described it as "the first major step in an endeavor to reduce all news media to the status of government propaganda instruments."

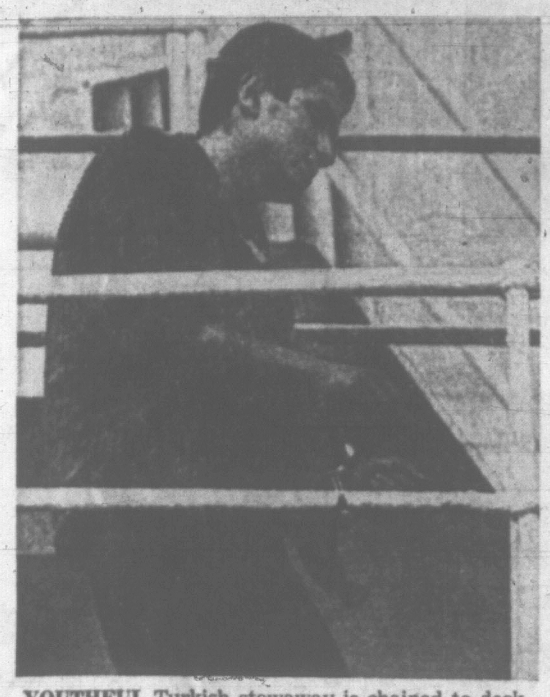

The guild at an emergency meeting Tuesday night agreed "positive action" should be taken immediately.

BOY CHAINED TO DECK AS POLICE JUST LOOK

YOUTHFUL Turkish stowaway is chained to deck of U.S. freighter in Baltimore. (AP Wirephoto.)

BALTIMORE (AP) — A ship's captain who ordered a 16-year-old Turkish stowaway chained to the deck rail says the boy will be flown back to Istanbul.

Vuseyin Tunay was discovered aboard the freighter Green Bay after it left Turkey, bound for Baltimore.

Capt. F. L. Winborne said Tunay was allowed freedom of the ship until it entered Chesapeake Bay Monday.

"We had to put him in chains," said the captain, because Tunay had escaped three times after being handcuffed to a stateroom stanchion.

When the ship docked at the Bethlehem Steel Company, longshoremen protested to company police about the boy being in irons. Police said they lacked jurisdiction to interfere.

Kenneth Graves of the Hinkins Steamship Agency said he has tried to turn the boy over to immigration authorities. The immigration officials refused to take him, saying it's their job to keep stowaways from reaching shore.

Big Expansion At Duncan Bay

A $4.6 million expansion project to increase substantially wood utilization at its Elk Falls pulp and paper division at Duncan Bay was announced today by Crown Zellerbach Canada Limited.

The company will build a new woodroom that will handle a wider range of salvage logs than those now fed into the mill.

The installation, scheduled for completion in 1966, will be built as a separate unit next to the existing woodroom. Manufacturing vice-president R. A. Butler said preliminary engineering has begun and construction is expected to start later this year.

The new woodroom will operate on logs that are unsuitable for manufacture into lumber. In the woodroom, logs are reduced to four-foot blocks which are then ground into small fibres in the groundroom mill in the first stage of newsprint manufacture. In addition, a whole log chipper will convert other logs into chips for use in making kraft pulp.

GREATER USE

Ability of the new woodroom to handle larger logs means that the company's salvage logging will be based on a higher degree of wood utilization, said timber vice-president Hugh J. Hodgins.

He said that culls, chunks, and other logs normally left in the woods and burned as slash would now be delivered to the pulp mill.

The existing woodroom, built during construction of the mill in the early 50s, handles 75 million board feet annually. When the two units are in full production their combined capacity will be 240 million board feet a year.

The expansion is designed to keep pace with the increasing wood requirements of newsprint and kraft pulp production at the huge, $105 million pulp and paper complex.

Other projects at the Elk Falls mill announced earlier this year are a modernization of one of the mill's two newsprint machines and an increase in the capacity of the groundwood mill. The projects will total $5 million.

At the present time, finishing touches are being put on a $36 million expansion which began at Elk Falls in 1962.

MAKARIOS TARGET OF COUP?

NICOSIA (Reuters)—Three Nicosia Greek-language newspapers today published reports claiming a coup against President Makarios—allegedly prepared by NATO imperialists"—had come to the knowledge of the Cypriot government.

The reports said the coup, to have taken place last Friday, provided for the seizure of the presidential and archbishop's palaces, the arrest of Makarios and the assumption of power by "a group faithful to the Americans."

Spokesman for the U.S. embassy and the British high commission declined to comment.

But an informed British source said the reports were "ludicrious." Sources close to the government said the government "sees no serious cause for anxiety."

Disease Toll Grows Daily

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Houston residents sought today to stamp out the mosquito carrying sleeping sickness as the number of suspected cases rose to 216.

The disease, also known as Encephalitis, has been blamed for 18 deaths in 30 days. It is carried by the female culex mosquito.

While Houston authorities used mass methods of spraying to kill mosquitoes, they also offered free insecticide to individuals.

Meanwhile, a helicopter and 40 trucks were spraying ditches and bayous—prime mosquito breeding places.
